

loga: his Institutes, the production of a young man of twenty-seven, and besides that, prepared as an apology for Protestantism to Francis, the French king. If the apostle Paul forbade early Christians to say "I am of Paul and I, of Apollos and I, of Cephas," we who know better than they should not say I am of Calvin, or of any other man. Were I to give title to a book, setting forth Scriptural doctrine, I should call it Was ist die Wahrheit!" or What is Truth? and not, What is Calvinism?

Two missionary papers came from Calir and Stuttgart in Wirtemberg. One is the Calwer Missionsblatt, the other the Missionblatt für Kinder.⁵ Both are illustrated. The former deals with The Woman question in Japan, gives mission news from the Carolines, Mexico and the United States, and mission correspondence from Greenland and China. The Juvenile Mission Leaf is in its forty-sixth year, but has not grown much in that time. There used to be little, old-fashioned mission papers for children in Britain, but their race, I think, is run.
