The Work for Farmers.

Guelph Herald says :- It will be gratifying to our numerous readers to learn that a work is soon to be circulated in Canada that must prove as valuable and indispensible to the farmer as his reaper, or any other labor-saving implement, and that will, by its careful study and following the instructions therein contained, place him in a position to greatly increase his profits. It is a well known fact that large profits have hitherto been made on stock raising, by men who understand their busiss, and that the department of stock breeding is now becoming more impor-tant than ever and yielding better returns than any other branch of husban-Hitherto the want of a first-class, reliable, practical work on Live Stock has been felt by every farmer as a reference book for breeding, breaking, training, sheltering, buying, selling, use and care, as well as wherein to obtain the most recent improved humane methods for the preservation and care of stock, the prevention of any disease and restoration of health of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry. That great want is now to be supplied by the World Publishing Co. of this city.

In the present age of exporting of live stock, when it costs no more for ocean freight on a heavy animal than a light one, the improvement of our stock comes doubly important. On most of our farms are to be found horses, cattle, To the World Publishing Co., Guelph. pigs, poultry and occasionally a few sheep. With proper care and attention any of these animals will soon double in value. To be able to detect any disease, bruise or injury, and apply the proper remedy, is infinitely better than an insurance policy. The Canadian farmers are too well informed to need any illustration as to how much more profitable good horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry are to ordinary ones. The author of "The Illustrated Stock Doctor and Live Stock Encyclopædia "-for such is the title of the work under consideration-J. Russell Manning, M. D., V. S., is one of the most successful practical farmers and breeders of the day, as well as a skilful Veterinary Surgeon, possessing a lifelong experience. Never to our know-ledge has any book been so thoroughly illustrated and points of animals shown so carefully. The history of each breed, illustrations of symptoms, the first and last stages of diseases, and directions for treatment of the same are minutely given in plain language, so simple that any one can understand what remedies should be kept on hand, and how to mix and apply them. The work is divided into 10 parts, with 57 chapters in all. We doubt if there is a farmer or stock raiser in the country who cannot learn something in any of these chapters worth more money to him in one year than the whole cost

The following testimonials, from some of our best judges, speak for themselves, They have carefully examined complete copies of the work, and ordered one for their own use.

Ontario Agricultural Collegeand Experimental Farm, Guelph, Feb. 7, 1881. To the World Publishing Company, Guelph. GENTLEMEN. - I have made a careful examination of your new work entitled "Il'ustrated Stock Doctor and Live Stock Encyclopædia." One thousand pages in one yolume having 400 illustrations devoted entirely to information on horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, is certainly a new feature in agricultural literature. There has long been a want, both in Europe and America, of what I should like to call a Text Book on this special branch of rural economy, and the work now before me comes the nearest to this idea -at once the farmer's reference and the student's guide. I have no hesitation whatever in recommending it To the World Publishing Co'y, Guelph to our farmers as well up to the times, thoroughly practical, and, what to me gives it greatest value, every class of animals is handled in detail; points and judging fully explained and illustrated, and all items in health and
