REV. DR. WARDEN DEAD
 One of the Foremost Figures of the Presbyterian Church.

Apt In Finance, the Deceased's Crowning Work For His Church Was His Management of the Great Century Fund—General Agent of the Church Since 1896—Moderator of the General Assembly in 1901.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—Death has a length released from suffering Rev. Robert H. Warden, D. D. one of the foremost figures of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. He passed away at 4.30 yesterday morning at the Queen's Hotel. It was in May last that he was seriously seized with a painful interminal malady. He went to Roche's Point and, later on, he was removed to the Queen's Hotel, where he had been more or less seriously ill ever since.

A few hours after his death yesterday morning his body was removed to the residence of his son, 100 Spadina road. The death occurred in the presence of his wife, two of his sons, Alex. and Lyle, and one of his daughters, Mrs. (Lila) Fairman of Montreal. His other daughter, Mrs. (Marian) Denton, also of Montreal, arrived yesterday in this city. William Warden arrived from Smith's Falls.

A private service takes place at the residence, 100 Spadina road, Tuesday afternoon. A public service will be held at Bloor Street Presbyterian Church at 2.30 the same day.

Yesterday, in all the Presbyterian pulpits, reference was made in feeling terms to the death.

Robert H. Warden was the son of Alexander J. Warden, F. S. A., of Dundee, Scotland, and was born in Dundee on Jan. 4, 1841, and was thus in his 64th year. He received his preliminary education at Madras College, and coming to Canada he entered Knox College, from which he graduated in 1866. His first charge was at Bothwell, where he remained for eight years. In 1874 he accepted the agency of Knox College, and in 1875 went from Toronto to Montreal as an agent of the church. Later he became secretary of the French evangelistic work and treasurer of the Presbyterian College, from which he received the degree of D. D. He was first secretary and later convener of the home mission committee of the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Warden was also secretary of the augmentation fund and governing director of the Presbyterian Ladies' College at Ottawa. For a number of years he was editor of The Presbyterian Record. On the retirement of Rev. Dr. Reid, in 1895, from the office of general agent of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. Warden was elected to the office, and in 1898 formally accepted the position. In 1901, at the General Assembly in Ottawa, Dr. Warden received the office of moderator. His aptitude for financial affairs in connection with church work had its crowning achievement in the management of the century fund. Not since 1875 did he have a charge of his own, his executive and financial ability enabling him to serve his church in the direction these talents fitted him for.

His place was as an administrator rather than a shepherd, and his finest oratorical effort was made in the General Assembly, when he moved that the Century Fund be established. The idea was received somewhat dubiously, but when he sat down after delivering a most telling argument in its favor the assembly was convinced of the feasibility of the scheme. The result proved the soundness of his reasoning. Under his guiding hand the fund grew like a rolling snowball until it reached the splendid figure of one hundred and a half millions.

He became generally recognized as an authority in financial matters, and secured many tempting offers for the sake of his church. He was, however, president of the Metropolitan Bank and various other financial institutions. He had a wide circle of friends, among whom he inspired the utmost respect.

Death Comes With the Amen.
 Brockville, Nov. 27.—A sensation was created during service in St. Peter's Anglican Church yesterday morning by the sudden death of Geo. A. McMullen, who came in late and, taking his place in the choir, sang the concluding verses of the opening hymn. His daughter was the presiding organist, and as the notes of the "Amen" died away and the congregation was being seated, Mr. McMullen sank in a heap and fell out upon the floor. Working hands carried him into the vestry, a few steps away, but ere he reached the room life was extinct. A doctor pronounced the cause of death heart failure. He was born at Orillia over 60 years ago and was town clerk of this town for the past ten years. His widow and a family of three children, two daughters and one son, survive.

Mrs. (Judge) Harding Dies.
 Lindsay, Nov. 27.—Saturday news of the sudden death of Mrs. (Judge) Harding came with a sudden shock. Mrs. Harding and her two youngest daughters had only returned a few weeks ago from a visit to her daughter in Vancouver, and within the past few days had been apparently in the best of health. Mrs. Harding was the daughter of George Stevenson of Sarnia, and was married to George Harding in 1866.

A LUCKY FIND?

Still there are lucky finds other than horse shoes. For instance, the man who has found this clothing establishment, and has learned to come here for his overcoats, his suits, his trousers, his hats, shirts, underwear, neck wear and all his toggery is certainly a lucky man.

Had he not found us, he would, perhaps, be wearing poorer clothes and paying perhaps as much or more for them than we ask for our garments of excellence.

Lured, our patrons are lucky and they appreciate the fact. Have you found us.

CANADA'S COMBINES.
 Attorney-General Willing That Mr. Curry Has All Aid—Grocers' Combine Raided in Hamilton.

Toronto, Nov. 27.—"I intend to start prosecuting the combines this week," said the Crown-Attorney. "It will not be the enamelware, against whom an information was first issued, but one of the simpler combines. Some of them will only take a very short time to dispose of, I have no witnesses whatever to speak of, but I have just as good. I have evidence down in black and white."

"I saw the Attorney-General Saturday," continued Mr. Curry, "and he said that I could have all the assistance I required. I do not think I will require anybody except someone to do the clerical work, a stenographer, and possibly an accountant. I will have to do the work myself, for if a man does not know his case he cannot go through with it."

Informations against the 127 members, named on Saturday, in the supply men and master plumbers' cases were sworn to Saturday by Detective Verney.

RAIDING GROCERS' COMBINE.
 Informations Sworn Out Against Two Members and Documents Seized.

Hamilton, Nov. 27.—A sensation similar to that of the prosecution against the plumbers' combine in Toronto was sprung in this city Saturday afternoon when an information was sworn out against George E. Bristol and H. C. Beckett, charging them and others of the Canada Grocers, Limited, with combining to keep up the prices of starch, sugar and other commodities to prevent competition in the same articles.

Crown Attorney S. F. Washington, K.C., and Sheriff's Officer Stewart went to the company's office during the afternoon, armed with search warrant to look for documents. They then went to the office of W. H. Gillard & Co. to search for books and documents. The Crown-Attorney secured some documents, but said he had not examined them.

BIG AUTO HITS AMBULANCE.

New York, Nov. 27.—Dr. Clarence Barlow, ambulance surgeon of Roosevelt Hospital, was killed while on duty Saturday night on his ambulance.
