

THE PROTESTANT, AND EVANGELICAL WITNESS.

WEEKLY CALENDAR—AUGUST. New Moon, 6th day, 9h. 25m., S.E. First Quarter, 13th day, 6h. 50m., S.W. Full Moon, 21st day, 3h. 20m., S.W. Last Quarter, 28th day, 9h. 11m., S.W.

Mail-summer Arrangements. The table lists departure and arrival times for various routes including New York, Philadelphia, and other cities.

HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY. (Continued from last page.)

Mr. SINGLIER continued his speech on the VOLUNTARY BILL. He discussed the implications of the bill on the rights of Catholics and Protestants in the Province.

Mr. COLES spoke in support of the bill, arguing that it was necessary for the peace and stability of the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. HAVILAND responded to the previous speakers, expressing his concerns about the bill's impact on the rights of the people. He argued that the bill was a step towards despotism.

Mr. WHELAN also spoke, supporting the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

Mr. COLES continued his speech, discussing the historical context of the Province and the need for a strong executive power. He mentioned the struggles of the early settlers and the importance of a central authority.

Mr. HAVILAND continued his speech, further elaborating on his concerns about the bill. He argued that the bill would strip the people of their rights and liberties.

Mr. WHELAN continued his speech, defending the bill and arguing that it was a necessary measure to maintain order and justice in the Province. He mentioned the recent disturbances and the need for a firm government.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS. THE DOCTOR FOR ALL! CHEST COMPLAINTS. An advertisement for Holloway's Pills, featuring an illustration of a doctor and a patient.

STOMACH, LIVER, KIDNEYS AND BOWELS. An advertisement for a medical product, likely related to the pills mentioned in the adjacent ad.

DISORDERS PECULIAR TO WOMEN. An advertisement for a medical product, likely related to the pills mentioned in the adjacent ad.

INFLUENZA, DYSENTERY AND SORE THROAT. An advertisement for a medical product, likely related to the pills mentioned in the adjacent ad.

CHILDREN'S COMPLAINTS. An advertisement for a medical product, likely related to the pills mentioned in the adjacent ad.

WINDY OR WATERY DROPS. An advertisement for a medical product, likely related to the pills mentioned in the adjacent ad.

Encourage Home Manufactures. An advertisement for a cloth mill, encouraging local industry.

Mountain Herd Pills. An advertisement for a medicinal product, likely for livestock or a specific ailment.

Ayres's Cherry Pectoral. An advertisement for a cough remedy, highlighting its effectiveness.

EMPLOYMENT! $40 A MONTH! AGENTS WANTED! An advertisement for a job opportunity, offering a monthly salary.

Fire and Marine Insurance Co. An advertisement for an insurance company, offering protection for property and ships.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Vol. 3. A small notice or page header at the top of the page.

DAVID LAY. A small notice or page header at the top of the page.

A WEY C. A small notice or page header at the top of the page.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.

Advertisement for a local business or service, possibly related to the insurance or employment ads.