THE NEW COURT HOUSE.

Nearly 500 Workmen Now Employed There—To Be Ready for Occupation in 1896.

Stone by stone, brick by brick, the colossal edifice that is to be Toronto's court house is being raised towards the heavens.

The gigantic nature of the work makes the progress slow. But a glance at the busy array of workmen, each engaged at his own task, shows the great scope of the operations.

The massive blocks of stone that surround the building of one of the city's pyramids. Huge cranes lift them into their places with scrupulous accuracy.

Architect E. J. Lennox, who is in charge of the work, expects that next summer will see the stone work finished and the work on the interior under way.

There are now over 325 men engaged upon the construction work. Of these 155 are stonecutters and 40 are masons.

The stone which is used is excellent in quality and there is plenty of it. Ninety men are at work at the Sawdust quarry in New Brunswick, preparing the blocks for shipment to Toronto.

The quarry which supply the white stone given employment to 60 men. Occasionally a block of stone is quarried.

When you expect the building will be ready for the occupation of the court house.

Next summer without fail. We are now pushing the work upon the north and east wings, and they will be ready first.
