HAMILTON ALDERMEN DEBATE COMPENSATION

Bylaw, Which Did Not Provide For Hotelmen Paying More Than Others, Was Laid Over.

HAMILTON, Nov. 1.—(Special).—Ald. Morris, representing the temperance people of the city, got after Controller Allan at a meeting of the council to-night for the failure of finding out exactly what he meant to do in his proposal to compensate the hotelmen who might be cut off through a reduction in the number of licenses. The matter came up in connection with the bylaw, which the controller is asking to have submitted to the ratepayers for their sanction, asking them from the licensees to compensate the hotelmen who might be cut off by next year's council.

Ald. Morris said that Controller Allan's organ, The Spectator, had stated editorially that what he meant was that the hotelmen who were allowed to continue in business should help to compensate those who were cut off. Ald. Morris asked Controller Allan if that was what he meant, explaining that, if he did, there would be no objection to the clause, but that if he meant that the ratepayers should compensate the hotelmen, there would be objections.

Controller Allan's reply was not direct. He said he had thought that the best way to compensate those cut off would be to make the other hotelmen pay for it, by raising the license fees. It came out in the discussion, however, that Controller Allan's clause did not provide for the hotelmen paying any more of the compensation money than any other ratepayer. That was sufficient for Ald. Morris, and, at his request, the bylaw was left over for the time being.

The bylaw arranging the several matters in dispute between the city and the Cataract Power Co. was given its first reading, and the bylaw providing for the reduction of 20 per cent. on water rates for domestic purposes was adopted. Acting on the suggestion of the city solicitor, the council decided to take the case of Hurd v. City to the court of appeal.

Ald. Evans wanted the system of electing the controllers changed, but he was informed that the Municipal Act would not permit it. The council passed a clause in the street traffic bylaw, preventing the running of foot races on the streets. Ald. Ellis drew attention to the fact that the council had prevented The Herald and Spectator rates, but, as City Solicitor Waddell stated that it might be necessary for the police to exert their authority in connection with road racing some time, and it was therefore advisable that they should have something on which to act, the bylaw was adopted.

While working on the International Harvester Co. wharf about 1 o'clock this afternoon, William Pell, Lead-street, fell into the water and was nearly drowned. Some of his fellow workmen rescued him after he had come down for the second time, and he was taken to the City Hospital. He will recover. Pell is 27 years of age.

Two boys of about 12 years of age were arrested to-night on charges of breaking into vacant houses last night.

GIVE YOUR STOMACH A NICE VACATION

Don't Do It by Starving It Either—Let a Substitute Do the Work.

The old adage, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," applies just as well to the stomach, one of the most important organs of the human system, as it does to the man himself. If your stomach is worn out and rebels against being further taxed beyond its limit, the only sensible thing you can do is to give it a rest. Employ a substitute for a short time and see if it will not more than repay you in results.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a willing and most efficient substitute. They themselves digest every bit of food in the stomach in just the same way that the stomach would, were it well. They contain all the essential elements that the gastric juice and other digestive fluids of the stomach contain and actually act just the same and do just the same work as the natural fluids would do, were the stomach well and sound. They, therefore, relieve the stomach, just as one workman relieves another, and permit it to rest and recuperate and regain its normal health and strength.

This "vacation" idea was suggested by the letter of a prominent lawyer in Chicago. He says: "I was engaged in the most momentous undertaking in my life in bringing about the coalition of certain great interests that meant much to me as well as my clients. It was not the work of days, but of months; I was working night and day almost, when at a very critical time my stomach went clear back on me. The undue mental strain brought it about and hurried up what would have happened later on."

"What I ate I had to literally force down and that was a source of misery as I had a sour stomach much of the time. My head ached, I was sluggish and began to lose my ambition to carry out my undertaking. I looked pretty gloomy for me and I decided my plight to one of my clients. He had been cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and at once went down to a drug store and brought a box up to the office."

"I had not taken a quarter of that box before I found that they would do all the work my stomach ever did; and as a rest or vacation was put off the question for me I determined to give my stomach a vacation. I kept right on taking the tablets and braced up and went ahead with my work with renewed vigor, and just as much as I ever did and carried out that undertaking to a successful issue. I feel that I have Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to thank for saving me the handsomest fee I ever received as well as my reputation and last, but not least, my stomach."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box.

Baby Nearly Died with Itching Rash

Mrs. M. C. Maitland, of Jasper, Ont., tells in the following letter of her child's remarkable cure by the Cuticura Remedies:

"When my boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash which was very itchy and ran a watery fluid. We tried everything we could but he got worse all the time, till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body. He got so bad that he could not sleep, and he was so itchy that he would scratch till the blood ran and a thin yellowish stuff would be all over him. In the morning, I had to put mittens on his hands to prevent him tearing his skin. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was had about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the day, but for a long while. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that he could sleep. You don't know how glad I was to feel better. I took one box of Cuticura Ointment and pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap to cure him. I think our boy would have died had he not been cured by Cuticura. He has always remained a fat child of them. He was cured more than twenty years ago and there has been no return of the trouble."

No more convincing proof of the efficiency and economy of the Cuticura Remedies could be given. As in this instance, a single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Public Amusements

Married or single, happy or unhappy, for a funny side seeing the funny side of "Is Matrimony a Failure?" the Belasco comedy success which will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre next week. The play comes almost direct from seven months' run last season and two this at the Republic Theatre, New York, to this city. The identical New York cast and production will be seen here.

The dominant note of Bayard Veiller's new play "When A Has Been Seen" which is to be produced at the Royal Alexandra Theatre next week, is the appeal of the child. The central figure is a little seven-year-old boy, not one of those inarticulate bore-alonger too frequent on the stage, but a lovable, natural youngster who seems to have stepped out of real life. Seats on sale to-morrow.

The dramatic version of George Barr McCutcheon's celebrated romance, "Brewster's Millions," will be presented at the first time at less than dollar-fifty prices at the Grand next week. The play comes here with practically the same cast and vast scenic equipment that attended its upwards of a year's run in New York.

The new "Dainty Duchess" will be the attraction of the Gayety next week. The first part is styled "Bradley from Wall Street," and the second "Sultan for a Day."

The recital by Miss Ethel Coking in Association Hall last night, assisted by Mr. Hollinshead, tenor, and Mr. Blackford, violinist, drew a large audience. Miss Coking was her best in numerous pieces, also "The Raven," with a very sympathetic piano accompaniment played by Dr. Robb, showed young recitalists a new dramatic insight. Miss Coking is a pupil of Owen A. Smyly, and this versatile gentleman was responsible for one of the hits of the evening, a little patriotic poem entitled "They Are Singing Quite a Different Song To-Day." The incidental music consisted of a medley of "O Canada," "The Maple Leaf," and "The Red, White and Blue," and the lines marched to the rhythm of the music in a manner that brought forth applause at the end of each verse.

Commenting with the performance on Monday next, the attraction at the Star Theatre will be Edmond Hayes, the original "White Guy," in a new version of "The White Guy," which is undoubtedly worth a rival in extravaganzas or burlesques.

OSHAWA INAUGURATES SPLENDID NEW Y.M.C.A.

Institution Which Cost $24,000 Almost Paid For—A Record For Membership.

OSHAWA, Nov. 1.—(Special).—Oshawa's new Y. M. C. A. was dedicated to-night at a meeting held in the Simcoe-street Methodist Church, which was attended by about 1200 people.

The chief speaker was Gen. Archdeacon Cody of Toronto, who, in an inspiring address, dwelt on the history of the Y. M. C. A. movement, and the world-wide vision and world work of the institution, taking as his theme the words from the dedication of the biography of Sir George Williams, founder of the Y. M. C. A., "A whole Christ for my salvation; a whole Bible for my inspiration; a whole world for my parish."

The word Christian, said the archdeacon, implied something more than merely human, than merely national, than a mere local patriotism. He also touched on the great opportunities which lay before Canada, lying as it does in the central point between two great continents, Asia and Europe, opportunities of contact and mission, and between the nations on the great race questions.

Among the other speakers were the provincial secretary, J. W. Hopkins; the general secretary, F. Hancock, and an international secretary from the United States. The mayor welcomed the advent of the institution on behalf of the town.

After the meeting, over a thousand people adjourned to the new building, where an orchestra was in attendance, and refreshments were served. Another meeting will be held to-morrow night, at which H. A. Calhoun of Montreal, international secretary, will be the speaker.

The Oshawa Y. M. C. A. occupies a unique position in Canada, in that it starts in with a building and equipment almost paid for, and a membership already almost a record one for towns of its size.

The building is a handsome one of three stories and a basement, centrally located and equipped in the most modern manner, with gymnasium, bowling alleys, billiard rooms, shower baths, swimming pool and comfortable dormitories. The cost, including equipment, is in the neighborhood of $24,000.

Three days ago the membership was all; before the building was opened it had grown to 200, and a limit of 400 has been set, which, it is expected, will be attained within a week.

It is felt that if such an institution is launched on such a scale and on a firm financial basis from the start, it will furnish a precedent, which will be followed by many other places throughout Canada, which are at present without the Y. M. C. A.

Telephones will be installed in the custom house, Front and Yonge-streets, and the examining warehouse, Yonge and Esplanade.

U.S. NEEDS AT LEAST TWENTY AEROPLANES

Chief Signal Officer Says They Should Be in Every Instruction Camp For Regulars and Militia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Twenty aeroplanes at least are needed for the United States government service, says General James Allen, chief signal officer of the army, in his annual report made public to-night.

General Allen deprecates the fact that the United States government is not keeping pace with the world in the development of military aeroplanes. The aero equipment of the United States army consists of one small practice dirigible balloon, one Wright aeroplane, and three small captive balloons, says the general.

The Signal Corps has only one lieutenant and nine enlisted men on duty in connection with aeroplanes, and General Allen says, until the corps is increased by higher grades of training, judgment and courage than any other branch of the military service.

General Allen combats the assertion that the United States, owing to its isolated position, is not likely to become involved in war, and that therefore the most economical procedure is to centralize the military department. He says that nations have determined upon the types best suited to military purposes, thus shifting the expense of experiment and development to other nations.

Further, he says, "experienced military airmen cannot be created after war is declared, and the demands of this new service undoubtedly will require higher grades of training, judgment and courage than any other branch of the military service."

General Allen recommends legislation looking to definite federal control of wireless telegraphy and telephony.
