The Dance: Who

How and Where?

Our troubles come in flocks. Now it is the movies, yesterday—no, today—it is the dance. The general public is not much concerned with the morals and deencies of the populace. The parents ought to be; the clergy ought to be, especially when it is a question of the pitfalls of the boys and girls.

We fondly imagine that the "Triple Entente"—the home, the church and the school—is moulding the morals and minds of the young. What about the street, the movie and the dance? Here is another three-fold alliance.

Suppose we single out the dance. The dance is commercialized. We all know what it means. We know how the saloon commercialized the people's thirst. We know how the pool room, the vaudeville and the theatre commercialized the legitimate desire for amusement and entertainment on the part of the young. So we can guess how the dance is being commercialized. Just now, during Lent, things are quiet. Every thing will be in full swing later on.

If we watch the papers we will see that a dance is to be given in the Teepee Hall by the Guzlers—ladies free, if without escorts. A dance at Snider's Harmonium, interspersed with specialty stunts by the Sons of Beelzebub. And so on, as anyone can see by looking at the paid advertisements in the evening Mohawk.

What does it all mean? Ask the wise ones. The writer was never inside a public dance hall. His only dance is that learned from his dad in the woodshed. He could not tell a shimmy from a turtle trot. He rather likes the jazz of the Victrola. But the writer is not a recluse. He hears things. He has listened to tales of mothers. He has seen their tears. He has heard the story of the police. He has tried to save unfortunate girls and boys who have got themselves into trouble. He did not go slumming. These things came to him. He listened to the sordid story; its beginning, its progress and its end. The dance was in this story, the public, yes, and the private dance; the dance in strange company and the dance among friends.

The dance hall and its promiscuous company is in the story. The dress, or lack of dress, is there. The movements, the contacts, the gestures, the lure, are all in the story. And then there is the closing chapter and the story ends. No, it does not end. There is an aftermath.

The young, and sometimes those older, love to dance. And why should they not dance? The dance can be made wholesome, decent and legitimate. But the dance is commercialized and perverted. It has become a serious social problem. It is high time that parents bestir themselves. No one can hear the talk of a group of boys or young bloods, as they descend on their adventures, without learning that there is something rotten in the dance they attend. No one can observe the dress of mere girls, the brazen forwardness, lack of modesty and reserve that is only too common, without feeling a shock. Standards and decency are flung to the winds. But a remedy must be found. The home, the church and the school must assert themselves. The decent element of the community must work to create a public sentiment against methods of the Minard's Liniment Lumberman's friend.

public dance hall. Outward regulation is good so far as it goes; it is not enough. Some means must be found to put a sense of propriety and self-respect into our young people. It is a question of conscience. The right and wrong, in a true moral sense, come into play. It is not so much the dance as the who, how and where.

The Convert Begging For a Sponsor

The U. S. Catholic Magazine and Monthly Review, published at Baltimore, in its issue for April, 1848, gleaned from the Catholic News Letter, a weekly of those days, an item which has a particular significance at present, says the Central Bureau Bulletin. According to the report printed in the magazine named, a retreat had been conducted by the Rev. Father Larkin, S. J., in St. Louis, Mo., lasting two weeks. At the end of the first week, says the Catholic News Letter, five converts were baptized in the Church of St. Francis Xavier, all of them being adults.

Among the number of those receiving baptism, thus runs the story in the C. N. L., was a venerable old man, a native of England, whose conduct exhibits one of the most beautiful exemplifications of genuine Catholicity we have ever known. He was more than seventy years of age, had been for many years a member of the national church, and had served in the army against the Irish, in what is called the rebellion of '08. He had fought at Vinegar Hill, where his hands were deeply stained with the blood of his fellow-men.

When the man came forward to be baptized, the story continues, he begged that some Irishman stand sponsor for him, observing that, "as he had fought against the Irish people, and against their religion, being now, by the mercy of God, converted to that faith in which they had always persevered, he wished to offer the only atonement, besides repentance, it was in his power to do, by a public testimony of his love for a nation whom early bigotry had taught him to hate.

He now realized the value of a universal faith and universal love. He could not be a Catholic without loving his neighbor as himself."

What a wonderful example of a sincere conversion, and what a striking example for men and nations in our day. There are two significant elements in this incident. The convert realized that there had been a strong religious prejudice involved in his erstwhile antagonism and open hostility to the Irish, and that it was necessary to overcome and renounce it; and further, having eliminated this prejudice the man was prepared to tear out of his heart whatever of national and racial hatred had existed and might still remain. We cannot help wishing and praying that the spirit evidenced by this man of English birth might become universal today. For there can be no lasting peace unless there be a real reconciliation. And, as the Holy Father has pointed out, there can be no real reconciliation of men and nations and races unless there be a change of heart, a change from the present attitude to one of true Christian Charity.

Mrs. Alice Beckwith, Foreston, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years, and could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended I tried a bottle, and can gladly say it relieved me. I can eat anything now, and am in perfectly good health. B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont."

PILE'S HEMORRHOIDS

ARE CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION.

There are few complaints more common than hemorrhoids, commonly called piles, and scarcely any which cause more trouble and misery.

Piles are divided into three classes, i.e., itching, protruding and bleeding, and consist in a fulness of blood and languid circulation in the portion of the lower bowel or rectum.

The chief causes of piles are constipation, straining at stool, and the use of drastic purgatives. This latter we would very strongly advise against, as these strong purgatives, especially those containing calomel and other mineral drugs are too strong for the average person's bowels.

A mild laxative will do more to correct his trouble than anything else, and his you will find in Milburn's Laxative Pills, a pill that is purely vegetable, mild and easy to take, and does not irritate, weaken or sicken.

Milburn's Laxative Pills are 25c. a box at all druggists, or may be obtained in receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Little Parish Of Quarter Million Souls

Rev. B. Reuekens is a young member of St. Joseph's Society of England, but he has just been elected at the head of a parish at Eswate, Uganda, Africa, that will make a demand upon his youth and energy, if size and population stand for anything. He asks our prayers, as well he may.

"My parish extends over 8,000 square miles. I think it is the biggest parish of our whole Vicariate. The population amounts to one and a quarter of a million people. Father Kenny, a young, energetic priest, is my assistant. What can we two priests do in a vast country like this unless Almighty God bestows His very choicest blessing upon our poor efforts? We as well as the poor pagans need very many graces, and we ask the prayers of the faithful that success may attend our efforts.

"When resources permit we hope to collect some forty catechists, and we will build little churches all through the country in which people may congregate to be instructed.

"We long for the conversion of these poor blacks, and indeed the Baganda have shown that they can love our religion even to the point of becoming martyrs."

A SENSIBLE MERCHANT.

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders give women prompt relief from monthly pains, and have no bad after effects whatever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 25 cents a box.

She—Yes, my brother is thirty today. Fancy, there are eight years between us.

He—By Jove! I should never have thought it. You look every bit as young as he does.

W. H. O. Wilkinson Streetford says:—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price 25 cents a box.

Hearing a crash of glassware one morning, Mrs. Blank called to her maid in the adjoining room. "Norah, what on earth are you doing?"

"I'm doing nothin', mum," replied Norah; "it's done."

Had INDIGESTION And DYSPEPSIA CAN EAT ANYTHING NOW.

The misery which stomach troubles cause, the sufferer knows only too well, and anyone who suffers knows what joy it would give to be able to eat three square meals a day, and not be punished for it after.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach right so that it will produce its own digestive ferments.

For forty-two years Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and permanently relieving severe cases of indigestion and dyspepsia that very often other remedies were powerless to reach.

Mrs. Alice Beckwith, Foreston, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years, and could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended I tried a bottle, and can gladly say it relieved me. I can eat anything now, and am in perfectly good health. B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T.
