

The Mission Band.

The Mission Band re-assembled November 29th, and continues to meet fortnightly on Thursday afternoon from three o'clock until six.

The meetings are well attended, and the interest in the work seems to deepen each year; and so the time passes all too quickly. For, besides the more practical work of sewing, we have papers on mission work read by some of our members. That these papers may prove interesting and instructive, the society has again been divided into groups, each representing some field in the home or foreign mission work.

One part of our work which has proved very successful is that of introducing the ladies of the congregation to one another, and we very cordially invite any who may not be able to become regular members to come and visit us as they have opportunity.

The practical work done by the society has been very satisfactory.

The garments for the Hervey Institute were finished and much appreciated.

At present we are engaged at making garments for the poor.

The funds of the society are raised by a small membership fee, and are devoted to buying material for our work. This year, through the kindness of friends, it has not been necessary to spend much in that way, and it was decided at our last meeting to devote $30 of our funds towards the support of our missionary in China.

Before closing we would gratefully acknowledge the donations of money and materials we have received throughout the year from friends of the society.

Respectfully submitted

CHRISTINA DAVIDSON,

Secretary.
