SELF DENIAL

This is self-denial week in the Salvation Army, who are acknowledged to be conducting the greatest, most consistent, most unswerving, most steadfast campaign for the uplift of the unfortunate ones of the world than any united force or association existing. A remarkable thing about these earnest workers is the fact that most of them were themselves redeemed from among the dregs of humanity, and if one will but think of it, it is a pleasure to meet their clear-eyed and fearless honesty which the most of them display. The work of the Salvation Army requires very little money for the maintenance of the members themselves, but it requires millions for the maintenance of their great work throughout the earth. No matter what a man's particular faith or faithlessness may be in religion, most human men are free-givers to the great work of the Salvation Army. Self Denial week is a week when the Army asks that the giving be to the point of real denial. Most of us can give 25 cents or a dollar and not feel the pinch; but to get the greatest blessing and do the greatest amount of good, we must make our giving to this cause something that is going to make us hard up for a week or two. Members of the Army will themselves call on the people.

MISS TEDLIE ATTENDS W. U. CONVENTION

Miss S. T. Tedlie has recently returned from St. John where she has been attending a three-day conference of the officials and managers of the Western Union Telegraph Company, of which she is our local manager.

The conference was called by C. W. McKee, Dist. Com'l Supt. Daily sessions were held and were conducted by T. W. Carroll, General Manager, A. C. Kaufman, General Commercial Agent, and John Simmonds, Division Commercial Manager of the company, all of New York City. Several managers from points throughout the Maritime Provinces were present. Miss Tedlie advises that the information brought out at the conference indicates a gradual improvement in business conditions throughout Canada and the United States, as reflected by the Telegraph, which has proven itself a safe barometer of business conditions.

The business reaction so far registered throughout the country is of a healthy nature and those concerns who are really bidding and pressing for business are being rewarded with growing orders. Reports emanating from well established and authentic commercial sources point out unerringly that a turn in the tide before the end of the summer will surely occur.

The obligation of the Western Union Telegraph Company during this adjustment period was fully and forcibly reviewed with the attending managers and great stress was laid upon the personal responsibilities borne by each employee at this important time when the Telegraph is playing such a leading part as a first aid to business reconstruction.

AVONDALE STORE WIPED OUT BY FIRE

Samuel Barter Suffers Heavy Setback When Flames Destroy Building

Early Saturday morning the store at Avondale, about six miles from here, owned by Samuel Barter, was burned to the ground. Mr. Barter had put a fire on in a stove and then had gone out into a back store to wait on a customer and when he returned the ceiling was all ablaze. He made use of a fire extinguisher which he had in the store, and thought he had succeeded in putting the fire out, but in about half an hour the blaze again broke out within the walls and between the floors, and although plenty of help soon arrived, water could not be obtained in any quantity to be of any use, and as soon as the wind which was blowing strong, got in through the doors and windows, all possible chance of saving the building was gone. The store was a large one, but only a small stock was destroyed. Nevertheless, it is a big loss to the community as well as Mr. Barter. The loss is partly covered by insurance.
