

admiration and envy for your talent, your achievements and your fame, there is one respect in which I would not for the world change places with you. Whatever sorrow the war has brought or may bring me, I would not for the world be a neutral.

Yours most sincerely,

WILLIAM ARCHER.