HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS.

WATFORD, APRIL 11, 1913.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Two thousand four hundred farmers went to school on their farms in North Dakota during 1912. The pupils ranged in age from 10-year-old boys to gray-headed men. They studied scientific agriculture under the direction of a faculty of thirty farmer experts. Fifty thousand dollars was spent by the North Dakota Better Farming Association during the last year in an effort to give the farmers of that state practical lessons in scientific farming.

To find out what is in your seed grain, handpick a couple of quarts of it some evening. Spread out thinly on a table, and, with a knife, separate the weed seeds and other grains from the sample of barley, or oats, or wheat, as the case may be. The man who does that will find a larger percentage of impurities than he dreamed of, and will never after have any difficulty in accepting the botanist's assurance that the chess plants in his fall wheat have sprung from unsuspected chess seeds in the grain he sowed. The chess is hardy and when the wheat kills out it survives, stools, occupies the ground, and multiplies enormously. Sow absolutely clean seed in clean land and you will never have chess.

The Late Mrs. Albert Evoy

On Friday, April 4th, there passed away at her home at Sault Ste. Marie, Cynthia Mann, wife of Albert Evoy, after a lingering illness borne with great fortitude. Her remains were brought to Stratford, accompanied by her husband and son, for interment, the funeral taking place on Monday. Mrs. Evoy had formerly lived at Alvinston for a number of years, where she made many warm friends as she was ever ready to help in any cause for the advancement of church or town.

Besides her husband, two sons survive to mourn her loss, Jesse, of Sault Ste. Marie, and Colin, of Horfield, Sask.

Revision of Marriage Act

Toronto, April 3.—The Ontario Government has introduced their proposal toward the revision and improvement of the Provincial Marriage Act, and as expected several of the clauses are of a drastic and far-reaching nature.

Foremost in interest and importance is the clause which ordains that for three successive weeks immediately preceding the application for the marriage license, the notice of its approach be published in a local publication. In the case neither of the parties had for the preceding 15 days lived there, the license would be issued on the affidavit of one of the parties stating that this regulation had been complied with.

Should an applicant be unable to meet these conditions, the circumstances of his case would be reported to the registrar-general, and upon his being satisfied that the reason for having the marriage solemnized in the place mentioned was not to evade due publicity and for any other improper purpose, he could in writing authorize the issue of the marriage or certificate.

If any issuer of licenses or any minister or clergyman knowing or believing that either of the parties to the intended marriage is an idiot, insane or under the influence of liquor, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding $500, and shall also be liable to a prison term not exceeding 12 months.

CHOP STUFF.

The marriage of John Alexander to Miss Emily Wark took place on Saturday, March 29th, at the Rectory, Wyoming. The Rev. J. C. McCracken performed the ceremony. The happy couple left on the three o'clock train for Toronto, Montreal and other cities.

An Essex man, just returned from the great and glorious west, says the money market out on the prairies is so tight just now that one would not be able to raise a hundred dollars without having his mother's, father's and grandparents' signatures on the back of the note. He also says he met several individuals who were down here recently flourishing a tale of great western prosperity, and to his surprise they didn't have enough money to buy the drinks for the boys—Amherstburg Echo.

YOU may save money—more money, now by putting off getting glasses. You may have more change in your purse—but, if you require help for your eyes, Nature will assert itself and you will suffer from eye strain. It will be better for you now and in the long run if you come here and let us help your eyes, now and for all time.

Examinations Careful and Thorough.
