Wednesday, January 2, 1924.

On Monday we published a Retrospect of Lunenburg operacompiler of which is in a position to speak with authority. In connection with the paper and pulp manufacturers the following figures were given:

1920-23,000 tons paper .. $1,545,344 7.151 tons mechanical and sulphate 1921-80,717 tons of paper $4,725,660

21,000 tons of pulp .. 334,276 $5.059,936 1922-62,300 tons paper ._$4,646,582 26,838 tons pulp .

For 1923 The Trade Review estimates the value of paper at $5,052,141 and pulp at $346,289, making a total of $5,398,430.

Here is an industry that has time, and within two or three years promises to be very considerably extended. The writer mates that within ten years the value of the pulp and paper export will probably amount to $20,000,000. He. however, adds: With such a prospect ahead of us we should give serious thought helped to make this year's raffle a to the conservation of our forest great success. Also the gentleman resources. The Canadians value the raw wood exported as one-fifth of the value which it would have were it manufactured in the country. foreigner is the gainer thereby. It has been fully demonstrated nel, of Exploits. that the best means of conservation is by manufacturing the wood locally, and that the quickest and most certain method of denuding the forests is to permit cutting for the purpose of exporting in the raw state. Surely our course is clear. Wake up, Newfoundland!
