

Delegates

UNITED STATES

MRS. MARY WOOD SWIFT

SWIFT, MARY WOOD, President of the National Council of Women of the United States. Representative from California for the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the National Council at Washington. She is the widow of John F. Swift, for many years American Ambassador to Japan. A woman of brilliant personality, with a marked talent for organization. She has taken a leading part in club and society life in San Francisco.

AVERY, MRS. RACHEL FOSTER, has been for thirty-one years engaged in work for woman suffrage; was Secretary of Committee of Arrangements for National Council of Women at Washington, D.C., in 1888; was the first Corresponding Secretary of the International Council of Women from 1888 to 1893; from 1891 to 1894 Corresponding Secretary of the National Council of Women of the United States.

MRS. RACHEL F. AVERY

MRS. L. M. HOLLISTER

HOLLISTER, MRS. LILLIAN M., Secretary of the National Council of Women of the United States, born in Milford, Michigan. After her marriage, removed to Detroit, where she became prominent in the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was elected president of the society, and is connected with leading international movements among women. Mrs. Hollister was elected Great Commander of the Great Hive of the Lady Maccabees of Michigan in 1893, and Supreme Commander in 1896.

BARRETT, MRS. KATE WALLER, born at Clifton, Virginia, widow of Rev. Dean Barrett; took course in nursing at Florence Nightingale Training School, London, afterwards taking degree of Doctor of Medicine in Georgia State College; present Vice-President of National Council of Women of United States; delegate to recent Conference for the Care of Delinquent Children; has devoted her efforts to professional education for women, and better laws for the protection of young girls.

MRS. KATE W. BARRETT