colt. Ajax, quite recently says he has improved more than any of last season's 2-year olds he has seen. Ajax always was a fine large colt, but he was rather light in flesh the greater portion of last season. He took the prevailing cough at Coney Island in June and it wasted him to a shadow, and it was not until September that he was himself, and then he had a great many hard races close together, which made his form variable. He always carried a light middle piece, and Mr. Phil Dwyer always declared he reminded him of Hindoo. The gentleman quoted says he has let down very much, although he will never be a bigbarreled one, and that he looks very robust. Mr. Ruppert has, in fact, a very promising stable. The filly Sonora, which lost her speed last year owing to her being used to gallop with Ajax, has recovered and looks something like her old self. The 2-year-olds in the stable are a fine-looking lot, but have never been asked to do much.—Spirit of the Times.

ARESTON, N.J., Feb. 1.—Contrary to general expectation no race track bills have been introduced here. "Duke" Thompson of Gloucester was in a despondent mood when spoken to upon the subject.

He said that he did not think any bill would be introduced. The race track men, he said, were squabbling among themselves and could not agree upon a measure.

It is said that the Dwyers were not satisfied with the bill which the Jersey men had agreed upon, and refused to contribute toward the expenses of getting it passed.
