

Paragraphic.

The Paris Journal Officiel publishes a report eulogising the conduct of two Frenchmen, M. Pierre, director of the Cairo Water Company, and E. Bijard, director of the Gas Company, who courageously remained at their post during recent troubles. They have been made Chevaliers of the Legion of Honour.

That the Church is very strong in Bermuda may be gathered from the complexion of their Parliament. An election has recently been run. The old House consisted of 28 Churchmen, 6 Presbyterians and 2 Methodists. The new will have 29 Churchmen, 2 Methodists, 2 Roman Catholics, and 2, if not 3, Presbyterians—as in one parish there is a tie of two members.

The company which carries on the iniquitous gaming hell at Monte Carlo has appointed a new director. Its capital consists of about 80,000,000 fr., with an income of from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 fr. The expenses of the theatre alone costs 2,000,000 fr. Besides this a Roman Catholic Bishop is maintained out of the proceeds of the gaming table.

A memorial, signed by eight representative Churchmen, and accompanied by a letter from Earl Beauchamp, has been sent to each of the Bishops, deprecating any change in the marriage laws. The thorough representative character of the memorial is evident when we note that it is subscribed by Lord Shaftesbury, Lord Beauchamp, Canon Liddon, and Rev. Edward Garbett.

Mr. George Waterton Prest, Organizing Secretary of the recently-formed "National Catholic Conservative Association," in a letter to the Tablet, tells the public that "the National Anthem and Queen's health are hissed in assemblies of Catholics!" So much for so-called Roman Catholic loyalty to our Protestant Queen. Mr. Prest, however, it is only fair to say, expresses his regret at this want of loyalty in many of his co-religionists.

The Bishop of Rochester has put forth an earnest appeal for ten new churches in South London, and has already received some munificent donations. He is, however, we think, justified in asking boldly for many more. The wealth of Churchman is undoubted; and how urgent the need is may be partly realized from the fact that seven parishes in Rochester diocese have a population of more than 20,000, five of more than 15,000, fourteen of more than 12,000, nineteen of more than 10,000.—The National Church.

The Bishop of Peterborough has appointed five readers for parishes in Northampton. In his address on the duties and responsibilities of the office of reader, his lordship said it was one of great antiquity and honor, and he regarded its revival in the Church of England as a token for good. In the best and purest days of the Church it was never her wish that ministrations should be confined to the clergy alone. A layman's position had been too much thought of as one to be exclusively ministered to, and too little as one to minister itself. The duties of a reader were not only to read the Scriptures, but to explain them to the infirm and sick, to search out the unbaptized, and in some cases also to preach.
