PROMOTIONS IN THIRD BRIGADE ARE ANNOUNCED

Follow On Appointment of Major Gamblin to Command

MAJOR DODGE NOW
HEADS 6TH BATTERY

Captain Anglin Succeeds
Him—Captain Harris Here
Checking Up

Major George A. Gamblin, M.C., today takes over command of the Third New Brunswick Light Brigade, Canadian artillery, succeeding Lieut.-Col. Norman P. MacLeod, M.C., whose term of command has expired after good service in that capacity since 1922.

Several promotions follow on this change. Major A. A. Dodge succeeds Major Gamblin in charge of the 6th Siege Battery, and Capt. A. I. Anglin follows Major Dodge in command of the 4th Siege Battery. Captain Anglin also has been adjutant. No appointment to this post has yet been gazetted. Captain Harris of the ordnance department is here from Halifax checking up stores in connection with the military changes.

THE NEW O. C.

Major George A. Gamblin, M.C., who succeeds Lieutenant Colonel MacLeod, is a native of Queens county but for years resided in Saint John. He was commissioned in 1908 as lieutenant in the Third Battery, Canadian Garrison Artillery. Going overseas as captain with the first section of the Second Canadian Divisional Ammunition Column, he saw active service with this branch of the Canadian army until the Armistice brought the war to a close. He was awarded the Military Cross during the conflict.

Upon re-organization of the Third New Brunswick Brigade, Captain Gamblin was appointed adjutant in charge of the Sixth Siege Battery and in 1920 he was gazetted as major. His promotion to colonel's rank is expected to be gazetted very soon.

MACKEREL SCHOOLS REACH BAY OF FUNDY

Some Caught in Lower Bay—
Local Shad Catch Yet
Light

The advance guard of the southern mackerel schools on their way from southern waters to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Bay Chaleur and even farther north, has reached the lower Bay of Fundy, the first mackerel of the season having been caught yesterday at the Sandford trap, off Yarmouth. Within a few days it is probable that there will be a limited supply of big, fat fish in the Saint John retail market. The first fish caught in the lower bay were of large size.

The Canadian Government fisheries protective cruiser, Arctus, Captain Cousins in command, put to sea early in the week to protect the mackerel fishery within the legal three mile limit from possible encroachments by the large fleet of Boston, Gloucester, Mass., and Portland seining vessels which have been following the big schools up the United States coast.

SHAD FISHING

Saint John fish dealers stated today that there had been a big slump in the Boston shad market, and that the situation here was more or less uncertain. Locally, the prices on the opening day of the season were 70 to 75 cents a fish. Since then the quotation has varied from 60 to 65 cents.

Catches in Saint John harbor and in nearby waters have been light to date. Many of the local fishermen have been shipping shad direct to the Boston commission men.

HERE FROM ENGLAND ON OIL BUSINESS

Dr. J. A. L. Henderson Speaks of Operations Near Moncton

Dr. J. A. L. Henderson, of London, Eng., vice-president of the N. B. Gas and Oil Fields, Ltd., which company is controlled by Edinboro capital, is in Saint John on his annual visit to the fields of the company. He also is a member of the council of the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy of Great Britain as well as a member of the oil advisory committee of the Imperial Mineral Resources Committee. He was one of the founders of the Institute of Petroleum Technologists of Great Britain.

Dr. Henderson has been visiting the company's plant at Moncton. About a month ago the work of drilling two new oil wells was started and oil was struck in one at a depth of 2,000 feet. The other well has been sunk 2,000 feet and drilling is being continued. He said the company also was spending a considerable amount in drilling for gas for replacement purposes. Present gas production was sufficient to supply the demands of Moncton and Hillsboro, and the oil production was coming along. It was thought that production in fair quantities soon would be reached.

Dr. Henderson intends remaining in New Brunswick about a month, making his headquarters at Moncton.

BIBLE OF 1634 COMES TO LIGHT IN SAINT JOHN

John Wright's Volume Antedates J. Murdock's Pilgrim's Progress

While the "The Pilgrim's Progress," printed in 1652, and owned by J. Murdock of Saint John, and referred to the other day, is a rare volume, John Wright of First street, this city, has an older book, which undoubtedly is one of the oldest in the province. His book is the King James version of the Bible and in the volume is also the Anglican Prayer Book. This volume was published in England, presumably Oxford, in 1634, during the reign of King Charles I, son and successor of James.

The old Bible belonged to one Ann Ward and came into the hands of Captain John Charters by purchase, in Dublin, in 1805. In 1852 the volume was purchased by George Kerr, grandfather of the present owner. Mr. Kerr was then living in Scotland and brought the Bible with him when he came to New Brunswick, settling at Chatham nearly 100 years ago.

The book is bound in leather and is in good state of preservation, except that a few leaves are missing. The printing of the early Stuart period. The Scripture portion of the volume contains the Apocryphal books of the larger Bibles read in Anglican churches, an illustrated genealogical table of the Israelitish tribes and several features of the ritual of those times.

EMPIRE TOPICS IN SCHOOLS TOMORROW

Special Programs—Presentation of Picture of Miss Warner at High School

Tomorrow will be observed in the Saint John schools as Empire Day, with special exercises and programs dealing with Canadian and Empire affairs. At the High School the exercises will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and a fine program has been prepared. As the assembly hall is sufficient about to seat the pupils the caring for interested visitors is quite a problem. It was said this morning by the principal, W. J. S. Myles, but they would try and make seats for all who attended.

A special feature of the program will be presentation to the school of a picture of Miss A. Warner, who was killed in New York. Miss Warner was one of the Canadian heroines of the Great War.

COMPLAINT MADE AND IS REPLIED TO

Matter of Consumer Coal Company Referred to By Commissioner Frink

Commissioner Frink said this morning that he was investigating a complaint from residents of the southern end of Charlotte street and that vicinity that a part of Broad street was being used by the Consumers Coal Company as a coal yard. The claim was that on the south side of Broad street and wagons of the company were stored and that the sidewalk was being used to screen coal. C. G. Price, street superintendent, made an inspection today. The commissioner said he intended to bring the matter to the attention of the Common Council.

MANAGER'S STATEMENT

H. N. Stetson, manager of the Consumers Coal Company, said that his firm had never, so far as he could recall, screened coal on the sidewalk in Broad street. There were using a shed there for storage of coal and sometimes the coal was screened in the shed before delivery. In regard to the sheds and wagons he said that these were at the entrance to the shed and if it was felt by the city authorities that they were encroaching on the sidewalk they would, on request, be removed.
