FISH CAN COME UP THE RIVER

The Cashmere Dam Is No Longer an Obstruction.

Fisheries Overseer McVean Explains Condition of Affairs at the Famous Dam.

The Free Press of this morning contained a letter from Barrister J. W. G. Winnett, who alleged that the Cashmere dam is still an insurmountable obstruction to the running of fish up the River Thames, and that seine fishing was being done at present below the dam. The letter further complained of the government's action in using public money to purchase the dam, and then leaving the obstruction in the

An Advertiser reporter called upon Fishery Overseer Frank McVean, who is best qualified to speak of the condition of affairs at the dam, as he made periodical visits to it. The reporter was also in a good position to understand Mr. McVean's explanation, having visited the dam in his company last summer, and carefully examined the structure, and its surroundings. On being shown Mr. Winnett's letter in the Free Press, Mr. McVean said: 'In the first place, I do not think the government has as yet paid a cent for the dam, declining to do so until its destruction has been accomplished to their satisfaction. No later than a v ago last Friday, Doram Everingham, owner of the dam, was complaining to me that he has not yet been paid for

"As to the dam being an obstruction that is untrue. The timber facing has been removed all across, and at the south side the filling of stones and brush has been dug out to form a channel, which is passable for boats, and up which the fish can swim without difficulty. It is quite probable that the spring freshet will sweep away what remains of the northern end of

"You may say that there is no fishing going on at present, for the reason that it is impossible to fish. The river is frozen, and the farmers are cutting ice above and below the dam. I measured the water where they were cutting ice, and it is only three feet deep, and there is only a small channel of run-ning water. Over most of the surface of the river the ice is frozen to the sand bottom "As for the placing of fish in ponds, Everingham took about a dozen carp out of his mill-race last summer, and put them in a shallow pond behind a barn on the hill. I have no doubt Mr. Wheat- Winnett could be presented with the whole outfit if he asked for it. The carp are worthless fish, and the farmers will not carry them away. There has, as you know, been seine fishing at the mouth of the river, and in Lake St. Clair, and that is where they have been putting fish in the ponds.

HIS DEATH CAUSED PROFOUND SORROW.

Late Judge Lister Was Well Known and Highly Esteemed Here.

The news of the sudden death of Judge Lister was received in this city with much sorrow. He was very well known here, and, as in all places where he was known, was well liked and highly esteemed. His son, Capt. Fred Lister, was for some time adjutant of No. 1 company, R. C. R. I., and while he was at Wolseley Barracks his father's visits to London were more numerous than before. During these visits he added, before. During these visits he added many friends to the number he had made in other years. The officers at the barracks in particular, and many local man barracks in particular, and many local militiamen and members of the bar who had come to know Judge Lister in a professional way, were shocked to learn of his unexpected demise. His death was the chief topic of conversation today, around the courts especially, and expressions of sincere regret were general. On all sides it was felt that Judge Lister's death removes one of the strong-Lister's death removes one of the strong-est characters of Western Ontario. The utmost sympathy is expressed in London for the bereaved family.

THE MAYOR AND THE NURSES.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In reading your report of the last meeting of the hospital trust, I was struck with the ludicrous side of the affair—the comedietta, as it were, in which Mayor Beck seemed to have the leading role. I am sure all his sup-porters will be pleased to know that his worship frowns upon dancing and card playing, and that he believes it the height of impropriety for young ladies to go sleigh-riding with young gentlemen-especially when the young ladies are doing charitable work ten hours a day for seven days in a week. The citizens of London will all be glad to hear that the mayor intends to have rules framed to prohibit the chairman of the hospital board, the medical students, anyone in fact, from taking the nurses for a drive when they are off duty. It will also be pleasant to learn that he (an anti-society man, of a retiring, bashful disposition) begrudges the nurses one evening a week to entertain visitors. Of course, the great hit in his little comedy was the fact that he was given another opportunity to display his pro-found knowledge of the ways and customs of the various large hospitals which he has visited. Anyone who has ever inspected an American hospita knows that the nurses have tenfold more liberty than the London nurses. In nearly all of the larger hospitals in Canada the nurses are allowed to entertain their friends with a "shocking" game of cards, even a waltz if

WERE DINED BY HON. DAVID MILLS

Newspaper Correspondents at the Capital Entertained.

Interesting Reunion of the Fraternity -The Distinguished Host Strongly Eulogized.

Ottawa, Feb. 9 .- The newspaper correspondents at the capital were entertained to dinner at the Russell House last night by Hon. David Mills. Mr. Mills is himself a journalist of long standing, and has always maintained the friendliest relations with the members of his craft. Ever since he joined the ministry at Ottawa he has annually invited the newspaper men to meet him at dinner, and the event came to be looked upon as a sort of reunion of the fraternity. Last night's dinner might be regarded as a sort of formal leavetaking by Mr. Mills of the newspaper men with whom he has been brought into contact, on the occasion of his retirement from the position of minister of justice.

The company sat down in the small dining-room of the Russell House, the menu being served in St. Jacques' best There were exactly fourteen style. gentlemen present, including Mr. Martin Griffin, Mr. Archibald Blue. Mr. J. D. Clarke and Mr. E. R. Cameron. During the evening the health of the host was proposed by Mayor Cook and supported by Messrs. Charles Marcil, M.P., W. A. Mackenzie and W. H. Dickson. All spoke of the invariable kindness with which Mr. Mills had treated the members of the press, and eulogized the stainless life, the honorable career and the lofty aims of the retiring minister of justice. The wish was expressed that Mr. Mills would be spared to enjoy many years of health and prosperity. The toast was greeted with musical honors, and a "three times three," concluding with a tiger

Lord Kitchener says the advance began the night of Feb. 5, the whole force moving from various directions and forming a continuous line of mounted men on the west bank of the Liobenbergs Viei, from Frankfort as far south as Fanny's Home, and thence to Kaffirkop. The line then advanced to the west, and the following night the British entrenched with their outposts fifty yards apart. They held the line from Holland, on the Heilbron-Frankfort blockhouse line, to Doornkloof, on the Kroonstadt-Lindley blockhouse line, while the columns were also working in advance of the blockhouse lines to prevent Dewet's crossing.

BROKE THROUGH. The advance was continued to Feb. 6, and Dewet was within the inclosure, but, realizing his position, he ordered his men to disperse and seek safety during the night. Dewet himself, with some men and a number of cat-tle, made for the Kroonstadt-Lindley blockhouse line, and at one o'clock in the morning, when it was very dark, by rushing his cattle at the fence, broke his way through the line, mixed up with the cattle, and losing three

INHUMANITY OF BOERS ILLUSTRATED

How They Treated the British Wounded After an Engagement.

Ottawa, Feb. 10.-In a letter to Mr.

John Nicol of this city, Sergt. G. T. Ibsher, of the South African Constabulary, describes the inhumanity of the Boers to the British wounded, after an engagement which took place near Wetportge on the last day in December. He says: "There was only 31 of the constabulary against a close estimate of 400 Boers; yet we came out of it pretty lucky, only two killed and six wounded. The killed were Corp. Slean, of Toronto, and Trooper William Walker, from the Canadian Northwest. The Boers used our wounded in a most beastly and inhuman manner, and, remember, I speak from actual experience. They were used in a terrible manner, and all residents of Canada who favor them in any way after what I have said should be driven from under the protection of the British flag, and in saying this I only voice the sentiments of every officer, non-commissioned of-ficer and man of the South African Constabulary. Our wounded were stripped of every stitch of their clothing, and left lying in the burning sununtil they were so badly burned that it was impossible to touch them without the skin peeling off in large patches. It was a horrible sight, and it is a day that neither I nor my comrades will ever forget as long The engagement I refer to oclive. curred near Krugersdorp and lasted five hours. conversazione this evening.

The publication of a column of university news appears to meet with hearty and general approval. Only a few days after these notes appeared for the first time, a highly commen-datory letter was received from Mr. J. F. Hall, B.A. (1899), professor of classics in King's College, Bristol, Tenn. Prof. Hall is one of our most successful graduates, and has lost none of his old-time devotion to his alma mater. The students are busily making ready for the conversazione. As this event comes only once in two years, everybody is particularly anxious to re-ceive in the most royal fashion the university's many friends. The unfortunate members of the decoration committee cannot help thinking sometimes of the poor householder whose untutored hand essays once a year the labor of "putting up" the stove and making the pipes fit. But the reward will come to suffering merit when tonight sees the college halls transformed into mazes of drapery and

A number of the students were to have gone to Melbourne Thursday evening, to take part in a concert, but owing to the unfavorable condition of the weather and the roads they did not venture upon the long drive. The preaching appointments for Sunday, Feb. 2, were: Gorrie, C. Simpson; Clandeboye, C. W. Saunders; Teeswater, A. A. Bice; Sarnia, W. H. Snellgrove; Port Stanley, C. M. Farney; Oil Springs, B. F. Fuller; Crum-

Snell; Thorndale, C. Ryan. Rev. Prof. Burgess preached at Delhi on Sunday, Feb. 2. The storm of Sunday last and the blocked condition of the roads played havoc with those students who were unfortunate enough to be sent north for Sunday duty. Mr. C. Simpson, who went to Gorrie, did not get back until Tuesday evening, and Mr. A. Bice, who went to Teeswater, has not yet, at the time of writing, returned.

The students of the university take great interest in the graduates of the college and university. Recently news was received at the college of the removal of three of their graduates, Rev. T. B. R. the United States are becoming more irksome every year. The attorney-general's department has been advised that Melvin Hall, who is wanted for burglaries and other daring crimes in the counties of Stormont and Glengarry, and has been held for extradition at Ogdensburg, will be turned over to the government of Last season's fishing was the best the North Sea herring fishermen have known. Twenty-eight thousand six hundred and sixty-six lasts, each of 13,200 fish, making about 375,000,000 herrings, were landed at Yarmouth. The average earnings of the boats were from $5,000 to $6,000 for the four months.

Mrs. Annie Roderick, of Hamilton, has begun suit against the Supreme Tent of the Supreme Order of the Knights of the Maccabees of the World to recover $2,000 insurance on a policy on the life of her husband, Francis Edgar Roderick, who, she says, disappeared seven years ago. contends that Roderick is still alive. On the body of 5-year-old Marion Weaver, of Chicago, 219 square inches of skin have been grafted. The operation has taken five months, as the surgeons could only operate once eac fortnight, owing to the low state of the boy's vitality. The new cuticle covers injuries on the patient's chest, abdomen, back and sides, caused by burns. IT IS A LIVER PILL.-Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation, though gentle, is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

A Physicians Testimony For Labatt's Stout.

ALEXANDRIA, DEC., 20th. 1901. Speaking from personal experience I can state that your Stout is excellent in building up the system-I was very much run down and was advised to use Labatt's Porter-this I have done for some time and I largely attribute to its effects my steady improvement in strength and weight. I deem it but justice to you, and it certainly is a pleasure to me, to add my testimony to its sterling qualities, and I gladly recommend your Stout as an excellent tonic and food in cases where such is required. JOHN LABATT, Eso., Brewer,

Yours truly, G. S. TIFFANY, M.D.
