Ottawa, April 3.-Rome declined before she fell, thereby enabling Gibbon to furnish posterity with a classic record of her passing. Canada can have no such place in history on account of her demise. She sank in ruin so rapidly that only Dr. Manion observed the phenomenon, and any virtue, that Dr. Manion had only acwho care to remember that this dominion once flourished must be content with his account of the tragedy.

He placed it on Hansard today. Those who would delude themselves in the hand ever been done to it was as bad as the Conservative party's deed in 1911, when they defeated reciprocity, heading the Dominion a gold brick in who would delude themselves in the belief that this country still survives should consult it. They will find a tale to tear the heart, and they will go out and lower the flag to the halfmast for a country that was but is no more. Canada has fallen, has fallen.

The place of the greatest trade agreement ever framed in behalf of a nation. It may be suspected from the tenor of the speeches of the opposing physicians that the budget debate is settling into its convenional, inevitable character. It is. The virtues and sins of the parties will be a chief theme from now on. And there is plenty to come. The whips are now

They have despoiled her of her honor, disciplinated by the second of the division country that the conservatives probably plan on putting up even more. The Liberals will have some replies to make. They have despoiled her of her honor, dissipated her wealth, betrayed her people and driven them forth from their homes. Her once fertile and for a week or more after. their homes. Her once fertile and blooming countryside is vacant and waste, her factories are idle, the waste, her factories are idle, the remnants of her citizenry unemployed and famished. Only the wreck of a country remains, but it has Dr Manion to recite the terrible wrong. For such an historic task the For William physician marshalled the metaphors of the language. The respects paid by the lawyers in the recent London divorce case to the nt London divorce case to incipals therein might be regarded as highly complimentary pared with Dr. Manions description of the prime minister and his colleagues. It seemed a pity that it should have been more or less wasted on an in-noculated Commons; it would have been so much more appreciated if delivered at a Conservative ward meeting somewhere off the main line. ared with Dr. Manions description
