AYLESWORTH AND BORDEN.

sister of Justice Declares That the Opposition Leader

Will be Disqualified If (harges Against Him Are Proved.

Windsor, Sept. 19 .- The feature of the oint pienic of the South and Liberal Associations, held at Barber's Grove this afternoon, was The Minister of Justice as merciless in his steady fire of criticism of the methods of political warfare to which Mr. R. L. Bordon and his touring supporters have resorted. From last Mr. Aylesworth was unreserved, frank and unhesitating in his handling of the Conservative campaigners and their tactics. He carried the war into the enemy's lines; he turned all the weapons at his command upon them, and he showed to all who followed him how filmsy were the fortifications behind which the for sought refuge, and how poor the ammunition the enemy has been using. As it was with Mr. Aylesworth, so it was with all the other speakers; aggressiveness, in fact, was the keynote of iveness, in fact, was the keynote of the whole meeting. Mr. A. G. McKay also siveness, in fact, was the McKay also spoke.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, after a graceful acknowledgment of the greeting accorded him, entered almost at once 'pon a discussion of the scandal campaign being conducted by the Conservative leaders and press. One material influence in this campaign undoubtedly was that of the seventy Conservative members in the House of Commons forty-seven were from the Province of Ontario. These men hoped to win the country to their side by just the same campaign of vilification that was waged in the last Provincial elections. A year ago, he proceeded, the Liberals had redeemed North Bruce, and only yesterday Hon. Dr. Pugsley had been returned by acclamation in the County and City of St. John, N. B., where at the last elections there had been a Conservative majority of over 800. In spite of the ples of their leader made in the clay of St. John a month ago, and the slander campaign since, the Conservatives of the riding, knowing that if they had opposed Hon. Dr. Pugsley they would have gone down to ignominous defeat, had run away without even nominating a candidate.

Deliberate Policy of Abuse. Then he turned his attention to Mr. Borden. During the last few weeks, if never before, the Opposition leader had lent himself, apparently with a willing heart, to the task of mud-throwing and general shape.

heart, to the task of mud-throwing and general abuse.

Speaking at Chatham recently, Mr. Borden had in the course of references to the result of the general elections as they affected the Province of Nova Scotia, stated in effect that his own among other constituencies had been debauched, and that Hon. Mr. Fielding knew of these things and participated in them beforehand. "I felt indignation when I read those words," said Mr. Aylesworth. "I know Mr. Filding, the people of this country know him, and I venture to say that there is not an honest and right-minded man who does not believe that Hon. Mr. Fielding is as pure and honest a statesman as ever drew the breath of life." "Last week at a public meeting in the town of Dundas I read an extract from Mr. Borden's speech, and I had a word or two traces he was at her was the state.

"Last week at a public meeting in the town of Dundas I read an extract from Mr. Borden's speech, and I had a word or two to say by way of answer. Since then the newspapers of this Province have been profuse in their accounts of challenges to wordy war and combat from Mr. Borden to myself. I was waited upon not long ago by the representative of a Toronto newspaper, who wanted to know where I would meet Mr. Borden. I had no other answer to make than that I had met him before on the floor of the House of Commons and would meet him there again. Mr. Borden will be welcome if he comes to any meeting where I happen to be present. I shall be pleased to see him. But it is a vain and idle thing that he as champion of the Conversative party should be issuing vilifications throughout the country and challenging his opponents to meet him. Does he think I am going to follow him? I am here, let him come.

"I said before, in referring to Mr. Borden that the the terms of the province of the converse of the control of the converse of the control of the conversative party should be issuing vilifications throughout the country and challenging his opponents.

I said before, in referring to Mr. Borden, that he had better look to his own case. I said what I am prepared to uphold anywhere and before any tribunal in this country, that certain statements of what the petitioners in the Halifax election case said they could prove with regard to Mr. Borden's own connection with corrunt precises exhalic. ection with corrupt practices at the Dominion general elections had been nitted to me, and I expressed my opinion on those statements, as any lawyer might. I said what I repeat to-day, that if these things were established at the trial Mr. R. L. Borden would stand disqualified for eight years from the House of Commons in Canada."

years from the House of Commons in Canada."

In the eyes of Mr. Borden and his supporters, Mr. Aylesworth continued, it would seem that the speaker had been guilty of a crime only to be compared with less majeste, about which European monarchs were so touchy, because he had ventured to say of Mr. Borden something much less harmful than that gentleman had said of Hon. Mr. Fielding. "I have been attacked right and left," he proceeded, "not merely by Mr. Borden, but by party newspapers as well, but the proof is not upon me. I know mothing personally about the affair. I simply know what it is which the petitioners against Mr. Borden say they have proof of, and I have said to them, as I say to the people of this country, if you can establish that you can succeed in your petition and you can disqualify Mr. Borden."

Mr. Aylesworth made no claim to the hostile character of the new tariff to the new tariff den."

Mr. Aylesworth made no claim to being a prophet, and especially in regard to the result of litigation, his 30 years experience as a lawyer having proved the unwisdom of that. "I do do not know what Mr. Borden's answer to these charges will be," he said. "He tells me from the public platform that there is no truth or foundation for them. If he says that in the witness-box he will be the subject of a cross-examination, and I decline to express any opinion as to the result of the case until I have heard Mr. Borden's cross-examination. He wanted the leader of the Opposition to uderstand that if he preferred to fight political battles by such methods as those followed in his speeches at Chatham and elsewhere he need not expect to escape scot free. He would not heaitate to apeak his mind to him at any place or at any time, before his face or in his absence. At Peterboro' Mr. Borden had said that Mr. Aylesworth, was a discredit to Canada. On the floor of the House he had told Mr. Borden that he attached very little value to any opinion he might form of him. It might be that he (Mr. Aylesworth) had a little prejudice against Mr. Borden because he was a comparatively recent convert to the Conservative faith. In any event, that gentleman was welcome to his opinions. The speaker took comfort in the thought that they were not the opinion of the country. When there was talk of discredit he wanted to know if Mr. Borden was not the man who stood discredited before the people of Canada. As the Conservative leader his own native Province of Nova Scotia, a single constituency that had any confidence in him. Is he the man," asked Mr. Aylesworth, "to say that I am a discredit to Canada in my position? I reciprocate the compliment."

Gamey Told to Go.

Mr. Borden had stated that before there was any repetition of remarks respecting disqualification Mr. Aylesworth had better devote some little time to explaining his connection with the Gamey affair. "Well," he continued, "I say to Mr. Borden it will take me no longer to explain my connection with say to Mr. Borden it will take me no longer to explain my connection with the Gamey affair than it will take him to explain his connection with the Lefurgey-Fowler-Pope affair, much less, in fact. He spent an hour in the House of Commons explaining it, the sum and substance of his statement being that he kenw nothing of it, and I say the same about the Gamey affair." Reference was made by Mr. Aylesworth to editorials in the Conservative papers, the less-re lights following the lead of one of the larger organs, attempting in some way or other to connect him with the affair. The sum of their attempt apparently, for it was almost impossible to understand them, was in efect that Gamey when he was, as he said, looking for a purchaser, had come to Mr. Aylesworth's office to ask for money and had been told to leave the room.

What About Mr. Hugh Graham?

What About Mr. Hugh Graham? Continuing, Mr. Aylesworth said Mr. Borden had demanded that he be in-Borden had demanded that he be indicted, not upon hearsay or street gossip, but upon sworn testimony, and he was declaiming against his political opponents that they were corrupt and refused to purify the election laws of the country. The people had a right, therefore, to know whether that gentleman practiced what he preached. Some two years ago an action was brought in the courts of the Province of Quebee, in which Mr. Hugh Graham, a wealthy man and proprietor of the Montreal Star, was concerned as a witness. He was a great admirer three years ago of Mr. Borden and was a most liberal contributor to the Conservative election funds. tor to the Conservative election funds. His sworn testimony was that out of his own pocket he had contributed $30,000 to the organizer of the Quebec district, not the Province of Quebec, but the district surrounding the city of Que-bec. He gave not only to that district, however, but to other districts and other Provinces. Outside of the section named he did not tell the amount of the other aid or the districts to which it went.

Planned the Coup d'Etat.

Planned the Coup d'Etat.

"With that statement and challenge," said Mr. Aylesworth, "I think I may say to Mr. Borden, cast the beam out of your own eye before you look for the mote in mine." In the 1904 campaige, with the funds, then at their disposal, and which they had no difficulty in obtaining, the Conservatives had planned a coup d'etat, by which Mr. Borden and his party were to be exploded into power. They had arranged as part of it the resignation of Mr. Blair.

A like amount raised in each constituency would give an aggregate of $\frac{1}{2}$!

A like amount raised in each constituency would give an aggregate of $1.000,000 a year. Sir John Macdonald had beer turned out of power largely because he had demanded by telegram a modest sum of $10,000 to be used for election purposes. Mr. Borden was apparently determined to build better even than his great protagonist.

A Disastrous Wreck on Mexican Central Railroad.

Mexico City, Sept. 19.—There has been a disastrous wreck on the Mexican Central Railroad. A freight train and a passenger train came into collision at Encarnacion, near the city of Aguas Calientes, and it is reported that thirty persons were killed and many injured. The passenger train was the regular El Paso express, which left that city on Paso express, which left that city on Tuesday. No train from the United States has come in to-day over the Central, but one is expected to-night.

It is impossible to get further details of the wreck at this moment. The rail-road officials here admit that the wreck occurred, but refuse to talk of the matter.

London, Sept. 19.—Referring to Lord Strathcona's correspondence to the Under Sceretary of State for the Colonies respecting the sending of offenders to Canada instead of sentencing them, the Leader says it is to be hoped that the colonies will not draw the line too strictly, merely on the ground of amour morals which were unable to stand the strain of our complex city life have often been invigorated and strengthened by a fresh start under similar conditions.

Perhaps Canada's ends might be served if in these cases the magistrate were to invite the opinion of the high commissioner before taking action.

Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 19.—The idea of holding an international exhibition at Sydney will probably be abandoned in consequence of the receipt of a cable-gram from the New South Wales agent in London, stating that the consequence of the hostile character of the new tariff no support can be expected either from British or continental manufacturers. The Government has accordingly withdrawn inquiries addressed to probable exhibitors regarding the latter's space requirements.

Search—Will Now Inspect Design.

Quebee, Sept. 19.—The Commissioners visited the site of the Quebee Bridge accident to-day, returning to town this evening. They went through the twisted chords and girders and made a thorough examination. Chord No. 9, which was frequently referred to in evidence, was also examined, as it had been stated that it was damaged by a fall when unloaded at the storage yard, and afterward repaired there. The examination to-day, however, revealed the fact that the end of the chord which was repaired was in perfect condition, even after the fall, although there was a deflection in the chord. As matters now stand, all supposed defects seem to have been cleared up, and the next question is to find out if there was any defect in the design. The taking of evidence will be continued to-morrow.

SETTLEMENT

A very old and highly respected resident of this place passed peacefully away at his home here on Saturday morning, September 14, in the person of Mr. Lemuel Vansickle. Deceased was a very active church and Sunday school worker, and had been a member of the Baptist Church here for over sixty years. He filled the office of church clerk for some years, and has been a deacon for a good many years, which position he held at the time of his death. Deceased was in his 80th year, and has been a worker in the Sunday school for over sixty-three years, filling the office of superintendent a number of times and that of a teacher for a good many years. About nine months ago failing health compelled him to give up his infant class in the school, and as he had become so attached to it and loved his work so dearly, he expressed deep regret at having to do so. He was a very earnest worker, and had the pleasure from time to time of seeing his pupils become followers of his Saviour. He had been a great sufferer, but bore his sufferings with Christian patience, and death came as a happy release. He was a kind father, a loving companion and a good neighbor, and had endeared himself to all who knew him, both young and old, by his many acts of kindness. He was naturally of a bright and cheerful disposition, and very intelligent, until over a year ago, when the death of his only daughter came as a great shock to him, and seemed to dull hismind. He leaves to mourn his loss one son, Alfred, at Jerseyville, and one grandchild, Mrs. Walter Misener, besides other, relatives and a host of friends, as he was very widely known. The funeral took place on Sunday at 11 a.m., and after the interment in the Vansickle Cemetery, Rev. J.N. McKinnon delivered a very impressive sermon to a large congregation, as the church was filled with friends, who had come to pay their last respects to the deceased, and to extend their sympathy to the sorrowing ones. The bearers were Messrs. Peter and Wm. Vansickle, of Brantford, attended the funeral on Sunday.
