Oh, let them build their lofty rhyme As e'en so e'er they may; But give me still-If so you will-Another word to say : Now here to all Tall, fat, and small, I vow I'd rather die Then miss the bliss that's in a kiss When taken on the sly.

The Mineral Wealth of Canada. The mineral wealth of the country prom ises in time to employ a large portion of that hardy floating population which has in the past been attracted to the neighboring States by the apparently high prices offered there but if that employment is to be constant, steady, and secure, care will have to be taken that outsiders do not control the stock as they have done in one lamentable instance-that of the Acton. That wealthy mine fell into the hands of some Boston speculators who paid $250,000 for it, and then formed a company with a paid up capital of about $3,000,000. The capital is entitled to 12 per cen', and the consequence is that although the mine is very rich, it does not pay expenses, the interest required to satiate the maws of the Boston cormorants exceed ing the price at which labor can be convert ed into capital. This is clearly set forth in the last annual report of the Company, It was expected that $10,000 a month clear profit would be derived from the workings but the fact is that it has merely paid its way. This "breakdown" should prove warning. If the same trick be repeated the wealthiest mineral country on the North ern continent will be brought into deep although unmerited disrepute .- Montrea

Ladies' Head-Gear. A writer from Saratoga, in the Boston

Journal says : I have heard a great deal since I have been here about rats and mice that ladies wear, and of the waterfalls that drip from their heads. It was a long time before I could understand the matter. But the fact seems to be this: The hair is worn in a peculiar way. The large puffs that bulge out the back of the hair are rats. The small ones that do the same service to the sides are mice-and the broad bands, plait are called waterfalls. Cards are strewn to the unitiated, seems rather odd.

THE HOLY PLACES .- A Paris letter in that France and Russis have come to an understanding, through their ambassadors, to put an end to the irreconcilable pretensions the Holy Sepulchre by leaving the great cupola in its present architectural state. The building is to be restored, without any change being made, or any embellishment added. For that purpose, photographic views of the interior would be taken, and architects would have orders to effect the reparation according to those copies; a l'ussian eagle, however, is to be sculptured in the interior of the dome on one side, and the Imperial French eagle on the other What will the Orientals say to that in

To Husbands.—Winter wood prepared in advance and well seasoned, will make a sweet tempered wife, a warm room, and a cleanly well cooked meal. It will cost less wood. It will work easier when dry than when green, It will make more ashes, which are among the best of manures. It will be a satisfaction to a man to know he he has much wood on hand. Your fire will seldom go out and if it does it can readily be built with seasoned wood, but can it with green?
