The new Robertson-Cole super-special release, "See My Lawyer," starring T. Roy Barnes, will be the main attraction at the Loew's Theatre beginning on Thursday for a run of three days. Here is a comedy-drama that has made the movie fans laugh overtime. The fact that the picture was directed by Al Christie, comedy king, is proof enough of the high quality of the production.

In the leading role of Robert Gardner, a young man on the brink of success and matrimony, T. Roy Barnes does his greatest work on either stage or screen. Several years ago, "See My Lawyer" appeared on the legitimate stage in New York with Mr. Barnes in the same role and scored a decided hit. The play was written by Max Marcin, while W. Scott Darling wrote the scenario from the original story.

KITCHENER YOUTHS FINED FOR FAILURE TO FILL OUT FORMS

KITCHENER, Aug. 5.—Failure on the part of four Kitchener young men to fill out forms of the Dominion Government for the collection of income tax for 1918 got them into trouble in police court today. The only defence they had to make was that they neglected to take the forms seriously and simply forgot to fill them out and return them. Two of the young men were fined $25 and costs each, and the other two had their cases adjourned a week.

Interesting Memento.

A rather interesting memento of Enrico Caruso turned up in Kitchener's tenor, placed on display in the window of a local music store a pen picture of himself, drawn by Caruso while on board the steamer Canopic, returning to America from Italy in 1914. The drawing was penned on October 31, and signed by Caruso. It is a splendid likeness of the local man.
