

Night school program expands

Enrolment in this year's Peel County Board of Education night school program is expected to jump by 20 per cent to a full 6,000 adult students.

Leo Hyland, co-ordinator of adult education revealed that from now on the night school program will parallel the regular high school day program with a full credit and semester type system.

The innovation will permit each night school student who is trying to earn his Secondary School Graduation Diploma to select courses best suited to his interests and abilities.

At the same time it will allow the student to take advanced courses in some areas and basic courses in others. Under the credit system a total of 27 credits must be earned to qualify for a graduation diploma with 13 of the credits earned in the senior levels formerly Grade 11 through Grade 12.

No longer will students be streamed into programs of arts, commercial or technical shop subjects.

Instead they will have the freedom to take subjects from general areas such as communications, social studies, pure and applied sciences and the arts.

For example the communications group includes courses in data processing, drafting, English, French, shorthand, Spanish and typewriting whereas social studies takes in subjects such as economics, geography, history, merchandising and consumer education.

The new night-time semester system will allow students to complete more subjects per year than previously possible. The first semester will begin Oct. 2 and continue for 15 weeks until the first week of February. The second semester will kick off in February and end in late May.
