Cataract, Heart Failure, Paralysis of the Throat

"I Thank God and Hood's Sarsaparilla for Perfect Health."

"Gentlemen: For the benefit of suffering humanity I wish to state a few facts: For several years I have suffered from cataract and heart failure, getting so bad I could not work and could scarcely walk."

"I had a very bad spell of paralysis of the throat some time ago. My throat seemed closed and I could not swallow. The doctors said it was caused by heart failure, and gave medicine, but I took according to directions, but it did not seem to do me any good. My wife urged me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, telling me of Mr. Joseph C. Smith, who had been cured."

"At Death's Door but was entirely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. After taking with Mr. Smith, I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I had taken two bottles I felt very much better. I have continued taking it, and am now feeling excellent. I thank God, and Hood's Sarsaparilla."

His Own Executioner.

SWANSEA, Ont., June 22.—This morning a freight train from the west was approaching the railway bridge across the Humber River an unknown man, apparently about 45 years old, who had been seen standing by the stone abutment of the bridge with a revolver in his hand and acting strangely, deliberately laid his gun on the rail, not 30 yards from the engine. The engine whistled, but the man kept his position, and the train passed over him, severing the head from the body completely.

PARKDALE, Ont., Feb. 27, 1888.—Gentlemen,—It gives me pleasure to let you know I have derived great benefit from the use of Nervine. I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia in the face, and last two years was quite a martyr to the malady. So soon as I observed the Nervine advertised I obtained a bottle from our druggists, Messrs. John Gray & Co., Parkdale, and the effect was marvelous; pain ceased and I can enjoy sound sleep at night and feel refreshed. I cannot speak too highly of it, and heartily recommend it. ALEXANDER STEEN.

"Have you received any pie yet?" said one office seeker to another. "No, but I've received provisions of another sort."

"What sort?" "Cold shoulder."

Piles: Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS:—Molasses; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals the ulceration and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia, Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

"How do you know he's an amillonaire?"

"Saw him eating a lunch with his family at the World's Fair." "Still, he might be only moderately rich." "Not much, I saw him go there the next day."

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Mrs. WINDSOR'S OINTMENT SYRUP has been used for over FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEething, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES THE CHILD, SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Windsor's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

"Oh for some new coined name by which to call him! Oh for some other name no line could give! No prayer of his wife until she married him. Now she is content to call him Old Beeswar."

Among the pains and aches caused by marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is carache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is proven by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are especially subject.

Home-made bread 4 cents per loaf. A select stock of groceries and provisions; 3 cans tomatoes, 25 cents; 2 salmon, 25 cents; 2 pickles, 25 cents. D. J. LANGDON, corner York and Thames streets.

Synod of Huron.

Motion to Reconsider the Consolidation Question Negatived.

Election of Lay and Clerical Delegates to Provincial Synod.

Some Lively Dialogue—The Scrutinizers Appointed—Results of Election.

Afternoon Session.

When the Bishop of Huron took the chair at 3 o'clock, Rev. John Downie, convenor of the Sunday school committee, presented the report of that body. It stated that the condition and prospects of the diocese were such as to afford ground for thankfulness and satisfaction, as it entered a new year of usefulness with a balance to its credit, the deficit of some years past having been finally extinguished. The corporation was now not only self-supporting, but also, it was hoped, proving an advantage to the clergy and Sunday schools of the diocese.

The question of the support by the Sunday schools of a foreign missionary work in connection with the board of domestic and foreign missions was broached last year, the committee in its report to the Synod stating that this matter had been favorably entertained by many of our Sunday schools. The Sunday school committee was glad to be able to state that 34 parishes were willing to enter on the work then proposed at once, and that many others would have done so but for prior engagements. Nine of the above 34 parishes had promised to contribute between them $183 for this object, and 200 scholars were willing to take collecting cards for the same.

Twenty-three parishes have juvenile mission bands with a membership of 906, and seventeen clergymen in charge of parishes where none exist had promised to form them.

There were 383 members of the various Sunday schools reported as connected with the junior branches of the W. M. A. M. These added to the 900 in the mission bands formed a young army of 1,283 members of the schools engaged in supporting missionary work.

Missionary services were held occasionally in the Sunday schools of 32 parishes, proving an effective way of stirring up and keeping alive the work of missions.

Nine new Sunday schools had been opened in the diocese during the year. Fifty-three clergymen reported an increase in attendance of 981. The last statistical report of the committee gave the total membership of our Sunday schools as 20,076, which by the above increase is brought up to 21,057—a larger number than is reported by any diocese in Canada. There were sixteen places reported where new Sunday schools ought to be opened.

The banner Sunday school of the diocese for missionary work was that of the Memorial Church, London. It led all others and promised the largest contribution for the support of a foreign missionary.

If deacons Sunday school conventions are to form, the report further stated, an important factor in the education of our teachers, they have to become more general in the diocese than they were at present, as only five deacons reported having held them during the past year, Middlesex, Bruce, Huron, and Perth and Lambton. Middlesex seemed to be thoroughly organized. Conventions were held every three months, and at the last meeting 300 officers and teachers were in attendance. Bruce also held quarterly conventions, which, considering the size of the diocese, were well attended. At the Waterloo convention, held in January, every parish in the diocese was represented, with indications of increased and increasing interest. Of the conventions held in Perth and Lambton, the committee had no special particulars, more than that the attendance and interest was satisfactory.

The Sunday school committee desired to emphasize, in conclusion, the necessity of having a higher standard of teaching in the Sunday schools. When the work of teaching in a Sunday school was undertaken it should be with such a solemn sense of its importance and responsibility would lead to self-denying and prayerful preparation. Individual study of the lesson, and of the scholar, is an imperative necessity, and the teacher could not neglect it without being guilty of unfaithfulness and breach of trust.

United study and mutual conference—in teachers' meetings, rural-deacons and diocesan conventions—gave enlarged acquaintance with fellow-workers and the methods which they have successfully employed, and an inspiration of which the teacher who studies alone, however faithfully, was deprived.

Rev. Mr. Hicks, referring to the first clause of the report, said that books could be purchased at a much lower rate than those generally prevailing at the depository.

Rev. John Downie in reply stated that the institution referred to sold books 12 per cent. cheaper than the wholesale dealers.

The bishop commended the members of the committee for their faithful and laborious efforts.

In response to a question from Mr. Fraser, Rev. Mr. Young stated that if the committee did not abolish the leaflet no harm would result.

Mr. Fraser favored the use of the Bible as a text book in Sunday schools. He thought that the leaflets should be abolished.

CANON ON LAY READERS.

Mr. V. Crony introduced the amended canon on lay readers. It was adopted.

Lay readers may be appointed and licensed under this canon by the bishop on the recommendation of any clergyman who may require assistance in his parish mission, or who, from illness, may be unable to perform all his duties. A lay reader duly appointed and licensed may discharge such duties in a vacant parish as the bishop may direct, or he may render temporary assistance to the clergyman of any parish or mission in the diocese in which he holds his license, or in any parish or mission in any diocese contiguous to such diocese, on the invitation of such clergyman. No lay reader shall hold services in any parish or mission without the consent of the clergyman in charge thereof, or in any vacant parish or mission except as above provided.

Mr. Chancellor Crony's resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to take the matter of the archdeacon's fund into consideration and ascertain the legal position of the Synod with respect to the same and report to the executive committee was carried.

The report of the committee appointed for the purpose of revising the constitution and canon was presented by Ven. Archdeacon Marsh. There were 72 amendments. All these, most of them being mere formalities, were adopted.

During the noon recess the question of Anglican Church union had evidently been under discussion. Canon Young moved a reconsideration of Rev. R. McCosh's amendment of the morning. This was granted. The following words were then added as clause D of section 4 of Mr. Young's series of resolutions on the consolidation of Canadian dioceses: "All diocesan rights and powers not specifically delegated to the General Synod to be strictly conserved." The additional clause proved satisfactory to all parties.

ADJUSTING CLAIMS OF SALARY.

Relative to canon 11, the Rev. Canon Young moved that section 4 of this law be stricken out and the following words substituted: "In case of a vacancy in any parish where unsettled arrears of salary are claimed by the late incumbent and reported to the bishop (and in the adjustment of such claims the bishop shall refer the matter to three members of the executive committee, of whom two shall be clergymen, who shall after due inquiry adjust the same, and their report shall be final and conclusive. And no appointment shall be made to such vacant parish until such finding has been complied with." Following this he also moved the exception from section 8, canon 28, of all provisions for filling vacancies.

Mr. A. C. Clark, of Sarnia, pointed out that when a congregation got behind in the payment of the clergyman's salary the bishop should immediately remove him. The non-payment of salaries by some congregations was a great evil. It had been the rule to meet these exigencies by drawing up on the mission fund. He was sorry he had been unable to do such settlements. He would never do so again.

The amended canon was adopted.

The Synod then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

The Missionary Meeting.

No session of the Synod was held last evening. A missionary service was substituted. A large congregation was present.

Rev. Mr. Collins, of St. Stephen's Church, Detroit, delivered a short address.

The Bishop of Huron then spoke upon some of his experiences in the Holy Land.

He described his first sight of that country in a vivid manner. Of the Israelites he said the nearest thing to eternity was the Israelite himself. Like the Chinese he was of all times. He had seen all the great powers of antiquity rise into prominence, contend like the elements for primacy and then fade from existence like the shadow of an evening.

It was not, however, the historical position the Israelite had occupied that made him so interesting, but the association about him of the skirts of Christ. The bishop, continuing, said everything seen and as it were in dejection, the glory of the daughter of Jerusalem had departed. Everything was bare, bleak and nude.

He made the trip from Jaffa to Jerusalem on the much-decried railway.

Jerusalem now was as much unlike the Jerusalem of anticipation as could well be imagined. He arrived there in the evening. The atmosphere was cold and damp. The rain fell in a disagreeable drizzle. A crowd of Arab porters were rushing too and fro. People were walking about in the streets in the most unbecoming manner. He had thought himself in some wild western city, established yesterday and developing to-day. The Jews, he asserted, were rapidly returning to the Holy Land. While at the beginning of the century there were only 5,000 Jews in the country, the number in Jerusalem alone was now 40,000. While the bishop was there 14,000 Jewish pilgrims were in the city. The Jews were living in the greatest poverty. They maintained themselves on a general rule upon 60 francs a year. Those present, he said, had no idea what Jerusalem was like. It had no drainage. Everything—all kinds of garbage—was dumped down in the street. The Jews of Palestine were very different from those whom he was accustomed to see. In America their characteristic features were dark hair and prominent noses. These features were almost entirely absent in Jerusalem. The Jews were a great many things which it was not his province to describe. He concluded with reference to the occasion upon which he preached in the church on Mount Zion.

Morning Session.

The question of the legality of the Synod's action in reconsidering the decision upon Mr. Charles Jenkins' resolution relating to the consolidation of Canadian dioceses, at Wednesday afternoon's session, when the matter had apparently been disposed of in the morning, was brought up again this morning. An animated discussion ensued.

Principal Miller was responsible for opening the sluice-gates of debate upon the subject. He rose to a point of order. He wished to know if it were competent for the Synod to reconsider, without notice, at an afternoon session, a resolution which had been passed upon in the morning.

The bishop responded that if no dissent were expressed such action was entirely within the province of the Synod.

The principal said that he and number of others who would have voted negatively had been absent on the occasion in question.

Here a chorus of voices interjected, "You should have been here."

Principal Miller said he had been detained upon business. The precedent, he asserted, was a dangerous one. It would enable any clique in the future, by simply passing the word around, to snatch a sectional victory.

Rev. A. C. Clark maintained that no motion should be passed upon except adequate notice had been given.

Rev. R. B. McCosh, as presenter of the reconsideration motion, wanted to repudiate the insinuation that outside influence had been brought to bear upon him. The fact of the matter was that in thinking his morning motion over he had come to the conclusion that it went too far. Someone had said that he had been billeted. He repeated this statement. He was not in the habit of being hoodwinked.

When Mr. McCosh took his seat there was a perfect babel of voices. Everyone present seemed desirous of speaking at once. The bishop finally became impatient. Ringing the call-to-order bell he said: "I cannot and will not permit any more discussion upon this subject. I have given my reply to the query presented."

That settled the matter.

THE ELECTIONS.

The bishop appointed the following scrutinizers for the election of representatives to Provincial Synod and of delegates to the General Synod: Clergy—Rev. R. Ashton, Rev. G. W. Franklin, Rev. John Crisp and Rev. J. M. Gunne. Laity—Messrs. Jasper Goldwin, Thomas Bradley, J. D. Noble and Joseph Ferguson.

It was decided to have the vote upon delegates to the General Synod recorded by orders. Chancellor Crony moved a resolution to this effect. The clergymen were asked, in this case, to vote for eight substitutes.

The scrutinizers for the election of the executive committee were appointed as follows: Clergy—Rev. Wm. Shore, Rev. G. R. Ward, Rev. L. G. Wood and Rev. S. T. Robinson. Laity—Messrs. R. W. Barker, Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening in the Methodist Church, Bothwell, Ont., when Miss Minnie Cobb was married to Mr. A. H. Regan, business manager of R. S. Williams & Son, Toronto, formerly manager of the branch in London.

Rev. T. Cobb, father of the bride, performed the ceremony, and the church, which was beautifully decorated, was crowded to the doors. The bride looked very dainty in an empire gown of white silk bengaline, with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ritchie, of Toronto, cousin of the bride, was becomingly attired in blue and carried a bouquet of white roses. The groom, Mr. Regan, acted as groomsmen. The reception and supper took place at the parsonage. Among the wedding presents were a piano from R. S. Williams & Son, a beautiful carrying set from the employees of the firm, and a silver service from the young people in Bothwell, and also numerous other articles of silver, pictures, books, etc., showing the esteem in which the bride was held by her many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Regan left for Chicago, followed by the usual shower of rice and good wishes. After a short visit to the World's Fair they will leave for New York and eastern cities.

A pleasant event took place in East Williams township on Thursday, when Miss Mary E. daughter of Mr. S. Johnson, of Nairn, was united in marriage to Mr. Edgar Scott, son of Mr. T. B. Scott, of Vankneek. A beautiful flower arch was erected on the lawn, underneath which the ceremony took place. As the bridal party appeared, the lawn Mrs. Finley Stewart greeted them by playing the "Wedding March." The bride was assisted by Miss Maggie Scott, sister of the groom, and Mr. A. Johnston, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Dewar, of Carlyle. About 40 guests were present. A choice wedding dinner was served and a very pleasant afternoon was spent, at the close of which the guests joined in singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the happy couple left for their home near Inwood.

Naturally it is the strongest candidate who carries the day.

EXCLUDE LIQUOR MEN.

The Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W. Considering the Question.

TORONTO, June 22.—The first business taken up at the session of the A. O. U. W. was the receiving of the report fixing the maximum rates, which formerly was optional with the different Grand Lodges. It was decided that the maximum rate be 45, and that it be made compulsory. A petition is now being discussed by the delegates to exclude from the order all who are engaged in the liquor business. The point that seems most at issue is how it will apply to those who are members of the order at the present time.

The Borden Murder.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Lawyer Jenkinson says Lizzie Borden and her sister will leave no stone unturned to discover, if possible, who the murderers of their parents were. The hunt is already out, and will continue. The Borden sisters talk of taking a trip to Europe.

THE TURF.

THE AYLMER RACES.

AYLMER, June 21.—The second day of the Aylmer meeting was in many ways better than the first. The attendance was much larger and the races were all hotly contested. It was a bad day for favorites; only one out of the four winning. Johnnie Goldstut, favorite in the 2:30, was distanced in the sixth heat. Maud L, the favorite in the 2:50 class, only finished fourth. Fay, who was fancied by the fraternity in the 2:34, went lame and was drawn the third heat. The first race on the programme was the unfinished 2:50 trot, in which there were four horses, and each had a heat.
