While cleaning the windows of a store at 1700 Dundas street, owned by store at 1700 Dundas street, owned by Lewis Bonguard, yesterday afternoon. William Flett of 25 Burnfield avenue, met with a painful accident. He was standing on a ladder attempting to reach the higher parts of the large front window when the ladder slipped on the icy pavement, and Flett, who is nearly sixty years of age and in feeble health, was thrown to the sidewalk froom a height of fifteen feet. He was picked up by Constable Alexander and conveyed to the Keele street police station, where Dr. Charles Gilmour attended him. It was found that besides suffering from the shock and several suffering from the shock and several severe bruises, the old man's arm was broken near the elbow. After medical treatment, however, he revived somewhat and was taken to his home.

More improvements are to be made in ward seven. The board of control have asked tenders for the construc-tion of a sewer from Jane street to Runnymede road and on Runnymede from Annette street to St. Clair avenue. Ardagh street from Runny-mede to Duric street is to be graded.

EAST YORONTO.

The Woodgreen Methodist Tabernacle, East Queen street, is being completely renovated. A new heating plant and complete electric lighting system are being installed, as well as new carpets and cushions. The total cost is to be about $11,000. Rev. Richard Corrigan, the pastor, hopes to reopen his church at Easter. At present the church services are being held in the Sunday school.

"We are not exactly crowded in our Sunday school," said Mr. Corrigan in referring to the change; "in fact we are exceedingly comfortable. We have about 500 members in our church."

A special meeting of the Thistletown branch of the West York Women's Institute will be held at Mrs. Willie Kingdon's house today at 2.30. Miss M. V. Powell of Whitby will address the meeting. Five Dropped Out at the Nomination Meeting Held Yesterday.

MY HORSE WON'T DRINK

City Water, Said One of Them Advocating a New Water

It was generally expected that the nomination meeting for the selection of candidates for the third deputy reeveship of York Township would be of more than usual interest, but few expected the near riot that actually took place.

The auditorium was crowded to capacity and a group of interested rate-payers jammed up the doorway cran-ing their necks to hear the various speakers.

Every section of the municipality was well represented, both by candidates and spectators. No less than 11 men were nominated for the vacancy,

Mark Maynard.

Many Speeches.

John T. Watson was voted into the chair and the ratepayers settled down to a speechfest unequaled in the history of the township. Not only the candidates, but many of their movers and seconders took the platform to make hot the ears of Reeve Syme and his colleagues not with spicy criticism. It was all good-humored, however, the meeting being convulsed with laughter frequently by the remarks of the hecklers, who were out in force.

marks of the hecklers, who were out in force.

Thomas Wilcox of Fairbank said that he was out to further the interests of the suburban sections of the township. A water supply was needed, also sewerage and more sidewalks, and he would do his best to bring about satisfactory results in this respect.

The Sunday school and gymnasium recently destroyed was one of the best church schools in the city.

ing water supply and sewerage. He was heartily in accord with the policy of Reeve Syme and his colleagues in these matters, and could promise to work in harmony with the present members of the council.

William McQueen of Runnymede scored building conditions in the township out that many persons ship, pointing out that many persons were erecting houses both in the real and frontage of small lots, to the detriment of sanitation and decency. He wanted more taxes imposed on the land and less on improvements, so that people might be free to improve their homes.

Samuel Clouston of Runnymede claimed that the income from statute labor tax was not fairly distributed and that the council had mot done its duty in the matter of garbage removal. He hoped to see the hydro lights extended to Runnymede soon, and hoped that the council would do its best to bring this about. He had decided to retire from the contest, but promised to be in the field next year to stay till the last vote was polled. to stay till the last vote was polled.

N. Boylen wanted the statute labor tax retained and arrangements made for farmers working out their tax by hauling gravel for the roads, as done in Vaughan Township. He also retired

Fire Protection Needed.

Charles T. Lacey did not think that sanitary conditions in the township were as bad as they were painted. He had moved out of the city to escape high rents and had no cause to regret the change. Fire protection in certain sections was an absolute necessity, he thought, and he was in favor of taking some action to make the city suping some action to make the city supply water to the township. He referred to his work as a school trustee in the Fairbank district, where his efforts to establish a new school had been successful. He announced his intention to stay in the fight till the last vote

Favore Ward System.
George Crosby, a Todmorden candidate, favored the abolition of the statute labor tax, which did not work out fairly to the east end, he thought, altho the council had done good work during the past year. He wanted the township divided into wards like the city, so that each district might have

Chance to Retire.

As announced by the township clerk, W. A. Clark, these names will go on the ballot paper unless some of them retire before 9 o'clock this evening.

The meeting closed with a short address from Reeve Syme, who promised to take the matter of drainage facilities before the railway board at an early date. He was delighted with the large attendance at the nomination meeting and assured the ratepayers that any candidate they selected would be well received by the council.

Isaac Walter Was Overcome When the Jury Awarded Him $667 Damages.

Great joy and excitement, caused by the fact that he was given judgment against the Metropolitan Railway Company for $667, resulted in Isaac Walter a farmer, residing at Richmond Hill, throwing a fit in the assize court yesterday afternoon, when Chief Justice Meredith announced the verdict given by the jury. When the fit came on Walters, Dr. Hastings, the medical health officer, and Dr. O. A. McNichol, who was being sued in another court for having struck a motor cyclist with his car, were summoned and gave medical assistance. Walters imagined that he had been locked up in jail and continually begged to be freed. When he had sufficiently fecovered he was conveyed to his home in a taxicab.

Last February Walters was struck by a Metropolitan car, while driving to his home in a sleigh, and as a result suffered serious injuries. The sleigh was damaged and the horse injured. He was given judgment for $500 for his injuries and $167 for the damages to the sleigh and the injuries to the horse.

NORTH TORONTO.

Robert Barker, a former third deputy reeve, appealed for the support of the electors on his past record of eight years' faithful service as a member of the York Township Council. He did not submit himself to the electors as a representative of any special district, but as a candidate who would do his duty for the township. There were many important issues to be dealt with by the council during this year, he said, particularly in the township's relations with the city, regarding water supply and sewerage.
