circumspection in dealing with their fellows get along better than men of chivalrous in stincts, delicate sensibilities and that generous creduity which those practice who, never meditating wrong themselves, never suspect it in others. The gentleman in the best acceptation of that term finds Jordan an embarrassing road to travel, and often sighs to be at the end of the journey. He is annoyed by impertiment inquisitiveness, saddened by meanness, and often robbed by rascals who have taken his measure as the hawk does of some gentler bird it selects for prey. The public men in this country who have had a high code of eithies have been constantly misunderstood. The rough and ready mass will not understand reserve, and the schemers and scamps laugh at honesty. Even in the very domestic circle foo fine a sense of the proprishes muses its mark, and society only recognizes surface manners. It does not care to go deeper. In fact it dore not do so. It is a melanchely thing that the man who educates his children as nearly as possible to an ideal plane of thought and conduct simply prepares them for sorrow and mishaps. What a transition from the ingenuous, confiding and noblem from the ingenuous, confiding and mobile spirited young man of 21 and the sobered and hardened man of 50, who has seen all illuvious transled in the mire. Still, for all this, it is better to aim high, live purely and sincevely, and, even at the cost of isolation, preserve your own soul from signas or stain. Even the world does late justice over the graves of shose who had the courage to speak and act the truth.

-So rapidly does lung irritation spread and —So rapidly does lung irritation spread and deepen that in a few weeks a simple cough culminates in tubercular consumption. Give heed to a cough, there is always danger in delay, get a bottle of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Byrup and cure yourself. It is a medicine unsurpassed for all throat and lung troubles. It is compounded from several herbs, each one of which stands at the head of the list as exerting a wonderful influence in curing consumption and all lung diseases.

or in New York in their coture and Canadian or medical schools when the confederation of the universities is completed. We then spoke of the manner in which the whole subject of medicine had been overlooked by the original committee on confederation. No representation from the affiliated medical schools was asked for on that committee nor original committee on confederation. No representation from the affiliated medical schools was asked for on that committee nor have we since even heard, from any one in authority, of the appointment of a medical faculty in connection with the new university. It is well known that some of the greatest universities of Europe owe their reputation to the powerful medical faculties in connection with them.

We have often been surprised at the short-sighted policy which the authorities of the University of Toronte have shown with results to its medical department. We hope that a change will now he made, and that in-
