JOHN H. CHAPMAN IS COMMISSIONER

Named to Succeed Late Adam T. McMahon On the Water Board.

THE VOTE STOOD 8 TO 3

Nice Point Raised By Aid. Saunders, Which Almost Resulted in the Whole Question Being Laid Over.

Mr. John H. Chapman, drygoods merchant, was named water commissioner by the city council last night to succeed the late Mr. Adam T. McMahon.

Mr. Chapman stated to The Advertiser today that he would accept the position.

There was some little debate on the subject, and a rather peculiar situation developed.

Ald. Richter read the report of the committee of the whole, which selected Mr. Chapman.

Ald. Saunders then asked who had called the meeting of the committee, and when it had been called.

A Nice Point.

"According to the rules, I was convener of that committee," he said. "Not only was I not consulted, but I did not know the meeting was called. I do not think the meeting was legal."

Mayor Beattie was puzzled for a time and tried to figure out just where he was in the matter.

"The whole matter should be referred back," declared Ald. Eckert. "I object to the meeting."

"On what grounds?" asked Ald. Richter.

"Not necessary to state," retorted Ald. Eckert. "However, if you want to know, it is on the grounds that the meeting was packed."

"I object to that," declared Ald. Underwood. "The meeting was not packed. That statement is not proper, and I object to it."

"You do not hear me taking it back, do you?" asked Ald. Eckert, blandly.

"I telephoned down to suggest a name, and I found that everything had been settled," declared Ald. Morgan.

Report Out of Order.

After a considerable discussion and securing of rules of order, Mayor Beattie ruled that the meeting was illegally called, and of course the report was out of order.

Ald. Underwood suggested another way out of the difficulty. He declared that the committee could select another chairman if the regular man refused to act.

"I think we were within our rights in selecting another chairman," the regular man refused to act, or would not attend," said Ald. Underwood.

"I am not a flunker, and I never flunked in my life," shot back Ald. Saunders. "I waived my objections as it did not matter to me, but now I am going to insist on my rights. I was surprised the meeting was called. I was busy elsewhere, and there was no reason why it should be called on that particular night."

Difficulty Overcome.

Mayor Beattie again ruled the proceedings of the meeting out of order. Later, under the head of motions, Ald. Underwood moved that the clerk prepare a bylaw naming a water commissioner.

This was done, and when the bylaw came up, Ald. Underwood and Ald. Tancock suggested the name of Mr. Chapman. Ald. Eckert and Ald. Saunders suggested Mr. John M. Dillon.

Ald. Morgan named Mr. John Stevely, but there was no second.

Mr. Chapman was supported by Ald. Richter, Underwood, Ashplant, Jeffries, Fitzgerald, Morgan, Pooleck and Tancock, while Ald. Saunders, Rose and Eckert voted for Mr. Dillon.

Objection was made that the matter could not be dealt with until a report was received from the committee to which the question had been referred, but Mayor Beattie did not rule the appointment illegal.

COUNCIL ASKS POLICE TO DROP DOG BYLAW

Local Measure Passed Some Time Ago Said To Be Not Needed Now.

The police commissioners were requested by the city council last night not to enforce the bylaw passed some months ago by the council regarding muzzling dogs.

Ald. Morgan made the motion, and Ald. Saunders seconded.

"The cool months are approaching, and the dogs will be all right," said Ald. Morgan. "I think the whole business has been a piece of nonsense. Let us not be silly on this dog scare. St. Thomas and a number of other places do not enforce the bylaw. Why should we?"

"Why buck against the law?" asked Ald. Tancock. "It says that dogs must be muzzled, and they should be."

"The dog law is good because it gives veterinary surgeons something to do," shot back Ald. Morgan.

The motion was carried, the yeas and nays being called for. The division was as follows: Yeas—Alds. Morgan, Saunders, Eckert, Rose, Jeffries and Fitzgerald. Nays—Alds.

ADmits BURGLARIZING

Arrest at Owen Sound Solves Mystery of Numerous Thefts.

Owen Sound, Sept. 19.—A series of petty burglaries, which have been perpetrated during the past fortnight in which entrance was forced into several business houses and small amounts of money taken, came to an end on Saturday night, when Sidney Hope, a young Englishman, was arrested. This morning he confessed to having committed the burglaries, and was sentenced to 18 months in the central prison.

THE CITY WILL ENTERTAIN

Power Delegates Will Be Here Friday Next.

The city council will entertain the visiting delegates who will attend the meeting of the municipalities interested in Niagara power on Friday next.

At the council last night, a letter was read from Hon. Adam Beck, notifying the council that the delegates would be in the city on that date, and the reception committee was instructed to entertain them.

Mayor Beattie, Acting Chairman Pooleck, of the water commission, and Ald. Stevenson were named the city's representatives at the convention.

Literary Notes

The September number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor (Limited), Woodstock, Ont., gives a number of delightful stories dealing with days among the ducks, geese, woodcock and prairie chickens. Numbers will be able to duplicate, in remembrance, many of these published experiences, and in this way live over again red letter times in their histories.

The September number of The Athletic World Magazine is still stronger than the August issue, which created a favorable impression as a Canadian athletic and outdoor periodical. The one of the Century Company's Octo-Athletic World also deals liberally with sporting events the world over. It is published by the proprietor of Rod and Gun in Woodstock, Ont.

Mr. Walter Camp, who knows more about football than any man in America, writes in the October St. Nicholas "The New Rules in Football," while Edward H. Coy, captain of the Yale football team of 1909—by many thought to be the greatest football player who has ever carried a ball—has also an article in which he discusses "Football—A Game for Gentlemen." Walter Camp explains the new rules in detail and the effects which they are likely to have upon the play and players, while Edward H. Coy pleads for a fair and patient test of football under the new rules, as "a game for gentlemen." Short stories and many sketches of interest, while "Nature and Science" offers a long and interesting illustrated article on "Balloons and Airships."

There is to be a new book by Dr.

Opening Exposition New Fall Millinery

The finest we've ever shown, and we are quite sure that women will like the Autumn Hats.

Smallman & Ingram Millinery has an individuality that will be appreciated and enjoyed by all who visit our opening exposition.

Many of our first showing will not be seen later as they will be hurried from their display pedestals into handboxes by customers alert to catch up the pretty novelties, or an individual style which will not be duplicated.

About that word pretty. A Hat cannot be judged pretty or not pretty sitting in its case. Put it on your head, or on your friend's, and the Hat you least fancied may be the most charming.

Hats in this Smallman & Ingram exhibition are built for certain women, and when the right union is made of woman and Hat, it is no wonder that folks turn around to watch that "delightfully unusual Hat." Let our experts guide you in your selection.

PLEASE REMEMBER the special features of our Fall Millinery display are "moderate prices" and exclusiveness—no two Hats alike here, and styles, too, that will be seen nowhere else but at Smallman & Ingram's.

Magnificent Presentation of the Assured Style Favorites in Fall and Winter Millinery

Tomorrow it will be almost impossible for a woman to walk through our Millinery Showroom and fail to see at a glance a dozen or more Hats with which she would be more than satisfied.

The snug-fitting turban is the most prominent feature this season; wide brims and drooping shapes, too, are much in evidence in beaver and satin; paisley and dresden trimmings are used to good advantage to brighten the heavier autumn colorings. Many pretty new color combinations will be noticed, the King's blue being one of the most noticeable, and a charming effect by one of our own artists will be seen in a combination of red, black and yellow. Ostrich mounts and paradise sprays are the crowning effects, and the large Hats are imposingly beautiful.

Besides demonstrating more conclusively than ever the style supremacy this store enjoys, it is also our endeavor to demonstrate that our Millinery is in no way expensive, and tomorrow submit for your approval our entire fall display. Second Floor; take east or west side elevators.

From the days of the Thackeray Letters Scribner's Magazine has been particularly fortunate in its literary finds. They now announce to begin in the October number a series of letters that passed between Washington Irving and John Howard Payne. This intimacy of the authors of "Rip Van Winkle" and "Home, Sweet Home" has been almost untouched in literary narratives. The letters are edited by a grandson of Payne's, in whose family the correspondence has remained unknown for many years. A part of it, Payne's letters and journal, came into his possession in an unusual manner at an auction sale.

The Technical World for October deals as usual with a number of seasonable topics, treated in a clear and interesting manner by able writers. First-class illustrations add greatly to the enjoyment of the Technical World's host of readers. Among the leading articles are: People Who Dwell in the Dark, Bailey Millard; Gyroscope Works Wonders, Arthur B. Reece; Policing the National Forests, Henry M. Hyde;
