"OUR PERSONAL ADVICE TO ALL SKIN SUFFERERS"

A. McDONALD, Druggist

We have been in this town for some time, and we are building up a reputation for ourselves.

So when we tell you that we have found the effective remedy for skin troubles, you can depend upon that we give our advice, not in order to sell a few bottles of medicine to skin sufferers, but because we know how it will help our business if we help our patrons.

We keep in stock and sell all the well known skin remedies. But we will say this: If you are suffering from any kind of skin trouble, eczema, psoriasis, rash or better, we want you to try a little bottle of D. D. D. Prescription.

Again and again we have seen how a few drops of this simple wash, applied to the skin, takes away the itch instantly. And the cure all seem to be permanent.

D. D. D. Prescription made by D. D. D. Laboratories of Toronto is composed of thymol, glycerine, oil of wintergreen and a little menthol, soothing, cooling ingredients. And if you are just crazy with itch, you will feel soothed and cooled, the itch absolutely washed away the moment you apply this D. D. D.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending this remedy to skin sufferers here and there and we want you to try it now.

IGNORANCE OF THE BIBLE

Professor H. F. Hamilton publishes some figures respecting the 150 Freshmen who entered Amherst College, Massachusetts, last year. They were set a paper of 62 Bible questions, of which two were "the easiest that could be thought of," while "two were exceedingly difficult, so as to test the intimate as well as the average knowledge of the men." More than 70 of these undergraduates could remember nothing about the fall of Jericho, 37 knew nothing of Cain, 40 knew nothing of Daniel, and 65, 102, and 105 failed to answer questions about Saul, Gideon, and Timothy respectively. Professor Hamilton also reports that in visiting certain schools in New York he found, among pupils preparing for college and nearly of an age for entrance, whole classes that could not tell the story of Daniel in the lion's den.

Amatite ROOFING

Mineral Surface Needs No Painting

If you intend to build, use Amatite. You will do away not only with all roofing troubles, but with all unnecessary roofing expense, because Amatite needs no painting or attention after it is laid.

It has a wear-resisting mineral surface on top instead of paint. Amatite is easy to lay, fire resistant, attractive and absolutely waterproof.

Send for sample and make roofing comparisons, and know roofing before you buy. The man who knows, buys Amatite—always.

HOW TO STAND AND WALK CORRECTLY

Physical training forms part of the foundations of good manners. The girl or woman who carries herself gracefully at all times is like an accomplished actress—she has mastered the art which conceals art. How to stand is the first thing to be taught.

The correct position is to stand with the weight on both feet, the shoulders held well back, the chin in, and head high, but not turned up.

Do not stand with one knee bent or on one foot. This gives the figure a one-sided effect and will in time make one hip higher than the other. One shoulder will also drop. This position throws the body into unsymmetrical lines that are most ungraceful.

If you stand in the position described in the above paragraph you will find that you can stand for a long time without becoming the least bit tired, but if you shift your weight from one foot to the other in a restless manner you will soon tire and lose that repose of manner that has such charm.

You see so much written of the American girl's walk. It has been called graceful, too athletic, and many other things, but with all that is said of the American girl's carriage she has a freedom in her walk that is not without attraction.

With the head held up, shoulders bent forward over a little, and a slight swing to the arms (not enough to be graceful), she walks with a quick, firm step, and looks every inch a queen.

Each step should be taken from the hips, not from the knees. A knee walk is awkward, incorrect and does not give the proper exercise, and is very tiring.

For the drawing-room this athletic walk must be toned down. The girl who is accustomed to walking in the country and swinging her arms often feels ill at ease in the drawing-room, and does not know what to do with her arms and hands, but after a little training she should be as much at ease in the ball-room as on the tennis court and golf course.

These games, if not overdone, will give grace and good courage to the girl who indulges in them.

Just now there is a fad for walking and standing with the head and chin down. This is wrong, both from an artistic and healthful standpoint. The girl who walks with her head up and chin forward, and looks every inch a queen, will always attract pleasant attention and is a treat to see as she swings along the avenue with that unaffected but natural grace.

RICHESON DIED IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Self-Confessed Murderer Paid Penalty Shortly After Midnight, Tuesday

Clarence V. T. Richeson was electrocuted at 12.17.08 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

The current was turned on at 12.10.02 and the prisoner was declared totally dead at 12.17.08.

The former Baptist clergyman, confessed poisoner of Avis Linnell, of Hyannis, his former sweetheart, was outwardly calm when he entered the death chamber and he maintained his composure while the straps and electrodes were being adjusted as he sat in the electric chair.

Richeson walked to the chair erect eyes straight ahead, until he sat down. Then he closed his eyes and kept them shut until the end.

Seated in the chair, he was asked a series of questions by Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, his spiritual adviser.

In the course of his answers he said: "God will take care of my soul and I pray for all. I forgive everybody."

The last of the questions was "Are you willing to die for Jesus's sake?" His reply, in an even, well modulated tone, was simply, "I am willing to die."

The current applied was of 1,900 volts, eight amperes. One application was sufficient.

MEN OF NERVE

Most Structural Steel Workers Are of Irish Blood

It is a curious fact that most of the structural steel workers engaged on various huge structures in Canadian cities are of Irish blood. In fact, the Irish and Swedes, or "square heads," as they are called, have almost a monopoly of this dangerous trade. The Irish will take more chances than the men of any other nationality, but the Swedes are not far behind, and how they divide the honors was illustrated recently. Two steel columns for the top storeys of a skyscraper had just been set in place at the corners, and stood starkly up fifty feet above the nearest cross girder. Each column was about eight inches square. When the news spread that a photographer was about to take a picture of the column and stood on the top, the man at one corner was an Irishman, the other was a Swede. Sometimes these structural ironworkers lose their nerve. Why it happens, or how they do not know; but sometimes a sudden panic will overwhelm a man. Then, if he knows his business, he will shout for help, for he cannot help himself. Now and then a man gets a mad desire to hurl himself from the roof, and if he is not restrained he will go as surely as though a great magnet were drawing him down to the earth. Oddly enough, one terrible fright rarely causes a man to give up the business. He gets the first few stories under construction then later on, for the men take more chances, forgetting that a 40-foot fall is about as deadly as one twice as long.

BRAVERY REWARDED

The former was one of a group of boys who went swimming in a pond. Larne Hutchinson got beyond his depth, and had gone under four times before Coppin reached him. Ira Hughes rescued a little girl from drowning.
