

When in Bed

Put some Vapo-Cresole in the vaporizer, light the lamp and place it near the head of the bed. Then all the time the baby sleeps it will breathe in the healing, soothing vapor. The hard, tight cough loosens; the fever gradually goes down, the breathing becomes natural, and pneumonia is avoided. Every part of the throat and bronchial tubes are touched by the medicine. For the hard colds and coughs of children nothing equals Vapo-Cresole.

Vapo-Cresole is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresole outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Cresole, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresole, 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresole Co., 150 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

Sold by C. H. Gunn & Co., Druggists, Chatham.

St. Thomas Business College

The growth of this institution during the last two years has been wonderful. The attendance has been doubled on account of the thorough course of training which we give. One of our young men is now drawing a salary of $1,800 a year; another $900; others from $400 to $800. Within the last month two of our students have gone direct from the College to positions paying $500 a year. WE QUALIFY OUR STUDENTS TO FILL THE BEST POSITIONS.

Young people are foolish to spend the best part of their lives learning Latin, French and the dead languages, when a few months spent in our Commercial or Shorthand Department will fit them to earn salaries like the above.

Spring term begins April 1st. Enter and complete a three months' course before mid-summer.

Eighty-seven per cent. of all our students who have written on the examinations of the Business Educators' Association of Canada this year have been successful.

HIS VIVID DREAM.

The Part That It Played in Saving His Brother's Life.

"I never had but one experience in my life that verged on the abnormal," said the colonel after the whilst game at the club the other night when the conversation had somehow gravitated to queer coincidences, strange premonitions and similar unaccountable happenings. "It took place several years ago," he continued, "in response to a little pressing for the story, 'when I was living in apartments in upper Canal street and had a business office on the second floor of a building in St. Charles. At that time I was very methodical. At 6 o'clock every night I would shut up the office for the night, dine, spend awhile at the club and generally reached home at about 10:30. Then I would get into a dressing gown, turn up the lamp and proceed to read myself sleepy."

"On the night I have in mind I followed that programme to the letter; but, contrary to all my habits, I fell asleep in my chair and had a vivid dream, rather, a sort of swift, flashing vision. I thought I was standing at the head of the flight of stairs leading up to my office in St. Charles street and that my door was ajar about a foot, showing a pitch dark interior. I seemed to have just arrived for some purpose or other, and I was conscious of a strong feeling of surprise that the door should be open, but before I could form any conjecture in regard to the matter I awoke."

"The picture was absolutely commonplace, but it was so extraordinarily distinct that for a moment or two I could hardly realize where I was. It seemed certain that I had just been standing in the office hallway, and the impression was so firm and clear I thought at first I must have been walking in my sleep. My watch showed that I had been doing less than five minutes, however, and somnambulism was plainly out of the question."

"As you may well believe, the incident left me wide awake, and I tried in vain to recompose my nerves over a book, but in spite of all my efforts I found it impossible to get that gaping office door out of my mind. No matter how I tried to suppress it, it came back stronger every moment, that I must have accidentally left it open when I went away the preceding evening, and, seeing that sleep was not to be thought of until I settled the matter one way or the other, I finally got up, dressed and started down town. By the time I reached the stairs I was so firmly convinced that the door would be open that I called a policeman to go up with me and was not in the least surprised to find things exactly as I had seen them in my dream."

"But the strangest part of the story is to come. Inside the office was my brother. It seemed that he had been passing the stairs an hour or so before, when he was suddenly seized with an attack of vertigo and went up to lie down. He was a very large, heavy man, and the seizure assumed a sort of apoplectic form which had already rendered him partly unconscious at the time I arrived. I sent for a carriage and had him taken to his house, where he was ill for four or five weeks. What would have been the consequence but for my opportune appearance I don't pretend to say, and I have absolutely no theory to advance in regard to the circumstances that led me down that night. The episode occurred exactly as I have related it, and I have never allowed myself to waste any time in speculating upon the matter. I have simply relegated it to the category of things that can't be explained."

Snack Thieves in Mexico.

"The thing which struck me most forcibly in Mexico," said a man who had just returned from a visit to the far south, "is the boldness and cleverness of the sneak thieves who infest the Mexican capital. They call them ratos down there, and if that word comes from rat it is well taken. The day before I left Mexico an old man came in on a train and put his head out of the car window to see the sights. Just as the train pulled up at the depot a ratos on the platform snatched off the old man's hat. The old man ran out of the car, and seeing the thief, he set his valise down in order to give chase. In an instant another ratos had 'swiped' the valise, and both of the thieves got away. 'This old man went to a hotel and barely had unpacked his trunk when a young man appeared in his room and called for his dirty clothes for the laundry. The young man was another ratos, and he got nearly every stitch of wearing apparel the old man had. I had a little experience with the ratos on my own account. They got a light overcoat from my carriage seat in broad daylight."

Tried Twenty Years.

"A friend came to me once completely heartbroken," said James Whitcomb Riley, "saying that his manuscripts were constantly returned and that he was the most miserable wretch alive. I asked him how long he had been trying. 'Three years,' he said. 'My dear man,' I answered, 'laughing, go on; keep trying till you have spent as many years as I did.' 'As many as you did?' he exclaimed. 'Yes, as long as I did.' 'What you—' Riley—'I struggled through sleepless nights, through almost hopeless days. For 20 years I tried to get into one magazine; back came my manuscripts eternally. I kept on. In the twentieth year that magazine accepted one of my articles.'"

"I was not a believer in the theory that one man does a thing much easier than any other man. Continuous, unflagging effort, persistence and determination will win. Let not the man be discouraged who has these."—Success.

Thought He Was Crazy.

Sir Morell Mackenzie at an "at home" chanced to converse for some time with a lady unknown to him. It happened to be a celebrated authoress, who introduced herself with these words: "I am John Strange Water." Sir Morell did not read novels and gazed at her wondering. She added, "Booster! Baby, you know." "Yes, yes, of course," he answered smilingly.

He afterward remarked to his hostess that the poor lady was very mad indeed. First she had told him that she was a man and then that she was somebody's baby.

Saved Hundreds of Lives and Succored Thousands of Destitute Chinks.

Victoria, B. C., April 25.—In an interview in the Kobo Herald, Minister Conger, who is on his way to San Francisco, said:

"There were really no actions on the part of the missionaries there that were not entirely justified when the circumstances are known. Missionaries did not loot. Missionaries found 2,000 destitute men and women on their hands. There was no government, no organized authority. There were houses of men who had been firing on the foreign quarter during the attacking leaders of the boxers; their property had been abandoned, as a result of the state of war and it was taken to succor hundreds of suffering and destitute Chinese, whose lives the original owners had been laboring to destroy. Winter was coming and measures of some kind were imperative and the appropriation of property for the ends in view was unquestionably justified."

"That, briefly, was the situation. I am prepared to justify the conduct of the American missionaries before the siege, during the siege, and after the siege. If you wish to get at the facts there is a missionary on board who would probably give you all the particulars you want."

The missionary was Dr. Ament, who told the reporter that goods taken by the so-called 'loot committee' were goods left in stores by people who had sought refuge in the legation during the siege, and were taken to prevent their destruction. The clothes and goods left in stores by people who had sought refuge in the legation during the siege, and were taken to prevent their destruction. The Druggists are Busy.

Druggists report great demand for the new 25 cent size of Catarrh, and today's sales almost cleared out their stock. They explain this rapid run on Catarrh by the fact that it gives better satisfaction than any other remedy on the market. No druggist says that Catarrh is the only remedy that really does cure Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma. It relieves quickly, is pleasant to use, convenient to use, and guaranteed to cure, or your money back. Readers suffering from Irritable Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, &c., are strongly advised to try Catarrh; it never fails to cure even the worst cases.

A FEW FACTS

About the New Catarrh Cure.

The new catarrh cure is a new departure in so called catarrh cures because it actually cures, and is not simply a temporary relief.

The new catarrh cure is not a salve, ointment, powder nor liquid, but a pleasant tasting tablet containing the best specifics for catarrh in a concentrated, convenient form.

The old style of catarrh salves and ointments are greasy, dirty and inconvenient at the best; the new preparation being in tablet form is always clean and convenient.

The new Catarrh Cure is superior to Catarrh Powders because it is a notorious fact that many catarrh powders contain cocaine.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a wholesome combination of blood-root, beach-wood tar, guaiac and other antiseptics, and cures by its action upon the blood and mucous membrane, the only rational treatment for catarrhal trouble.

You do not have to draw upon your imagination to discover whether you are getting benefit from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets; improvements and relief are apparent from the first tablet taken.

All druggists sell and recommend them. They cost but 50 cents for full sized packages, and any catarrh sufferer who has wasted time and money on sprays, salves and powders, will appreciate to the full the merit of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

Discretion does not only make a man the master of his own parts, but also those of other men's.—Joseph Addison.

The Indian and the Northwest.

A handsomely illustrated book just issued, bound in cloth and containing 115 pages of interesting historical data relating to the settlement of the great Northwest, with fine half-tone engravings of Black Hawk, Sitting Bull, Red Cloud and other noted chiefs; Custer's battle ground and ten colored maps showing the location of the various tribes dating back to 1600. A careful review of the book impresses one that it is a valued contribution to the history of the Northwest. A copy should be in every library. Price 50 cents per copy. "Liar," "Reptile," "Traitor" Were the Epithets Bandied in the Austrian Reichsrath.

Vienna, April 23.

Violent scenes between the Christians, Socialists, and Herr Voelkl, the Pan-German, marked the earlier part of today's sitting of the Reichsrath. Herr Voelkl was denounced as a liar by Herr Wohlmeier, and the former retorted:—"You are a scoundrel! You are a disgrace to your party!" In the subsequent uproar the words "liar," "dirty liar," "reptile," and "traitor" were distinguishable. The din eventually subsided.
