

"SUBSCRIBERS!"

All over Ontario, Quebec, The Maritime Provinces, British Columbia, there are farmers who are thinking of subscribing to

The Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine

They need a farm paper which will give them practical, timely assistance in meeting such serious questions as diseases of cattle, and the proper treatment and care of stock.

When a farmer wants outside assistance and advice, he wants to get it quickly, and without waste of time, and he wants to feel confident that such advice comes from a reliable source, from men who know farming from every angle.

Since 1866 The Farmer's Advocate has sought to give its subscribers the best and most accurate information on all farm matters, and The Home Magazine provides reading of the highest class for every member of the family.

It has always been owned and edited by practical farmers. It is absolutely non-political.

No politicians, outside cliques or private moneyed interests have any say in the policy of the paper, which aims to advance and protect the interests of its subscribers and Canadian farmers generally.

IT IS IN YOUR POWER.

By saying what you know about The Farmer's Advocate and Home Magazine, to induce those who are thinking of subscribing to do so now, and at once begin to derive the advantages that come from reading a farm paper that is published for one purpose only, the advancement of its readers' best interests.
