G. T. P. Commissioners Reticent as to Plans

MET BOARD OF TRADE

And Heard Advantages of Different Routes Presented—However They Did Not Commit Themselves, Nor Would They Intimate Which Route They Prefer.

The transcontinental railway commissioners, Hon. S. N. Parent, chairman, Robert Reid, C. Young and C. F. Meliss, who arrived here last evening were given a drive about the city this morning and an opportunity was afforded them of viewing the harbor front and Courtney Bay to which they could form an intelligent idea as to St. John's resources as a shipping port.

About 10:30 o'clock they met the members of the board of trade, but had nothing to say as to which of the proposed routes through New Brunswick would be selected.

Besides the commissioners there were present at the meeting: President H. B. Schofield, Alex. Macaulay, J. H. McCollobie, Edward Lantlam, M.P.P., George Robertson, M.P.P., W. S. Fisher, Theo. H. Eastwood, T. A. Sumner, W. W. Hatheway, W. E. Foster, S. D. Scott, C. M. Botwick, W. E. Vroom, F. B. Robinson, C. J. Milligan, H. A. McKeown, Col. H. H. McLean, R. O'Brien, Charles McDonald, J. J. Foote and J. J. Purdy, M.P.P.

Mayor White welcomed the commissioners to St. John. The mayor welcomed the visitors and spoke on the question of the proposed route. President Schofield spoke about St. John's present facilities and the possibility of extending them both on the west side and at Courtney Bay, so that all the accommodation necessary for a hundred years to come could be supplied.

Hon. Mr. Parent thanked the members of the board and the mayor for their welcome. He said the commissioners did not come here with the intention of committing themselves as to what route would be chosen, but to get information as to which would be the more profitable route.

They were very much impressed with what they saw and took into consideration the matter before reaching a decision. The contract between the government and the G. T. P. railway called for a line from Winnipeg to Moncton, if no change was made later on. If, on the one hand, they were bound to build the shortest and cheapest route they could not neglect the question of the revenue that would be liable to be derived from either line. He was content to handle and that improvements would be needed to the facilities in St. John, which was now one of the best ports of the Dominion. He referred to the endeavor which was being made to have the government provide a bridge between Quebec and New Brunswick, so that

PAT CROWE CLAIMS YOUNG CUDAHY GOT HIS SHARE OF BOOTY

Sensational Story That Millionaire Cudahy's Son Himself Suggested Kidnapping Plan and "Worked" His Father for $25,000—When Money Was Paid He Got His Share

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—A Butte, Mont. dispatch to the World says that the man calling himself Pat Crowe, who was arrested in Butte, Monday night by two detectives after he had been about the city for a week made a statement last night relative to the kidnapping of Eddie Cudahy declaring that the proposition "to work" the boy's father for a ransom came from the boy himself.

Edward A. Cudahy Jr. was 15 years old at the time he was kidnaped, December 18, 1900 but according to the account given by Crowe the boy disappeared November 18, 1900.

Crowe gives the story of his life and says he was a prosperous butcher in South Omaha when the older Cudahy came there building a packing house and drove him out of business.

Crowe says the boy himself first broached the subject of working his father's feelings for a big ransom. At first Crowe paid no attention to the proposal but it was repeated later, he says, and with such detail that he concluded to go into the alleged plot with the boy. A third party was with them but he got frightened, believing the scheme was a trap.

The story of Crowe as to how the kidnaping was worked and how Cudahy drove out into a lonesome place and left the money against with the first published reports of the affair, but Crowe says young Cudahy was a leading spirit in the adventure and was never a prisoner. The three divided the $25,000, young Cudahy being given $6,000 as his share.

Both the boy and his father had returned for the night when the news of Crowe's version of the origin of the plot reached Omaha, and Mrs. Cudahy refused to disturb them, declaring the suggestion was so manifestly absurd that it was unworthy of credence.

AMLAND BROS. BUY BUILDING They Secure Brick Block Formerly Occupied by Crothers, Henderson & Wilson.

His Grace of Battenburg Wants to Shoot a Moose

AMLAND Brothers, dealers in furniture and household goods on Waterloo street, have purchased the large three-story building on the east side of Waterloo street formerly occupied by Crothers, Henderson and Wilson as a carriage factory and will convert it into a large warehouse for their goods.

The new building will give the firm greatly increased accommodation for the storage of their goods as well as better equipped quarters and more facilities for manufacturing and upholding. The dimensions of the new building are 100 feet long by about 50 feet wide and three stories high, with a large basement.

The firm has felt the need of more room for some time and it is expected that when they are established in their new quarters they will be in a better position to cater to the wants of the public.

A DREADFUL AFFAIR

A shocking incident occurred on one of the city streets last evening. A man was seen lurking in the neighborhood of a house which had in it several windows. Several other men saw the man who was lurking. They watched him. He continued to lurk. They continued to watch. The suspense became oppressive. Still the man lurked. They waited. It was evident that the latter had dark designs. It was a dark night. The watchers waited. Presently the man who was lurking went into the house with the windows in it, and did not come out again. The watchers waited for some time, and then told a
