MIES THE WHITEST, LIGHTE

EVGILLETT COMPANY LIMIT

PEG

MOST PERFECT MADE

THE INCREASED NUTRITI-

OUS VALUE OF BREAD MADE

IN THE HOME WITH ROYAL

YEAST CAKES SHOULD BE SUFFICIENT INCENTIVE TO

THE CAREFUL HOUSEWIFE

TO GIVE THIS IMPORTANT

TOOD ITEM THE ATTENTION

TO WHICH IT IS JUSTLY EN-

HOME BREAD BAKING RE-

DUCES THE HIGH COST OF

LIVING BY LESSENING THE AMOUNT OF EXPENSIVE

MEATS REQUIRED TO SUP-

PLY THE NECESSARY NOUR-

E. W. GILLETT CO. LTD.

TORONTO, ONT.

Mr. Ross arose and invited Lord

nany passages, and up and down nany flights of stairs, until they came to a row of cells, at one of which the man stopped and suddenly thrust in a tey, orened the door, and admitted the

The poor young prisoner, when suddenly exposed to view, was found sit-ting on the side of his rude bunk, en-ne recognized, with the heartfelt ac-

I knew your lordship would come to "My poor fellow, I am very sorry to see you here,' said the earl taking his hand and pressing it, and still continu-gentleman who accompanies me is the Rev. Mr. Ross, the prison chaplain, and turning to Mr. Ross, he said: "Rever-end sir, this is Benjamin Hurst, who crime I feel sure that he did not and could not commit, possesses my entire cious words!" said the young prisoner,

"Oh, thanks for these good and gra-

"I hope and truse in the Lord that I may be able to serve you, my young friend," said the chaplain, kindly duty of bed by night and bench by shaking hands with the prisoner.

a prisoner here, charged with to held it, while he added:

wishes to be your friend."

I thank your gaged in reading a small volume.

arose to greet that one visitor

MONTREAL

ISHMENT TO THE BODY.

TITLED.

WINNIPEG

Visicors

knowledgment

earnestly.

see me in my trouble!

lordship very much.

OF SCIATICA CURED QUICK! "NERVILINE" A SUCCESS EVERY TIME

the Pain Quick-Acts Like Masic—Is Harmless and Phasant.

Sciatica is the most severe pain man can suffer. The great sciatic nerve is deeply placed, and you can reach it only by a pain remedy, as penetrating and as powerful as NER-

The glory of Nerviline is in its strength—in its marvelous power of penetrating deeply. In severe pains, such as sciatica and neuralgia, NER-Such as sciatica and neuralgia, NEW-VILINE demonstrates its superiority over every other remedy.

Nerviline. In many lands it has shown itself to be the best for little pains, best for big pains, and best for all

When one has acute pains, stiff joints or a stiff neck, don't experiment—seek a remedy that cures. Like lightning in rapidity, as sure as fate in its certainty of relief, Nerviline can never be surpassed for the removal of pain, no matter what advance science may make. It is per-fection in its line. Do not trifle with ordinary or only liniments, use Nerviline. Prove its efficacy—it's the one liniment that rubs right into the core of the pain.

A large 50-cent bottle will cure the aches and pains of the whole family. Trial size, 25 cents. Sold by all deal-Extraordinary pains, such as rheumatic or sciatica, can be overcome only by a remedy as extraordinary as Co., Kingston, Canada.

Rev. Mr. Ross, the chaplain of the pri-son, who was also the Duchess of Cheiot's almoner to the poor and frienders prisoners. His lordship asked for the chaplain, and was shown to his reverence's

Mr. Ross was not the same chaplain who had been in office there when Benny, the child, had been incarcerated for burglary, and consequently he knew nothing whatever of the history f the new prisoner, Benjamin Hurst. But when the Earl of Wellrose en-tered the chaplain's room the latter thought his lerdship had only come upon some benevolent errand to him as the Duchess of Cheviot's almoner. The chaplain was quite a nold man, with a tall, spare form, clar in a threadbare suit of black, a fine bald head, adorned with a few thin locks of silver hair, and a pale, thin face, with a holy calm upon it, full of the love of God and man.

He arose to meet the young earl, and offcred him his hand, and begged him to sit down, and inquired after the good duchess, his mother.

Lord Wellrose thanked him and sat down and replied satisfactorily to his questions, and then opened the subject of his visit by asking the chaplain if he had yet seen the new prisoner, Benjamin Hurst.

"Who is charged with the murder of "Who is charged with the murder of young Stuart Fitzroy? No, I have not yet seen him. I was indeed about to visit his cell when your lordship's name was announced. Alast" sighed the aged minister using a very old-fashioned interjection. "Alast I have heard this is another case of neglected childhood growing up. to deprayed. childhood growing up to depraved youth and criminal manhood: The papers state that this wretched young has been a thief and an outcast and the companion of burglars and cut-throats from his infancy up. It is said that he has but recently returned from a fourteen years' transportation for burglary. And that he obtained the situation of butier at the house where he was engaged only by a false character and forged recommendation.
All this will tell very much against him in the coming trial. But I visit him, and save him, if through the Lord's help I may. Our Divine Master 'came not to call the righteous, but sinners to reportsure.' but sinners to repentance," said the chaplain, reverently bowing his head.

young earl looked gravely at the peaker for a moment and then said:
"'Who hath sinned, this man or his arents, that he is born blind?" Even all the crimes falsely imputed Renjamin Hurst were committed by him, still let us ask, Who hath sinned this man, or his parents, or you or I, and all society, "that he is born blind—merally and spiritually blind?"

The chaplain reverently bowed his head and answered:

"I know that we all have sinned." "Yes." said the earl, 'we have all sinned in this respect, more than in all

"Each one of us, the very poerest of vs. might seve at least one little desti-tute, neglected child from remaining the companion of thieves and outcasts. and from growing up to become a thief cra murderer." added the chaplain. And there was stence between twe for a while, and then the young

"All that the gosslying daily papers have falsely said of Benjamin Hurst might well have been true; and vet still it might have been truly said of him that he was 'more sinned against than sinning.

"Yes, yes; that is what your gracious mother, the duchess, often says of the worst criminals confined in this prisen. "And she is nearly right. But in this day. "What have you been reading?" inof Benjamin Hurst, she is entirequired the chaplain, taking up the lit-tle book that Benny had laid aside. ly right. He is, indeed, Heaven knows more, much more, very much more, sinned against than sinning.' In his "Ah, I see," he said, as he opened it.

The book was the New Testament, and the leaf was folded down at the ignorant infancy he became the charge of thieves and outcasts; he was twenty-sixth chapter of St. Mathew's taught evil for good, sin for duty. He Gospel, describing the Saviour's agony in the garden of Gethsemane.

"Why did you select this particular part of the Scripture to read this morning?" enquired the chaplain.

Benny looked down at his own fethe lessons and performed the tasks for love of those around him. He became for their sakes, because he knew no better, a beggar, a liar, and a thief, just as another more fortunate child, from the same motives of con-science and affection, might have betered limbs, and around upon the heavy stone walls and strong iron gratings of his prison cell, and then come a philanthropist, and an advocate of truth and a benefactor of his kind. One whom I love and trust, and who raised his mournful blue eyes to

Hurst well, but all I have seen of him

ust your lordship may be right," said st your re-chaplain.
When you see and alk with Benja-When you see and alk with Benjain Hurst you will know that I am thi. I think you said that you were out to visit him in his cell. If so, I ald be obliged if you will take me a you. I wish to see him privately, I least with no other witness than Can you gratify me?" ind the young earl, ertainly, my lord, with pleasure," ered the chaplain. And he touch-officer of the prison answered erson, in manner, and in spirit:

face of the chaplain. And the good man was answered.
"I see," he said, with a sigh, as he has known Berjamin Hurst from his babyhood and hers, has told me so much of his sweetness of temper, goodaid down the book and arose and stood with his back to the grated door, facing the two young men, the unconscious brothers, who were still seated side by side on the edge of the burk. ness of heart, gentleness of temper, good-ness of heart, gentleness of manners and docility of disposition that I can see perfectly well how easy it was for the thieves and outcasts who were his only protectors, and who had wen his childish heart, to turn all his inherent good qualities; to evil most. But these bunk. And as he looked at them his good qualities to evil uses. But these evil uses were habits, that were no more a part of the boy's nature than were his poor little ranged jacket and aged face grew deep in interest.

How much alike these young men, though severed so far in rank and in position; only that one was so rale, thin, and waster, and the other was in such ruddy health, that the one seemed but the faded-out image

"They are enough alike to be the children of the same parents," thought the minister, "And yea what a contrast!" And at the thought the good man sighed.

man sighed.

The young earl, with almost wormanly tenderness, held and white, transparent hand of his unknown brother and wondered at the more than sympathy, at the warmth of affection, he felt for the poor, patient young has shown me a young men true, pure, praye, just, and singularly refined in prisoner.

And as for Benny, a strange feeling ensel, in manner, and in spirit; a coung man rare in any rank of life and wonderfully rare in his?"
"Your lordship is very carnest in his lyceaey of this young prisoner. of protection and peace came over his (To be Continued.)

---CHEER UP! (Brantford Expositor)

Everything points to a gradual improvement in business and it is time to cheer up. We cannot pass through such a tremendous world war without feeling it, and for a while we will all have to curtain our luxuries and pay closer attention to business, but individually we will be berefited by the experience. Let's all cheer up.

OUR HOME DUTY.

(St. Catharines Journal). War or no war, business or no bus ness, it is our duty as citizens who are home, enjoying immunity from the horrors of the battlefield, to be cheerful and resolute. It is the least we can do when our fellow British subjects are giving their lives. mmons.

chapsan whisnered a few to him. He went out, and after noments a turnkey entered and fully intimated that he was "at vice of his reverence."

Dare to err and to dream.

REVIVAL AMONG

Ten Thousand Join the Pocket Testament League.

Chapman and Alexander Have Been Over There.

A remarkable Bible revival is in progress among the British soldiers quartered on Salisbury Plain and elsewhere in England, writes Geo. T. B. Davis, from Bustard Camp. Already more than 10,000 of the troops on Salisbury Plain alone have joined the Pocket Testament League, and have agreed to carry a Testament with them and read a chapter daily, and over 3,000 have declared their acceptance of Christ and enlisted under the banner of the King of Kings. The movement began some ago, when Charles M. Alexander, the well-known Gospel song leader, companied by two soloists, a pianist, and a representative of the Pocket Testament League, spent five days travelling from one Y.M.C.A. marquee to another on the Plain, holding Gospel meetings. From the beginning the meetings were a great success. The soldiers crowded into the marquees, and when the tents were filled, they let down the sides and the men stood outside during the convict.

outside during the service.

The meetings began with the presention to each soldier of the Pocket Testament League edition of the Gospe of St. John, containing hymns, pictures and stories, Using the Gospel as a hymn book, Mr. Alexander led the men in singing appropriate hymns. Wellrose to accompany him.

The turnkey led the way, and the earl and the chaplain followed through The men quickly caught up the new choruses, such as "I Am Included, and "Good-bye, God Bless You," they rang out lustily the familiar strains of the "Glory Song," and Song," and e." Now and "Tell Mother I'll be There." Now and then the famous song-leader called apon one of the soloists to sing hymn such as "My Mother's Prayer, or "Will the Circle be Unbroken? Again Mr. Alexander would stop th On seeing his visitors, he quickly turned down the leaf of the volume he was reading, laid the book aside, and soldiers in the midst of a hymn and give them a straight talk on the man-liness of living a clean, Christian life.

At the opportune moment the idea of the Pocket Testament League was explained and the men were told how during the last six years the move-ment had swept round the world, and hundreds of thousands of all classes from one end of the world to the oth er had been enrolled in the League by making it the rule of their lives to carry a Testament with them and to read at least one chapter daily. Special testaments with waterproof covers, weighing only 214 ounces, pub-lished by the Pocket Testament lished by the League heafiquarters, 47 Paternoster Row, London, were offered to any soldier who wished to join. It was clearly stated, however, that in order to secure the Testament, he must first sign a league membership and then sign the pledge in the Testament he received. The eagernes of the men to make the promise and join the movement was astonishing. At one tent, when those who wished to become mem shaking hands with the prisoner.

There were few accommodations for visitors in these rude prison cells.

Therefore the three sat down on the side of the bunk, that did the double bers were asked to come forward, the soldiers literally stormed the platform in their eagerness to join. At another tent over 300 soldiers were enrolled in a few minutes. At still another there was not time to give out the Testaments that night, so the men were asked to present their membership cards, and secure the books the marquee counter the next day. Early the following morning a stream of soldiers asking for Testaments began, and continued until thousands of

During the closing days of the meet ings conducted by Mr. Alexander thrilling scenes were witnessed as the soldiers were asked not only to join the league, but to yield their lives to God. One night over a thousand men were crowded into a tent. Over 300 joined the Pocket Testament League, and at the close of the service 192 soldiers in the presence of their comrage rang out after the song leader rang out after the song leader the words, "I accept Christ as my Saviour, my Lord and my King." The editor of a London journal, who was present, declared it was a sight he had rarely seen equalled.

Bishop Taylor-Smith, the Chaplain-General of the forces, when asked for a word of encouragement to the men-he and Mr. Alexander conducted two he and Mr. Accounter conductor two whose lives had been influenced, wrote: "My dear Mr. Alexander, I rejoice to hear of the blessing received joice to hear of the blessing received on the Plains May you see greater things than these because of Christ's position and power. Give to the brethren from me Hebrews xill, 20 21. Believe me, yours truly, J. Taylor-Smith, Bp. C. G."

Later Dr. J. Wilbur Chemman arrived in England from America, and brief but notable missions in London: At their conclusion, at the green re-

At their conclusion, at the urgent request of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A., the evangelists held three thrilling services for soldiers at the Crystal Pulace and Wondower, which

DISEASE IS DUE TO BAD BLOOD

Nearly all the diseases that afflict

To Cure Common Ailments the Blood Must be Made Rich and Red.

umanity are caused by bad bloodweak, watery blood, poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago and rheumatism; debility gestion, neuralgia and other nerve troubles, and disfiguring skin dis-eases like eczema and salt rheum show how impure the blood actually is. No use trying a different remedy for each disease, because they all spring from the one cause—bad blood. To cure any of these troubles you must get right down to the root of the trouble in the blood, and that is the trouble in the blood, and that is just what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new, rich blood, and thus cure these diseases when common medicine fails. Mrs. John Jackson, Woodstock, Ont., suffered from both nervous troubles and a rundown condition and experienced. condition, and experienced complete cure through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I was a sufferer for a number of years from neuralgia, and a general debility of the nerves and system. I had tried everal doctors and many medicines, but to no avail, until I began Dr. Williams Pink Pills. At the time I began the pills I had grown so bad that I could hardly be on my feet, and was forced to wear elastic bandages about the nylder. ages about the ankles. The pain I suffered at times from the neuralgia was terrible. I had almost given up hope when I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the course of a few weeks I felt an improvement, and I gladly continued the use of the Pills until I was once more quite well and able to attend to all household duties.' If you are ailing begin to cure yourrelf to-day with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine Gealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

as the result of the inspiring messages in sermon and song, hundreds of the troops stood up and openly confessed Christ as their Saviour. The Bible revival at Salisbury Plain did not end with the visit of Mr. Alexander and his party. The movement ander and his party. The movement continued to spread among the men from tent to tent, and the demand for

Mr. Henry J. Lane, a business man of the Y. M. C. A. marquees on the Plain as an honorary worker enrolling soldiers in the league, and leading them to a dealing from the desire for the soldiers. them to a decision for God, sent to the league headquarters in London a letter giving a graphic account of the Bible revival among the troops. He wrote:

"After a visit from Mr. Alexander and his party, the Lord manifested His presence in a remarkable way. Until then there had been few decisions for Christ, sometimes one and never more than two a day. After the above-mentioned visit and the introduction the Pocket Testament League, there came upon the soldiers a great desire to hear the word of God. As it was told out men were gripped by the power of the Holy Ghost, and hour after hour they came to the and with bowed hand confessed Christ. On one occasion a group of thirty were listening to the gospel, when the speaker asked who would volunteer for the service of Christ. Immediately a nen-commissioned officer, about six feet in height, on the outside, put up his hand and said: 'I will, sir,' at the same time pushing his way to the front. Within a few seconds twelve others joined him. No sooner had these been dealt with, and prayers offered, than another group came forward. Thus it continued until the 'last post' sounded and the soldiers hurried away to their lines.

A few among the soldiers had aroused such videspread interest that Mr. Lane, and Mr. A. J. C. Thomas, who has witnessed an almost equally wonderful work in a neighboring Y. M. C. A. marquee, were invited to London to tell about the spiritual movement among the troops.

To a group of editors of London journals, who had gathered to hear the story. Mr. Lane told how the work egan and of its remarkable influence en the morale of the troops. he said: "For weeks we have had a stream of "For weeks we have nad a stream or men coming in to join the Pocket Testament League, and at the same time accepting Christ so rapidly that I could not deal with them in page or twos, but I had groups of eight and ten and more. This has been done in the tent while the latest com was being sung. These men listened as intendy as if there was no other sound or voice to be heard."

"TO-MORROW."

If he ple could live more in the present it would help them enormous it in the caping of good resolutions, among copin persist in being just a little shead "To-morray," they say, "he form," but the to-morrow of aginings hever dawns.

NOT TOO LATE. Some of those good New Yor tions perhaps already are beforement," it is never to.

IF YOUR HEAD ACHES AND YOUR EARS BUZZ YOU SURELY HAVE CATARRY

It doesn't matter now long you have ones of catarrh) are quickly cured, meaning often lies in childish plays, and in a short time every trace of catarrh disappears.

It doesn't matter how long you have suffered, or how often you have failed to get relief—even though Catarring places with an Catarrhesone, it healing place yeaper sends a warm change. suffered, or how often you have failed to get relief—even though Catsern may affect every organ in your bedy, you can be permanently cured by remaining the soothing vapor of Catarrier cone.

A few breaths through Catarrieroune inhaler clears the phiegra out of the threat and stops your rough. The nostrils are cleansed of offensive mucous catarrieroune, and sneezing and smiffling stop at once. Partial loss of hearing the first value of the consideration of the conside

iv. You be: Catarrhezone has cared me and I simply swear by it."
Get the complete $1.00 outfit; it does the trick in a hurry—dever fails; small size 5 c; trial or sample size 25c, I sold by all dealers everywhere.

"Oh, Lord Wellrose," murmured and play like my twin-brother. ssan, in a very low tone, and blushing "I hope you will forgive me venturing to make such an assermust not hesitate to say ing that may serve to deeper interest in poor Benny. Lord poor Benjamin Hurst, hum may be your own poo > impulsively of the astonished young in a quieter tone, he

you think so, dearrst place, the strong were dressed alike ake you for twins,' > miled slightly, as undeniable. But at such likenerses wist even between ationalities? I fancy that in have been some wever distant the likenes and my poor e only reason it he may be nin was not him up as rted child. , the seat are two iile

My lord, help him all you can, but let me bear the cost, for the precious old love's sake. You do not misunderstand me, I hope; do you, Lord Wellrose? inuired Suzy in anxious tone.

"Misunderstand you, true heart, pure spirit? No, indeed. I understand you and confide in you, and love you perfeetly. And I go from you now straight to the cell of the imprisoned boy, that may confront him for your said the earl, as he raised and pressed her hand to his lips.

From Park Lane Lord Wellrose went straight to Lincoln's Inn Fields, and sought out the chambers of Mr. Percy Melliss, the great criminal law that he might have been a queen's counsel if he had but chosen to abanchildren, "more sinned against than sinning"—the cause of humanity, the cause of Christ, the cause of God. So when he might have arisen to queen's counsel, queen's advocate, solicitor-general, attorney-general, or

Their deep mutual interest in the "cause" had so frequently brought Lord Wellrose and himself into com pany, that a very warm friendship had grown up between the gifted ad-vocate and the young earl.

form of prison discipline," he took frequent occasion to consult Mr. Percy is humane enterprise

And so their friendship had matur-

Arriving at the house, he sent up ssing through two or three rooms. h occupied by two or three clerks, was shown into a back chamber, ere the great advocate sat writat a table covered with papers.

Ir. Melliss immediately arose to ir. Melliss immedi setting a chair for his visitor.

Your lordship is most heartily wel-heard about this mur-lilly, cf course? The of it, and it is the talk right was caught within these prison walls, from your venerable predecessor, the then chaplain. I have heard how easerly and gratefully he learned the good lessons taught him here. And I have only recently known Penjamin.

CHAPTER XXIV

learned lawyer and eloquent advocate don the cause of the poor and needy—the men and women, ay, and little solictor-general, attorney-general, or even, in time, lord chancellor, he chose to remain only the great crim-inal lawyer, with the questionable reputation and all but reproach that attaches to the name.

When Lord Weilrose had been pre-paring his famous "bill for the re-clamation of criminals, and the rewho gave him valuable aid in

And now the young earl sought the great criminal lawyer in behalf of Benjamin Hurst, a prisoner in Newgate, charged with the murder of the Honorable Stuart Fitzroy, son of the Busy?" inquired the earl, with a

"Nevertheless, you see, I interrupt u," said the ear! apologetically, as an attentive expression.

trousers a part of himself. And he was one who only needed to be shown the one who cally needed to be shown the right to see its hearty, to love it, and prefer it to the wrone; "fust as he would have preferred clean and whole clothes to regred and filthy ones. And almost the first glimbse he had of the light was cought within these right.

his card, on which he had written in pencil, under his name, "life and He was at once admitted, and af-responded the lawver. he took the offered seat.

ac, answered the advocate, as he ated himself at the table, and, his face toward his visitor,