GIVEN LEAVE TO REMARRY.

Unique Petition Presented to an Ala bama Judge by Divorced Man.

bama Judge by Divorced Man.

"I have been practicing law for many pares and have seen many unique legal papers on file, but the most dalque I have ever struck was in Birmingham, Ala, the other day," said S. H. Jackson, of Atlanta, at the New Willard. "The paper was so thoroughly unique and original I had the clerk of the court make a copy for he. It was a petition filed to 1851 by a man asking to be silved to remarry, his first wife having secured a divorce. It reads: lowed to remarry, his first wife having secured a divorce. It reads:
"To the Honorable H. A. Sharpe, Judge of the City Court of Birmingham, in Equity: Your petitioner,— of Mobile, Al., would deferentially represent that on the 10th day of January, in the year of grace 1891, your lonor dissolved the connubial thes therefore existing between petitioner and his consort,——, grantthese therefore existing between petitioner and his consort,—, granting her divorce a vinculo matrimonii, with the beatific privilege thereto annexed of marrying again, a privilege which it goes without saying she availed herself, of with alacrity of spirit and a fastidious levity distinguishing pursuit. But on this vital point your honor extended to petitioner only the charity of your silence.

"His days rapidly verging on the sear and yellow leaf, the fruit and flowers of love all going, the worm, the canker and the grief in sight, with no one to love and none to caress him, your petitioner feels an indescribable yearning, longing and heaving to plunge his adventurous prove more more into the unturous prow once more into the un-vexed waters of the sea of connu-biality."

For comforting as the velvety God's throne is set; and, while men work or sleep,
He wakes, and listens to the hearts that weep,
And in His love makes straight life's tangled strands,

""For comforting as the ververy touch of an angel's palm on the fever-racked brow and soothing as the strains of an acolian harp when swept by the fingers of the night wind and dear as the raddy drops which visit those sad hearts of ours and as sweet as sacramental wine to and as sweet as sacramental wine to dying lips, it is when life's fitful fever is ebbing to its close to pillow one's aching head on some fond wifely bosom, and breathe his life gently there.

A well-known barrister relates the following story with great gusto: Some time ago he had under crosssome time age he had under cross-examination a youth from the coun-try, who rejoiced in the name of Sampson, and whose replies were provocative of much laughter in court. "And so," questioned the bar-rister, "you wish the court to be-lieve that you are peacefully disposed and an inoffensive person?" "Yes." "And that you have no desire to fellow in the steps of your illustrious namesake and smite the Phillistines?" "No. I ve not." answered the witness." No, I ve not," answered the witness.
'And if I had the desire I ain't got the power at present." "Then you the power at present." "Then you think you would be able to cope successfully with a thousand enemies, and utterly rout them with the jaw-bone of an ass?" "Well," answered the ruffled Sampson, "I might have a try when you are done with the weapon!"

for May wheat for a long time but it sold under that price last month. If we do not lose more of this year's crop than the average loss from other crop prospects, and prospects are good for a big crop of oats and corn, so as to give us lower prices for these cereals, I believe July wheat will look high at 72c. Prospects are now above the average for all this to come to pass, and as it takes but a moment to change one's mind, it looks to me like good business judgment to operate on the basis of the legitimate with an eye on the illegitimate. it sold under that price last month.

on the illegitimate. The Government report out yesterday afternoon giving condition of 97.3 indicates a crop of winter wheat of 544,000,000 bush. An average crop of spring wheat means a total of 800,000,000 bush.

Edward G. Hoeman, Chicago, says: When I turned bull on wheat two weeks ago, at the bottom, and before the buying which took place this week was even indicated, I turned on the belief that the steady decline in May wheat since January had extended about far enough, and also that scenery or glowing eron so that scenery or glowing crop prospects had been discounted in the or special man been disconnect in the low price (under 70c), ruling for July wheat. I am well aware that the short interest, especially in the July, had become unwieldy—dangerously so—and I believe it is still very large, in fact, it looks as if it has been increased this week. Outside of the buying. however, by the Armour con-cern, there was nothing important in the news this week different from the preceding weeks to warrant one who was bearish then to turn bull orate Attempt to Have Fun a Bridal Couple on a Train. A passenger on a train out of New York the other night observed the most elaborate attempt to have fun with a young married couple that he ever encountered. After the train left Trenton the man passed through the car and laid on every seat a printed handbill. It announced that at Philadelphia a young married couple then steated in the darwing room of a car of which the name was given, were to leave the train.

They were described briefly and notice was given that they would be more closely indicated when the train stopped. The handbill closed with the announcement that rice would be distributed among the passengers, and they were requested to make the customary use of it. In accordance with the notice the distributor of the original announcements appeared in a few montes

Pioneer Days. .

David Kennedy, senior, has told his experiences in a book with the above experiences in a book with the above title. He was born in Scotland, and came to Canada with his parents in 18.29, when one year old, lived near fuelph from 18.0 to 1851, and then started to apy out the land and found started to py out the land and fould a new home near the mouth of the Saugeen River, in Bruce County. The journey to Owen Sound and thence through the woods to Southampton is vividly described, and the method of selecting land, building houses, clearing, hunting, cooking, etc., is made plain. "We managed to roo! our clearing, hunting, cooking, etc., is made plain. "We managed to roof our shanty with elm bark, and we chinked the cracks up with pleces of split basswood and moss, and we made a fireplace with stones from the river, and a chimney place of bent sticks plastered with mud, and a floor of basswood slabs, split and hewn with an adze. There were a good many people looking for land, and seldom a day or night passed without having some to entertain." The township in which the brothers settled was surveyed by Senator Vidal, and Alexander MeNab was the land agent. Mr. Kennedy left his brother in Bruce after a time and became owner of his father's farm near Guelph, but communication was kept up between the two branches of the family. The story of pioneer life and its difficulties is very well told in this little book, of which copies can be obtained from the author. David Kennedy, senior, Bronte post-office. Price 75 cents.
