

1000 LBS. GENUINE ALABASTINE WALL COATING. 5000 ROLLS WALL PAPER. Cheap to Finest Tints and Patterns. 40cts. A ROLL AND UP. W. S. LOGGIE COY., LIMITED.

Miramichi and the North Shore, etc.

New Highway Act - Forms under the new Highway Act are for sale at the Advance Office.

St. Nelson was launched yesterday morning and is to make her first trip of the season tomorrow.

The Ferry Service began her regular trip yesterday. The Hon. Mr. T. J. Stewart, Mayor and Aldermen last Wednesday evening that an increased subsidy - $500 - was available for this service.

SWORN BY - Jas. F. Connors, Esq., Chatham's newly appointed police magistrate was sworn into office yesterday by His Honor Judge Wilkinson.

The Police Magistrate will attend every week-day morning at ten o'clock at the police court held in the Chatham Civil Court every Thursday adjourned in sessions of debt up to eighty dollars arising in any part of Northumberland.

WAGON AGAIN - The World appears to be so rattled over the appointment of Mr. Connors to the police magistracy of Chatham that it continues to be quite reckless in its statements in almost any matter affecting that gentleman.

REMOVED - Mr. N. S. is said to have tendered his resignation as one of the Aldermen for Kings Ward, Chatham, and the Sun's correspondent says: "V. L. Stewart is spoken of as a likely man, but whether Mr. Stewart will accept the nomination or not is doubtful."

ATTEMPT TO BURN A BRIDGE - One day last week an unsuccessful attempt was made to burn the bridge across the Coanigue river on the McLaughlin road, about twelve miles from Moncton.

PARSONAL - Major J. J. Stuart and Mrs. Stuart, returned to Chatham by Tuesday night's express, after a tour of Great Britain and the Continent extending over several months.

President Stewart of the Maritime Sulphite Fire Company, is in town this week.

Jas. Robinson, Esq., M. P. and Hon. Senator Adams have been spending their Easter parliamentary holidays home.

Hon. Senator Snowball is to return to his parliamentary duties at Ottawa on Saturday.

Mr. Stewart Benson of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Halifax, writes to the Advance by night's express on a visit to his relatives here, preparatory to his leaving for the Kingston Jamaica agency of the bank, which has been transferred.

MORE MISREPRESENTATION - Not content with slandering members of the government and inventing mistakings concerning their certain acts, the World now intimates that the editor of this paper has written certain editorials which have appeared in the St. John's Gazette.

WHO? The Sun in its correspondence columns says: "The ADVANCE states that the four members for Northumberland recommended Mr. Connors for the police magistracy."

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

WHO? The Sun in its correspondence columns says: "The ADVANCE states that the four members for Northumberland recommended Mr. Connors for the police magistracy."

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

It is interesting to note that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life. He has enough to do to attend to his own business and his own paper, while the editor of the Gazette, especially when he is in the Gazette, is concerned, however, we may state that the editor of the ADVANCE never wrote a line for this paper in his life.

to be his name for a report signed by his friends and sent to the Globe for publication.

The decision of the Committee of Presbytery before whom the investigation was held must be known to Mr. Thomson, and we are surprised that, having knowledge of it, he would venture to write to the Globe in the tone he has adopted towards the ADVANCE. We would rather accept the views of the committee than those of the parties who "artificially" promise, for we venture to predict that they are not persons whose views on the subject will influence public opinion in the least.

There was not the slightest foundation in fact for these misstatements and misrepresentations published by the World, the people of Chatham, to whom the majority of the support, have the right to enquire why they were made by it over the appointment referred to.

Did the editor invent the report of the premier's alleged speech in council which he embodied in his editorial? He must have done so. If he will claim that he did not, can he inform those who were deceived by it, who it was that wrote it? If he did invent it what must be thought of his honesty to conduct a paper amongst those whose class prejudices he attempted to inflame? In any case, what dependence can be placed upon his statements respecting matters of public concern? And, further, how much better is it that the Thomson and the petitioners, but unfairly failed in their efforts, the petitioners declaring that they could on no account go back to the congregation while Mr. Thomson continued to be pastor?

Further, Mr. Thomson will hardly have the temerity to deny one fact known to the people of Chatham generally, viz. that the committee of Presbytery unanimously came to the conclusion to advise him to tender his resignation of his pastoral charge of St. Luke's, and that he, being called before the committee and informed of its decision, refused to do so.

It is, of course, an easy thing for Mr. Thomson to employ vulgar language and slanders of falsehoods, but that appears to be his habit. He has been arraigned for even worse offences than that, and his conduct, we regret to say, has shown that he is not restrained by any sense of right or decency when his selfish interests or natural inclinations tempt him to ignore the moral obligations which should, at least, govern a clergyman. Any refutations, therefore, which such a person may make upon the honor or truthfulness of others must be considered in the light of his own reputation.

The sonnet Mr. Thomson has written for himself is a specimen of his literary talents, but it is not necessary to publish it, as it is a mere obligation devolving upon him as a clergyman, the public will never believe that he has repeated so long as he continues in his old practice of assailing everyone who tells the truth about him.

Flourishing the Dead and Cheating the Living - A Vancouver despatch of 15th inst. says: "The aftermath of the terrible catastrophe at Florida, which resulted in the loss of 2000 lives, has been a source of great grief to the people of that city."

What are we to do? To declare war, proclaim the independence of Cuba and send our war vessels to bombard Havana and other Spanish possessions in the West Indies, or to let the matter rest at that, and let the matter rest at that, and let the matter rest at that.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

to the other morning with overcoats belonging to other guests.

One hundred men are now at work on the new Moosey pulp mill at Miramichi. The U. S. is negotiating for the purchase of the steamers of the D. A. Railway.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

St. John Letter - The Spanish Armada which Philip of Spain attempted to conquer Britain, consisted of 130 ships, 3,165 cannon, 8,766 sailors, 2,088 galley slaves, 21,850 soldiers, 1,365 volunteers and 150 monks. Such a fleet was regarded as very formidable in the days of the Armada but it is likely to be annihilated in a day by a first class battle ship of our time.

Centre of Attraction For MEN'S and BOYS' CLOTHING. 100 suits to select from. PERFECT FITTING - and - GENUINE GOODS at low prices. CREAMER'S SPRING 1898. We are sole Agents For PERRIN FRERES NOTED KID GLOVES. Special Purchase For the Easter Trade. New Embroideries, Veilings, Ribbons, Laces. Our SPECIAL 50 Ct. LINE. Remember we are sole agent for P. D. CORSETS. Our Season's Stock of Hosiery is imported direct from Manufacturers.

W. T. HARRIS WANTS YOU TO WATCH THIS PLACE. friend of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, Miss Ferguson resolved to give them a trial, and requested her sister to get a box. Following the directions carefully she began to take them a day by day and by day she began to feel better and her spirits to return, and in the course of a few weeks she walked a mile to the post office and home again. Miss Ferguson continued taking the pills until she had seen eight light boxes, when she was completely restored to health and happiness. She was again strong and healthy. While ill she had greatly run down in weight, and at the time she began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, she weighed 102 pounds, and when she had completed the eighth box her weight had increased to 141 pounds. Only one month ago she called at the house of the editor of this paper to leave her address to have the Reporter forwarded to her at Arlington, Mass. During the moment's conversation with her the above facts were told to Mr. W. A. Richardson, the editor, and with beaming countenance Miss Ferguson willingly agreed to have him tell the people of Chatham, N. B., that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills brought her from the gates of death to the enjoyments of health. He was astonished, as being well acquainted with her when in Sydney, knowing how ill she was and seeing her a physically changed person was enough to cause anyone to be amazed at the above facts.

SCOTT'S EMULSION Of Pure Cod Liver Oil and HYPOPHOSPHITES of Lime and Soda. Scott's Emulsion is a perfect food for the system, and is especially adapted for consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, and Colds. PALE AT AS MILK. Scott's Emulsion is only put up in salmon color boxes. Avoid all imitations and substitutions. Sold by all Druggists at 1/6, and 1/3. SCOTT & BOWNE, BOSTON.

ONLY TO REMIND YOU THAT EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT JOSIE NOONAN HAS THE Correct Shapes IN Sailor Hats. BARGAINS 16c. each to 99c. each. SEED WHEAT! The Subscriber has for sale 100 bushels of Spring Seed Wheat, known as the Searle wheat. It is a Russian variety, very sound and prolific. GEO. P. SEARLE. HICKEY'S DRUG STORE.

LOOK, LOOK! Dressing Well Is Quite Easy When You Know How to Do It. There are two many women who are careless about their home goods. They imagine they are thrifty or economical because they put on from day to day a faded or dingy dress or skirt. Such women are neither economical nor thrifty. They are either ignorant or indifferent to the feelings of their family and friends when they act thus. At an expense of from ten to twenty cents for one or two packages of Diamond Dyes any woman can make her faded gowns or dresses look as new. This kind of home work is a wisdom and thrifty economy. This spring thousands of wise and thrifty women are using the Diamond Dyes, giving new life to old and cast-off dresses and costumes, fitting them for another season's wear. When you decide to dye, do not risk your materials with poor dyes or imitations of the Diamond Dyes; that work your dealer gives you the "Diamond" that works so easily and successfully.

LOOK, LOOK! Dressing Well Is Quite Easy When You Know How to Do It. There are two many women who are careless about their home goods. They imagine they are thrifty or economical because they put on from day to day a faded or dingy dress or skirt. Such women are neither economical nor thrifty. They are either ignorant or indifferent to the feelings of their family and friends when they act thus. At an expense of from ten to twenty cents for one or two packages of Diamond Dyes any woman can make her faded gowns or dresses look as new. This kind of home work is a wisdom and thrifty economy. This spring thousands of wise and thrifty women are using the Diamond Dyes, giving new life to old and cast-off dresses and costumes, fitting them for another season's wear. When you decide to dye, do not risk your materials with poor dyes or imitations of the Diamond Dyes; that work your dealer gives you the "Diamond" that works so easily and successfully.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral. "I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs, and I did not find relief in such cases, notwithstanding I then consulted a doctor, who found on examining me, that the upper part of the left lung was badly affected. The medicines he gave me did not seem to do any good, and I determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking a few doses my trouble was relieved, and before I had finished the bottle I was cured. - A. L. LAFRANCE, Westchester, Orangeburg, Ont. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Highest Award at World's Fair. Ayer's Pills Cure Indigestion.