SHIP LOADED WITH 547 MILLIONAIRES

Mauretania Sails For Mediterranean With 547 Millionaires And Near-Millionaires.

New York.—The liner Mauretania, chartered at a cost of $1,250,000, sailed with 547 millionaires and near-millionaires on the most costly pleasure cruise ever arranged in New York.

The cruise, across the Atlantic and through the Mediterranean, will last sixty-six days. Members who wish will have the opportunity of visiting among other places, the tomb of King Tutankhamen, now being excavated at Luxor, Egypt.

—Elbert H. Garey, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, with Mrs. Garey and a party of friends, occupied the Mauretania's two "regal" suites.

STEAMER M. SIGOGNE IN THE COURTS

The North Sydney Herald prints the details of three cases in the admiralty court in that town, one of which, concerning the steamer M. Sigogne, will be of much interest to Yarmouth and Digby Courtes shipping men, as that ship had quite a history. The Herald says:—

"The third case in an echo of war days in North Sydney harbor. The consignors of twenty-five cases of gramophone needles, shipped by the Nova Scotia built steamer M. Sigogne, are suing the insurance underwriters for goods lost by damage on the ship.

"The steamer was ordered from New York to join convoy at North Sydney but owing to her size and slow speed, did not reach this port in time for the arranged schedule and her departure was delayed for a considerable time. When the ship did sail, however, she encountered very heavy weather and was obliged to put back to port in a leaking condition. A survey was made here and the gramophone needles were found in such bad condition that they were ordered destroyed by the customs authorities.

"The underwriters refused the claim for insurance on the ground that the ship was not seaworthy. They are, now being sued for the insurance and a commission by the New York court to examine and take the evidence here of Messrs. Captain J. D. Mackenzie, who surveyed the ship; Jos. Salter and Sons, Lloyd's agents; J. H. Cameron, Customs Examiner and A. A. Gannon, checker. The evidence has been taken and the commission forwarded to New York. Mr. MacMillan was commissioner."

Eventually, the M. Sigogne reached a port in Europe and was taken across by Captain Alfred Gannon, of Arichat, who took charge of the steamer when she was in Halifax. She was a wooden craft and new at the time. The steamer was of about 200 tons gross and built at Gilbert's Cove, (Digby County), by Capt. Bernard Melanson.

Canada ranks third among the automobile owning nations, there are 470,000 automobiles in use in this country.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK

Will Not Likely Become a Member of the Federated Institution at Halifax.

Fredericton, N. B.—Educational authorities here analyzed the latest communication from the Carnegie Foundation of New York, urging the federation of universities of the Maritime Provinces as meaning that $500,000 was available to each of the six institutions invited to join the federation, for the construction of new buildings and other requirements if they would enter the arrangement and set up a federated institution at Halifax.

I was quite definitely asserted by one authority that the situation in respect to the University of New Brunswick would not be in any manner altered as a result of its latest offer, and that, even with its share of the $2,000,000 of Carnegie Foundation funds thus available, the cost to the people of the Province of maintaining the State University at a place where it would be completely out of touch with New Brunswick's educational system, and divorced entirely from this Province, would necessarily have to be much greater than it ever has been. The opinion which appears to prevail is that New Brunswick can secure better results from expending the same money within its own borders.

Several members of the Senate have already given such opinions on the matter as expressed above.

PORTLAND IS NOT WORRYING OVER ST. JOHN AND HALIFAX

Henry F. Merrill, chairman of the State Commission which built a great pier at Portland says that in his opinion the simple matter of dollars and cents will defeat efforts being made to divert Grand Trunk traffic from Portland to St. John and Halifax. Mr. Merrill also says that Boston is after some of Portland's traffic.

Mr. Merrill announces that the Maine Central, Boston and Maine and Grand Trunk railroads have come together and given a preferential rate over their lines for freight going to the State pier. Already this has meant a saving to the people of Maine of $75,000. The chairman added that the railroads have promised that as business develops they will make a further differential. The pier cost the State of Maine $1,150,000. The pier site was given by the cities of Portland and South Portland and is valued at $350,000.

EXPERIENCE OF WORLD'S BEST ADVERTISERS

The experience of the world's best advertisers proves that continuous advertising gets the best results, as advertising is cumulative, and when there is a slip the gap is not bridged over, and when you resume advertising you have to begin all over. Periodic splashes, no matter how big a space is used, is not effective method for building up a substantial business.

The Wreck of the "Corinthian" Revived

The Toronto Globe of a recent date says:—

A story of treasure salvaged from a Bay of Fundy wreck is told in connection with the sinking of the Corinthian, December, 1918, when she went ashore on Northwest Ledge, off Brier Island, Nova Scotia. Carrying a cargo of pork and general produce, this British ship was sailing from St. John to Liverpool, Eng. Heroically the fishermen of Westport and Freeport put off in motor boats, braving gale and tempest, and brought the crew of eighty-three men safe into their harbors and the open hospitality of the villages. The wreck took place on a Saturday afternoon, and salvaging did not properly begin until the following Monday, although fishing boats from other ports along the Bay of Fundy shores visited the wreck during Sunday.

Before the fishermen left Westport on the first salvaging trip on Monday morning the captain of the Corinthian, in confidence, told one of the salvagers a curious tale of a bit of cargo which the wrecked ship was carrying. Some months previous to the wreck there had been stolen from a Scottish home of nobility a quantity of silver, invaluable as heirlooms. Detective forces in both Europe and America had been diligently attempting to trace the lost silver, and had been unsuccessful.

Just before the Corinthian sailed into St. John harbor, the last trip from England, the ship's stokers discovered in the coal bunker a sack filled with valuable silver plate. Carried to a St. John detective agency, the sack of silver plate was identified as stolen silver belonging to the Scottish family of nobility. The Corinthian had been commissioned to carry the sack of silver back to England where it would be returned to the rightful owners. The captain of the Corinthian requested this salvager, in whom he confided the sack, speedily to salvage this sack of silver from the strong-room.

Reaching the wrecked Corinthian, the salvager went direct to the strong-room and, to his surprise, found that it had been broken open by the visiting and premature salvagers of Sunday. He searched the strong-room thoroughly, but the sack of heirloom silver, which had been the quest of detective agencies of two continents, had disappeared. According to the stories of the fishermen salvagers of Brier Island, the sack of heirloom silver was never traced or recovered.

NO LIGHT ON BERRY MURDER

Detective Kennedy interviewed the Prisoner Hermon, at Yarmouth.

Yarmouth.—Frederick Hermon, who was arrested in Yarmouth for breaking and entering the Yarmouth Cycle and Motor Co.'s store on Cliff street, was sentenced by Judge Pelton to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary. Hermon claims La Have as his home, but for five years was in Halifax. For the last two months prior to coming to Yarmouth, the prisoner was employed in a vulcanizing establishment at Annapolis Royal. Hermon was in Annapolis County at the time of the Berry murder near Clementsport, and Detective Horace Kennedy of Halifax arrived by the D.A.R. to interview the prisoner. Hermon, however, could not give the least information that would lead to a clue to that awful tragedy.

"BULLY BEEF" 350 YEARS OLD, LATEST FIND IN KING'S TOMB

Luxor, Egypt.—What is believed to be the oldest specimens of canned beef in the world were discovered by excavators in the tomb of King Tutankhamun. While it was not wholly palatable, being 3,500 years old, the meat is in an excellent state of preservation.

The meat had been embalmed and was contained in elliptical receptacles resembling huge Easter eggs, forty of which were removed from the tomb amid the deep interest of a crowd of tourists. Still other meats found were haunches of venison, trussed ducks and joints of game. These were packed in wooden boxes, shaped according to the nature of the contents. Noticeable among this discovery was a giant duck.

EX-POSTMASTER PRAISES TANLAC

Declares It Restored Him Completely When Almost Helpless From Rheumatism.

Joseph Frederick Warren, a well known resident of 1156 21st Street, East Vancouver, B.C., Postmaster, at one time, for sixteen years at Cornwall, Prince Edward Island, recently gave out the following statement regarding Tanlac:—

"Tanlac made such a wonderful improvement in my health two years ago that I have been a staunch supporter of it ever since. I consider it the greatest medicine for rheumatism, loss of appetite and a run-down system in the world.

"The rheumatism had got so bad in my arms, shoulders and hips I was forced to quit work. I couldn't take a step or move a muscle without suffering torture and at times I couldn't even put my coat on. My appetite went back on me, too, and I was run-down all over.

"Well, five bottles of Tanlac rid me of the whole thing and built me up so that I have enjoyed good health ever since. I have never come across the equal of Tanlac in all the seventy-two years of my life."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

SEED ORDERS

(Experimental Farms Note)

The new seed catalogues will soon be received with their ever attractive descriptions of novelties and staple varieties, but, while these catalogues are eagerly looked over, it frequently happens that the ordering of the seeds is left until spring. By that time, however, the seeds which we most desire may be exhausted as the best stocks of the best varieties are usually limited, hence the desirability of ordering soon to ensure getting what is wanted.

Some novelties are well worth the high price asked for the seed, while others are no better if as good, as the old reliable sorts. It is best to let the Experimental Farms and Stations do most of the testing of these, and delay ordering until a report is received from one of these Stations as to their merits. Usually it pays well to order the most expensive strains of staple varieties. There is a great difference in strains as thorough selection and roguing in the field ensure much more satisfactory results than where this is not done. The cost of good seed is small compared with the value of the crop obtained.

There are now many lists of best varieties of vegetable and flower seeds available through the Experimental Stations and Agricultural Colleges, and it will be found to be well worth while getting these before deciding on what to buy.

When one has seed of a good strain of some particular variety of flower or vegetable it is desirable to sow the same seed another year after testing it for germination as sometimes it is not possible to get the same strain two years in succession. Order early: Order the best seed of the best varieties.

Consult Experimental Farm Lists of best varieties.
