DEATH BY DROWNING OF MR. JAMES REID. —Mr. James Reid, of the firm of Cunningham, Reinery, left this city on Wednesday morning by train for Annanolis, en route for St. John. by train for Annapolis, en route for St. John, where he intended taking passage in the steamer "Assyria," for Glasgow, his firm having shipped a large quantity of syrup in the steamer at this port. In going on board the steamer "Emperor" at Annapolis on Wednesday night, he accidentally fell out of an open gangway and was drowned. An inquest was held yesterday the jury rendered the following verdict : That the deceased came to his death by drowning. The death was hastened by the In all probability many of them will bring in a gross neglect of the officers of steamer 'Emperor ' in not having the port gangway closed on the opposite side of the point of entrance, and also for neglect in not having proper and due a small fortune in itself—the average value of We take the liberty of annothening that means taken after the accident to rescue the deceased.
