The St. Patrick's Benevolent Society held their annual picnic at Port Stanley on Thursday, Sept. 1st. About eight hundred persons took advantage of the excursion to spend a day at the lakeside. Doyle, did their utmost to make the affair pass off in the most enjoyable manner.

About half-past eleven Sunday night Miss Brown, who resides on Mill street, observed a dense smoke issuing from the roof of the skating rink, lately occupied by the Women's Christian Association for the floral garden. She immediately gave the alarm, and aroused Mr. St. John Hyttenranch, who at once rushed over to the building, got through the window, and commenced playing on the fire with a small hose which he attached to a pipe leading to one of the fountains, and thus prevented it from spreading further.

ENGLISH HOUSE OF COMMONS.

London, September 1.—In consequence of the rejection by the House of Lords of the Bill for the Registration of Voters in Ireland, the Irish members of the House of Commons will resist the second reading of the Appropriation Bill, fixed for today. Parnell insisted that the essential clauses of the Registration Bill shall be tacked on to the Appropriation Bill.

To Parnell's proposition Forster replied that he was willing to make the Registration Bill a Government measure next year, but cannot adopt Parnell's suggestion, which could only be resorted to in extreme cases.

Parnell therefore objected to the second reading of the Appropriation Bill, which postpones the Bill until to-morrow, adding a day to the session.

London, September 1.—The House of Lords this evening negatived the second reading of the Bill for the Registration of Voters in Ireland by forty-two to thirty. It has been stated if the House of Lords rejected this Bill the Irish members of the Commons will endeavor to get up another obstructive fight in the Commons.

London, September 2.—In the Commons, Hartington announced that he could not accept the terms of the resolution which Parnell has framed remonstrating against the rejection of the Registration Bill by the Lords. The following is the resolution: "That the action of the Lords is strongly condemnable as injurious to the interests of the Irish people, and tends to strengthen the feelings of hopelessness of looking to Imperial Parliament for a redress of their grievances."

London, September 3.—In the Commons to-night Parnell introduced his amendment, adding the clauses of the Registration Bill to the Appropriation Bill. Forster while opposing the amendment, blamed the Lords severely for their contemptuous treatment of the Registration Bill. He said if such proceedings were persisted in in the future there would come a time when some change in the constitution of the House of Lords would be necessary.

This declaration was received with tremendous cheering. Northcote rose to reply and said he must enter an emphatic protest against expressions used with regard to the House of Lords, to whom, coming from the Minister of the Crown, he had listened with amazement and regret. He hoped those sentiments were not shared by the other Ministers. These remarks made a considerable sensation.

On motion to go into committee on the Appropriation Bill, Parnell's amendment was rejected by 203 to 23. The amendment moved by Dillon, tacking the Compensation for Disturbance Bill on to the Appropriation Bill, was also rejected by 60 to 18. In the committee the debate arose on O'Connor's amendment, throwing out the item for salaries in the House of Lords. Harcourt (Home Secretary), said Lord Redesdale had indicated that the House of Lords rejected the Registration Bill to save the seat of a Tory member. John Bright said it appeared that while the Commons was endeavoring to conciliate Ireland the Lords was determined to make a declaration of war against the Irish people. Alynor (Conservative) declared that Bright's speech was suppressed treason against the Constitution. The amendment was rejected by 81 to 18. The Appropriation Bill then passed in Council. Previous to this Callan (Home Ruler), in a speech on local grievances, spoke of the infidel members of the House and of the intolerant, ignorant Presbyterians. He refused to retract, and was suspended for the remainder of the sitting.

THE GLASS BALL CASTERS.—We call attention to these simple and beautiful casters, which are rapidly superseding all others. They consist of flat bell metal and are held in jaws of flat bell metal and are centre bearing. For furniture they improve the appearance and possess many advantages over the old swivel caster. For pianos and organs, they possess unquestionable merits and add materially to the sweetness and volume of tone of the instrument. For balconies, they stand unrivalled. Being non-conductors they prevent electricity escaping from the body during sleep. Persons afflicted with disease produced from loss of vitality are greatly benefited and restored to health by their use. Works 64, 66 & 68, Rebecca st., Hamilton.
