to do their bit for the Empire, has been exemplified from time to time by stories that come from the recruiting centres. A particularly striking story of perseverance is told of Nor man Fowlow, formerly of Trinity East. Some four years ago he left his home for St. John's to work in the machine shops of the Reid Nild. Co. When the call for volunteers came he was one of the first to enlist, but being under age, was not accept ed. When recruiting for the 2nd con tingent began, he again offered his services. This time he was accepted, but owing to his age his parents would not give their consent. In August last when the call for munition workers came he went to Nova Scotia and engaged at the work of shell making. While there his letters to his parents were full of entreaties for their consent to his enlistment, with the result that he won out and joined the Engineering and Motor Corps of the Canadian Expeditionary orce, though he will not be eighteen rears old until January next. He is at present in the city on a two weeks' furlough, visiting his parents Mr. boat is not known. and Mrs. George Fowlow, who now reside at 113 Long's Hill. We extend congratulations to the brave young ad and also to his parents. Another story of perseverance is that of Pri-
