ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

To Maynard Shipley, for the suggestion that I take material in a letter which I had written to my son and put it into story form, and for the confident assertion that I could write a story when I doubted my story-telling powers.

To my son, whose interested demand for "another chapter" kept the plot unfolding.

To S. N. Hillyard, for critical assistance which in the end amounted almost to collaboration, and from whose pen will come better unings than I shall ever be able to write.

To Bruce Blivin for suggestions of title.

these e just prefer have re of a to do

, and a and mere ward ne by nuse it hat we nding. I that write

Jack cool arted lane, nter, noon anger nand,

look etters