But American Bankers' Association

Oppose Postal Savings Scheme. CHICAGO, Sept. 17 .- The delegates to the 25th annual convention of the American Bankers' Association to-day selected Los Angeles as their next meeting place, and adjourned until the fall of next year. Among the results of the conference of bankers, numbering close to 5000; and representing every state in the unanimous union, their practically condemnation of postal savings banks and legislation guaranteeing bank deposits stands out distinctly. On the affirmative side strong sentiment favoring the establishment of a central bank for the entire country received approval from many bankers and was advocated in the annual address of the president. A resolution pledging the association to seek legislation looking to the establishment of such segregated savings departments faled of passage today, and was referred to the currency commission for it's consideration.
