

COME AND BRING YOUR FRIENDS.

Just Among Ourselves.

Convention Offering Next Sunday. It is time we were all awake to the importance of this offering. The Convention books close July 31, and our allotment must quickly be collected.

The Series of Sermons to young men will be concluded this month. They are as follows:—

- 1.—“The Young Man in Severe Temptation.”
- 2.—“The Young Man Losing All for Principle.”
- 3.—“The Young Man Rising to Eminence.”
- 4.—“The Transient Character of Human Fame.”

Our Bloctmfield Street Mission is doing a grand work in its Sunday

School. Superintendent Thompson and his faithful staff of teachers, are laying a solid foundation. The greatest need is workers from the home church for the Thursday and Sunday Evening Services. Think this matter over carefully, and then go to the Mission determined never to give up till the work is fairly on its feet. Pray for the mission, and then help; answer your prayers. Bro. Thompson deserves the highest praise for the noble service he has given. It is time for us to arise and help him build up this cause in an important and growing part of our city. We must take this community for Christ, or be guilty of gross disobedience to His commands. We ought to have a Student on the field this summer. The time is coming when the church must have an assistant Pastor with special charge of this work.

“The North Baptist Church is the most Social Church in the city.” That sounds large, but we have frequently heard it. And yet we have seen members of our church sit beside strangers without ever giving them a welcome. There is need of considerable understanding amongst us before we can reach the ideal. Every member of the congregation should be on the alert to give strangers such a warm and true-hearted welcome, with repeated invitations to “come again” that they will be compelled to return. It is our duty to be always awake. It is the Lord’s Service. A noble few are thoroughly alive to the importance of this work, but many of our members need a thorough reviving for better service. Let us all pray for “larger life and fuller.”
