JACK JOHNSON

Is Once More in the Limelight—He Was on His Way to Toronto When the U. S. Authorities Grabbed Him.

(Courier Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Jack Johnson, negro prize-fighter, accompanied by his white wife and two negro friends, was on a train bound for Toronto, Johnson is under $30,000 bond to appear in the United States District Court to answer to indictment charging violations of the "Mann Act." The pugilist's bond was supposed to keep him within the state until his trial.
Johnson is said to have told friends that he intended taking a trip to Toronto for a couple of days. Johnson announced some time ago that he had received offers to fight in Russia and the opinion was ventured that he may be intending to sail via Halifax. United States Marshall Hoy said he had no authority to stop Johnson even if he is on his way to Canada.
No one could be aroused by telephone at the Johnson home early to-day.

Later (Courier Leased Wire)
BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Jan. 14.—Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight pugilist, was taken off a train here early to-day by the local police and is being held pending the arrival of Chicago authorities, who requested his detention. Johnson was accompanied by his wife and two negro friends.
According to the local officers, he admitted that he was on his way to Toronto. The pugilist is being detained at the home of a negro friend. Johnson is said to have at first insisted that the local authorities had no right to detain him, but when a patrol wagon came in sight he left the train without further complaint.
He said he did not wish to violate any of the terms of the bond insuring his appearance in the United States District Court, and simply intended to go to Toronto to consult with Tom Flanagan, his former manager, regarding a proposed fight with Al. Falzer in Paris. He claimed that the latter's manager had offered to arrange a fight for $25,000. Chicago detectives are expected to arrive here about noon.
BACK TO CHICAGO.
(Courier Leased Wire)
CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—At a conference between federal officials it was decided to bring Johnson back to Chicago. The plan is to obtain a bench warrant for him as a fugitive and send two deputy marshals to Battle Creek to bring the pugilist home. When he arrives it is said that his bond will be cancelled and that he will be held in jail without any bail until his trial in the Federal Court.
When application was made to Federal Judge Carpenter for a bench warrant for Johnson's arrest as a fugitive the court declined to issue the warrant. An attorney, who appeared for Johnson said he would produce his client in court to-morrow morning.

At no time did Johnson appear to take his arrest seriously. "If I had known that I was going to stay here I'd have gotten off early and showed at a theatre," he said as he walked up the street with the officers. "I couldn't afford to let my mother's house go, besides the bond that I have put up," Johnson explained as he denied any intention of running away from the prosecution. "And I couldn't afford to turn down any gift offer either."
CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The first information regarding Jack Johnson's flight from the city was given by the publication in a local newspaper of a telegram from a passenger who recognized Johnson and his party on the train.
"If pulling a fellow out of bed in the middle of the night, when he is on a pleasure trip, mixed in with a little business, wouldn't make me mad, I'm a pretty good sort 'n't I?" he said this forenoon at the home of the negro barber, where he was staying until the Chicago officers arrive.

MISHAP To a Party Who Were Bobbing—A Young Lad Has Skull Fractured

A bad accident took place last night on Main street hill, right alongside the residence of Mr. Herbert Yates. It is commonly known as "Reservoir Hill," and is used by the Terrace Hill youngsters for tobogganing.
In this case there were seven youngsters and one man, Mr. Riches, who had one of his children along for a ride.
A little boy named Taylor was steering, and he states that the rope broke and got underneath one of the runners, causing the bob to swerve and crash into a post.
All of the occupants were hurt, and blood-flowed freely.
Dr. Secord was the first on the scene, closely followed by Dr. Henwood.
A boy named Alf. Taylor was the most seriously hurt. He had his skull fractured, and is now in the Brantford Hospital with a chance of recovery.
The little son of Mr. Riches had the roof of his mouth fractured.
Two other Taylor children, whose parents reside on Main street, were badly bruised.

A MEETING WITH TURNER.
The Artist Simply Enraged the Man Who Longed to See Him.
A printshop in London, kept by a man who thoroughly understood and appreciated the value in which he dealt, once displayed in its window a fine but much stained and damaged engraving—one of a set from Turner's pictures. Turner chanced to pass and notice it and promptly bounced into the shop and began to abuse the dealer.
"It's a confounded shame to treat an engraving like that!" he blustered. "What can you be thinking about to go and destroy a good thing? For it is a good thing, mind you!"
"I destroy it!" responded the dealer hotly. "What do you mean by saying I destroyed it? And who the mischief are you. I should like to know? You don't look as if you could understand a good print when you see one. I destroy it! Bless my heart, I bought it just as it is; and I would rather keep it till tomorrow than sell it to you. And why you should put yourself out about it I can't think!"
"Why, I did it," said Turner.
"Did what? Did you spoil it? If you did you deserve!"
"No, no, man; my name's Turner, and I did the drawing and engraved the plate from it."
"Bless my heart!" ejaculated the print seller in a changed tone. "Is it possible you are the great Turner?" Then his temper rose again. "Well, sir," he added, "I have long desired to see you, and now that I have seen you I hope I shall never see you again, for a more disagreeable person I have seldom met."

ODD USES OF WHALEBONE.
Wigs Are Made of It, and It Stiffens High Grade Silks.
The notion that whalebone held that whalebone is derived from whales' ribs, although many persons believe that it comes from the tail of the big animal. Both notions are incorrect.
The function of whalebone in the life of the whale is of the utmost importance. The lines of ribs of the whalebone plates are frayed into innumerable hairlike processes, and the whole forms a sort of sieve whereby the whale may sift out its food from the sea water. It must be remembered that the food of this gigantic creature consists chiefly of minute organisms, crustacea, mollusca, etc., floating near the surface.
When the whale opens its mouth and moves along a great multitude of these minute forms of life find their way in. Then the whale closes its mouth, and the water is strained out through the whalebone sieve, and the food is retained.
The common uses of whalebone are known to everybody. It is, however, put to two uses not generally known even in England, where the fine fur-trimmed garments mentioned are employed in the making of hairbrushes. By reason of their lightness they retain the curl better than does ordinary hair. Fine whalebone threads are also sometimes employed to stiffen the tissue in high grade silks—Harper's Weekly.

Feeling For Death.
For a week the self appointed guide to the blind on their daily walks had noticed that the two men who were her special charges felt carefully of the wall on either side of the door of the asylum when passing in and out. Since she was there to lead them, that precaution seemed not at all necessary, and she finally asked their reason for it.
"I am looking for craps on the door," one old man told her. "They don't like to let us know how the asylum when any one dies for fear of making us feel bad, but they put craps on the door, and by feeling for it when we pass in and out we can find out for ourselves when one of us has gone."—New York Times.

A Train For Tyler.
During Mr. Tyler's incumbency of the presidential office he arranged to make an excursion in some direction and send his son Billy to arrange for a special train. It happened that the railroad superintendent was a strong Whig. As such he had no favors to bestow on the president and informed Bob that his road did not run any special trains for the president.
"What?" said Bob. "Did you not furnish a special train for the funeral of President Harrison?" "Yes," said the superintendent, "and if you'll bring your father in that condition you shall have the best train on the road."

Genius and Work.
Men give no credit for genius. All the genius I have lies just in this: When I have a subject to hand I study it profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes pervaded with it. Then the effort which I make for people are pleased to call the fruit of genius. It is the fruit of labor and thought.—Alexander Hamilton.

The Literary Waitress.
"Will you have a drink for your breakfast?" asked the waitress.
"A drink? No, thank you," replied the witty guest. "I should prefer some short stories."
Whereupon she brought him some faintly tilled—Chicago Post.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—For several days many babies born in England will bring their parents all sorts of valuable prizes in addition to the maternity benefit of the new national insurance act which took effect yesterday. The idea has so caught the public that many wealthy people are giving silver cups, posterns, spoons and money to the first babies born in various districts under the new act.
The first mother to become pleased and gratified by the gift of a silver cup was Mrs. Amy Goulding, the wife of a Haddington painter, who gave birth to a girl one minute past midnight.
