METRIC SYSTEM GREAT BRITAIN'S FOR BRITAIN NAVAL ESTIMATES

Measure Read Second Time in the House of Lords. $184,445,000 Needed to Carry Out This Year's Scheme.

DEBATE ON FISCAL QUESTION MANY NEW SHIPS TO BE BUILT

Sir John Gorst Thinks a Protective Policy Would Weaken the British Mercantile Marine.

London, Feb. 25.—The bill making the metric system of weights and measures compulsory in Britain within a year, passed its second reading in the House of Lords. Lord Wolverton said it would be the duty of the board of trade to find simple English words instead of the kilometer designation. Lord Rosebery believed the adoption of the system would do more to benefit traders than all the fiscal remedies.

Major Seely, M. P., speaking of protection and preference in relation to imperial defense, at a free trade meeting last night, said the results of protection would be smaller mercantile marine, less varied employment and less contented people. The British naval reserve was drawn from the British mercantile marine, and it would be a strategic mistake to adopt a policy of diminution in the number of ships. He saw a divided empire as the result of a preference policy in time of war.

Sir John Gorst said that there was no greater guarantee of peace for the world or safety for Britain than that she was supplied with food by the United States. The Americans would never allow food to be considered contraband of war.

Moreton Frewen, speaking at Nottingham on "The Empire and the Emigrant," drew attention to the immense waste of the vital forces of the empire, because instead of being distributed by preference among the colonies, emigrants during the past sixty years had been given wholesale to our chief competitor, the United States. He estimated the value of an able-bodied British emigrant in Canada at $200, because, judging by American returns, the annual wealth in product of this emigrant was about $200, and he would pay $15 a year for federal and local taxes, and ten emigrants with security in Canada would cost $2,000 to build and equip a mile of railway. Thus the railways of the empire could be paid for and built by the emigrant and not the financiers in Parliament.

FIVE OF FAMILY DEAD.—Arsenic Was Mistaken for Baking Powder and Used in Bread.

Cayuga, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Five members of the family of P. Crawford died as the result of eating bread in which arsenic poison had been mixed by mistake for baking powder. Crawford bought arsenic to be used in medicine for hogs, and placed it in an empty baking powder tin. His wife thought it was baking powder, and used it in making bread. Boyle Crawford, a son, who did not eat any of the bread, was the only surviving member of the family.

IN INTERESTS OF PEACE.—France and United States Likely to Arrange an Arbitration Treaty.

Paris, Feb. 25.—According to information conveyed by Baron d'Estouville de Constant to the members of a parliamentary group on international arbitration, at a meeting Tuesday, a treaty of arbitration between France and the United States was being negotiated. He said the state department at Washington was engaged in studying the arbitration treaty which France, it was commonly held, was in Paris that negotiations were actually in progress between the United States and France for an arbitration treaty. The French parliamentary group, favoring international arbitration, is said, however, to be over the belief that a treaty will shortly be signed. It is pointed out here that Russo-Japanese war tends to cause hesitation on the part of negotiators.

Nervine acts promptly and is very pleasant to take. "I think Nervine is the finest remedy in the world for colic and cramps," wrote W. B. Wilton, of Toledo. "When I take Nervine I know it's going to relieve me quickly and for that reason I am never without it. I have found Nervine good for sick headache and stomach troubles and recommend it for strength and sureness." Excellent for inward use—good to rub on. Price 25 cents.

It Comes High but John Bull Is Taking No Chances—Navy Must Equal Any Two Others.

London, Feb. 25.—The British naval estimates for 1904-05 total $184,445,000—a net increase of $12,160,000 over the estimates for 1903-04.

More than half the increase in the estimates is due to the determination to pay the cure balance due on the recently purchased Chilean battleships on April 1, and to provide them with ammunition for the next year. The remainder of the increase arises from the expansion of the fleet, increase in pay of personnel and material.

The estimates provide for a total of $8,280,880 for new construction, of which $2,210,415 will be devoted to the commencement of new ships. The admiralty will devote $9,050,000 to the purchase of armor.

Orders have already been placed for nine submarine vessels in this year's programme, but the preparation of special designs for the tenth submarine has delayed the placing of contract.

Satisfactory progress has been made in the experiments with oil fuel, and three old gunboats have been converted into tank ships for the storing of oil in some ports. Extensive provision is being made to furnish oil afloat. The admiralty is considering the possibilities of an internal combustion engine for torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, because of economy in fuel consumption to be obtained by this method.

The construction will be begun during the present year of two battleships, four armored cruisers, ten submarines and fourteen torpedo boat destroyers.

In submitting the estimates, the Earl of Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, said the estimates were large, but Parliament must remember how great was the responsibility cast upon the board of admiralty in providing the country with a navy strong enough to sustain with honor the interests of any two powers, and to insure reasonable security for the country's vast sea-borne trade and the food supply of the people.

IF YOU HAVE THESE SYMPTOMS.—Send for My Book.

If you want to feel better, If you want more strength, If you lack ambition, If you can't do things like you used to, If you lack confidence in yourself, If your nerve—your courage—is leaving you.

If you lack vim, vigor, vitality, If you are eating away at your constitution, write to me for the book you need.

The book tells of my discovery. Tells how, after thirty years, I found the cause of the symptoms given above—and of other things.

The book tells how by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring about these symptoms, and how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

For invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality that the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves coming from the brain, but the nerves of the inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. The real success began. Then I combined ingredients that called strength. That would tell the truth to the body. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. That did not fail to cure one case in a hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were only four.

Can't find a cure for cancer in medicine. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

How to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it to the world. But thought I will realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—today.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk. Send no money. Just write me for the book. I will send you a bottle of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial.

Then, if you say to the druggist, "I did not help me," that will relieve you of all expense whatever. It will bill the cost to me.

This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts. I will let you know the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this if you are at all sick.

If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—today.

Not all bankers are aware of the manner in which the clearing house system originated. The messengers of the London banking houses used to meet at a certain ale house, and there make exchanges of paper. NO LONGER SOOTHING.—Lady Greville Says Women's Voices Have Grown Harsh.

London, Feb. 25.—"Women's voices no longer are low and sweet. Whether in trains, omnibuses, clubs, hotels or theaters, women talk loudly and shrilly. They can be heard at the other end of a room, and domestic concerns of a purely personal nature are, in spite of one's efforts, being constantly overheard."

The tones, too, of the voice are certainly deeper and gruffer. I have sometimes been startled to find that a speaker was a woman—so masculine and loud and the throat was hoarse."

"When it is added to this that women wear swishing silk skirts and carry jingling bangles and chains and chate-laines, it will be easily surmised that a company of ladies no longer is soothing."

This is written, not by a male misogynist, but by Lady Violet Greville, in the staid columns of the Weekly Graphic.

MONKS PRESENT A RICH RUG.—Mat of Kangaroo Skins Is the Gift—Case of Father Berger Is Considered.

Rome, Feb. 25.—It has been noticed that the Pope's three sisters, who are received in private audience two or three times a week, always leave the Pope's rooms in tears. Pius X. finds great consolation in confiding his troubles to his sisters, who deeply sympathize with the difficulties of his exalted position and frequently remain with him to dinner and breakfast, in order to cheer his solitude.

The apartments of the late Mgr. Volpini are being fitted up for the permanent dwelling of the Pope's sisters. It is the custom of the sisters of Pius X. to attend mass at 5 o'clock every morning in the Church of St. Peter, and then go to market to purchase supplies for dinner.

A magnificent rug, made entirely of kangaroo skins, has been presented to the Pope by some monks who recently arrived here from Australia. The Pope was much pleased with the gift, and ordered that it be used in one of the reception rooms adjoining his private apartments.

Bishop Beaver, of Springfield, Mass., who was received in private audience by the Pope this week, is busy with the propaganda justifying his action in excommunicating the whole French-Canadian congregation of Father Berger last year. Father Berger has appealed to Rome from the bishop's sentence, asserting that he was a regular appointment before taking charge of the parish, but many of the cardinals are likely to censure the extremity of the punishment imposed by the bishop.

Cardinal Stampa, Archbishop of Bologna, has begun criminal proceedings against several newspapers of this city, which, according to the complaint, have spoken with disrespect of the late Pope. Among the writings is a poem by the celebrated but eccentric, Lorenzo Stecchetti, written on the occasion of the assembling of the last Catholic congress.

The poem is satirical in its description of the diplomatic triumphs of the late Pope, and it is said, Cardinal Stampa has induced some of the members of the Pope's family to ask for substantial damages because of the supposed libel.

BURNS' HOT SHOT—English Labor Leader Hits at the Duke of Marlborough.

London, Feb. 25.—The Duke of Marlborough, who, as under secretary for the colonies, was in the peers' gallery of the House of Commons during the Chinese labor debate, was made furious by a remark of John Burns. The labor leader made a vigorous speech denouncing Chinese labor, and in it he referred to a practice among the African natives of getting wives to support them.

"But it is far worse," said Burns, "for impudent English peers to marry Americans solely for their money."

The duke, who was leaning forward, with his chin on the front rail of the gallery, turned purple to the roots of his hair, as all eyes in the house were immediately turned on him. Then he grew pale, laughed feebly and left the house.
