The excitement of the week has not been very many, but most enjoyable.

Mrs. Walter Jones' dance on Thursday evening was the event of the week, and one of the prettiest dances of the season. The evening was delightfully cool after the very hot day, and the lawn and grounds of the Bower, Mrs. Jones' residence at the Arm, were very prettily illuminated and much patronized for sitting out, by people weary with dancing. The house was beautifully arranged, both drawing room and dining room being used for dancing, and the music supplied by the Italian harpers was excellent.

Mrs. Jones who looked very well in pink, received her guests in the library and made a very successful hostess. A running supper was served throughout the evening. People looked well as a rule, but there were no very remarkable toilettes.

The members of the Crescent Bicycle clubs whose meet have fallen into desuetude this year owing to the superior attractions of golf, gave an evening party on Friday at the Bowers' club house, Prince Lodge.

The meet was at the Willow tree Quinpool road, and after the ride up there was supper and dancing. Only old members of the club of course invited.

Mrs. Montgomery Moore had a small dinner last week, but there was no dancing afterwards, as has been the rule of late at Bellevue. I hear there will be a small dance given there later on.

The engagement of Prince Victor Dupleix Singh to Lady Anne Coventry, which has recently been announced, has made a great sensation in London society, as it is the first alliance which has ever been contemplated between an Indian Prince and a member of the English nobility. Prince Victor is of course thoroughly Anglicized and his mother was a European, but the fact of his East Indian blood remains. The late Maharajah was a political thorn in the side of the English government, but Prince Victor has never shown any sympathy with Indian politics, and if he had, his proposed marriage would put an end to it. His sister Princess Sophia Dupleix Singh, is very pretty, and has made a great sensation in English society.

The engagement is announced of a young Halifax man, interested in gold mining, and a certain charming young American lady, who has a sister married in Halifax and spent last summer with her. The marriage will take place this autumn, when there will also be another wedding, which will interest many people, that of Miss Twining and Mr. Abbott.

Dr. Mrs. and Miss Sharer of Baltimore, are spending the summer at Jubilee, and have very wisely brought their carriage and horses with them a fashion which is likely to be widely copied by American visitors.

Hen. T. Brand, R. N., left last week for Niagara and other points of interest in the upper provinces. Dr. Lewis also left for England to join his daughter, Mrs. Howe, whose health has much improved of late.

Mrs. Maul, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, is shortly expected on a visit to her parents.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wythe, of Montreal, are making a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wythe Morris street. Mrs. Wythe who was well known here as Miss Budden, has been warmly welcomed by her friends.

The hunt-governor and Judge Henry have returned from their fishing trip and had very good luck.

The yacht club has been more fashionable than ever this year on Saturday afternoon, and every sort and description of gown can be seen there.

Mrs. F. Jones, as the wife of the commodore, is the hostess for the season.

There was a small dance at Admiralty House on Wednesday evening. The Crescent band supplied the music and the grounds were beautifully illuminated. It was one of the nicest events of the season and many pretty gowns saw light for the first time.

PARRSBO.

[Progress is for sale at Parrsboro Book Store.]

JULY 14.—The Methodist Sunday school had a most enjoyable trip to Wolfville on Saturday. The storm on Friday night cleared the air and the morning was perfect when the Evangelists filed to its utmost capacity left the pier at a little before seven o'clock. A few belated ones who arrived after the regulation number had been taken on board mournfully watched the boat steam away. On arriving at Wolfville at nine, the college campus was very kindly allowed the children for their sports and the Skoda building still prettily decorated and fitted up, with tables as a fair had been held there the day before was placed at their disposal for lunch. There were a good many grown people as well as children some took their wheels and others went driving. Mr. Rupert Harris was most kind in taking a part out in a large team in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Harris and their children also came to Parrsboro on the boat when it returned in the evening and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McLeod. Wolfville is everywhere in very lovely just now, so is the country around it.

Mr. Robert Cowans of Montreal, his daughter Mrs. Cains and Miss Beals are at Partridge Island. Rev. Robert Johnstone and Mrs. Johnstone went to Halifax last week. Mr. Johnstone returning on Friday.

Miss Alice Howard is at present in Boston. Rev. Mr. Dill of Summerside is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. McLeod.
