Doubt De Valera Can Prevent Peace In Erin

BRITISH PRESS BELIEVE BILL WILL BE PASSED

Belfast Newspaper Predicts Resignation of Republican Chief.

GRIFFITH MAY SUCCEED

Sinn Fein "Die Hards" Would Likely Seek Re-election in Southern Parliament.

London, Dec. 10.—Dispatches to the morning newspapers generally confirm the view previously published that it is likely to prevent passage of the peace treaty by the Southern Irish Parliament, although views differ whether the majority in its favor will be large or small. Hardly any new light is thrown on the situation by these reports, the correspondents' speculations as to the future indicating that the leaders are maintaining secrecy and nothing important is being done.

If the Dail Eireann ratifies the agreement Eamonn de Valera—"the new die hard," as one Belfast newspaper dubs him—will, according to some versions, resign as head of the Dail government, and Arthur Griffith will succeed him. Griffith has returned here after a world tour in the interest of the Armenian war relief fund.

The Times Dublin correspondent describes the crisis created by Mr. De Valera's avowed antagonism to the treaty as "one which, unless the highest statesmanship is exercised, will create a schism and introduce a new bitter element into Irish life."

Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, conferred at length with Prime Minister Lloyd George yesterday, and their conversation is expected to be resumed today. It is believed the conference do not concern the question of concessions to Ulster, but are rather for the purpose of elucidating the terms of the treaty.

Four Powers Agree To New Treaty.
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.—Great Britain, Japan, the United States and France all have agreed in principle to the four power treaty proposed as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The next step, an agreement on specific terms, is regarded among the plenipotentiaries as only a question of time.

TO MAKE MOTOR OF HOSE WAGON
 Fire Chief Suggests That South London Branch Be Motorized.

It may be that the next meeting of No. 1 committee, the finance body of the council, will be its last of the year, and will be sufficiently attended to allow for the opening of the tender which the fire chief got long, long ago, on the cost of turning one of the present hose wagons of the fire department into a motor truck.

The chief would like to have the South London truck thus converted and do away with the horses in South London. The reason for this is that it is found almost impossible to keep the horses on their feet on the steep Wootley road, save down hill when it is necessary to come down there. He believes that it will make for better efficiency and more satisfactory service.

When the tender first came up, it was not opened by the committee. It was not known whether there was sufficient money left in the fire department fund. When this matter was looked into, it was found that there was over $3,000 on hand, but since that knowledge was gleaned there has not been a quorum on hand to open the tender and a minority meeting could not do so.

But others side with Miss Pugsley. "And I'll win, I'm sure," she says. "Why, really—I'm fighting—right here in this little Arkansas town, where we have only one picture shown a week and no other amusements—a battle for freedom of women everywhere."

"What rights has a woman in life if she can't use a little powder?"

TWO ACQUITTED ON THEFT CHARGE
 Jury Finds Robert Roberts and William Poyle Not Guilty.

Robert Roberts and William Poyle, charged with holding up and stealing $2 from Charles N. Sumner on March 26 last, were found not guilty by a jury in Judge Macbeth's court Saturday.

Examined by Crown Attorney McKillop, Sumner, the first witness, testified that on the night of March 26 he had closed his store about 11 o'clock, and set out for his home. Reaching the corner of Waterloo and Harvard streets, a shuffling of feet attracted his attention, turning his head to see what was the cause, he received a blow behind the ear, and a revolver was thrust into his hand. He was then hit over the head with a revolver.

He threw three dollars on the sidewalk and called for assistance. The man, whom he claims was Roberts, snatched the money, and the pair sprinted down the street.

Watchmen identifies Defendants, G. Burgess, watchman at the C. P. R. crossing, near where the assault is alleged to have taken place, told the court that on the night in question he had heard cries, for help, and when investigating same had passed two men running, later identifying them at the police court as the defendants.

W. K. Crayston gave evidence that Roberts and Poyle had spoken to him on the night of the 26th, about five minutes to 10. They had used strong language while talking, he said, and he was of the opinion that they had been drinking.

Ernest Roberts next occupied the stand. He had seen the prisoners down town on the 29th, had taken them home, but they had later returned. He could not say at what time they came to his place to stay the night, as they were let in by the boarder.

SUPPOSE NOBODY CARED!
ON CHRISTMAS MORN
 WHEN Christmas Eve comes we always feel generous. We are so happy ourselves that we want to make others happy, too. And we will throw our mite or our dollars into a Christmas cheer fund as freely almost as we would pay for bread to feed us.

But isn't Christmas Eve just a little too late? 'Tis true, the money may do some good to help those in need after the happy holiday, but it won't reach them in time to make this Christmas a merry and glad one.

What greater tragedy than to have Santa Claus fail on Christmas Day, the day of days for little children, even though the finest array of toys are sent two days later?

They know Santa Claus comes only on Christmas Day, and not all the talk in the world will convince them otherwise.

So, goodfellows, please try to feel the Christmas spirit a little earlier this year, and then your splendid offerings may be used to make Christmas Day itself joyous for those who would otherwise spend a miserably unhappy time because they happen to be unfortunately placed.

Now is the time to respond to their appeal, if you really want to make this Christmas the happiest London has ever had. Contributions are being sent to the treasurer of the "Goodfellows' Christmas Cheer Fund," care of The Advertiser.

ARKANSAS GIRL FIGHTS BAN ON FACE POWDER
 Sees in "Lipstick Trial" Battle For Rights of Woman Everywhere.

EXPULSION FROM SCHOOL

Trustees Contend Pupils Must Conform To Rules Laid Down by Board.

[Special to London Advertiser.]
 Knobel, Ark., Dec. 10.—The lipstick, which so many Canadian mothers and fathers have barred from the dressing table of their daughters, comes to trial in the circuit court of Clay County Dec. 16.

The law will decide just how much cosmetics a young woman may wear and still be within the bounds of propriety.

This is the case of Miss Pearl Pugsley against School District No. 11 of the village of Knobel.

Miss Pugsley, who is seventeen, was expelled from high school because she refused to wash cosmetics from her face. She is suing for reinstatement.

"Lipstick Rule" Was Cause.
 The cause of it all is "Lipstick Rule No. 2," which was issued by the school board, consisting of three Knobel business-men. The rule says:
 "The use of face powder or cosmetics is prohibited."

It was announced at the opening of school last September, by the senior member of the board, who instructed Principal N. E. Hicks, in the presence of the girl students, to compel them either to comply with the rule or to quit the school.

Hicks, who's also pastor of the Disciples of Christ church at Knobel, gave the girls a quick appraisal and said: "Powder and cosmetics have interfered seriously with school work in past years. The rule shall be enforced."

Investigates Complexities.
 Miss Pugsley here continues the story: "I powder my face a bit every day, just to make it feel better. But I don't use paint or lipstick. However, one morning Mr. Hicks approached one of my schoolmates on the playground and said to her:
 "Have you painted on your cheeks?" She said no. But when school was in session, Mr. Hicks asked her again. Then she said she had some powder on her face, and asked if that, too, was under the ban."
 "Mr. Hicks said it was, and told her to step forward."
 "With that I arose and said: 'Mr. Hicks, if powder is against the rule, I suppose I must step forward, too.'"
 Say Rule Must Be Enforced.
 But the board stands together: "A rule is a rule, and must be obeyed." And it intends the state law gives it full authority to pass such a rule as the one in question and enforce it according to its own interpretation.

PLAN BRIDGE OVER RIVER AT RICHMOND ST.
 South London Residents Look for Fulfillment of Pre-Election Pledges.
 COST WILL BE $140,000

Residents of South London openly approved the suggestion made during the municipal election contest, that Richmond street be opened through to Grand avenue, and that this street be made the new door to South London.

As some of the advocates of this proposal stated, it would do away with the necessity of traveling down the steep hills on Ridout or Horton streets for those who use the Ridout street bridge.

The chief problem that will arise, however, will be in regard to a bridge. Engineer Brazier has condemned the Ridout street bridge as being unsafe. It is open to traffic today. The people have turned down a proposal for a new bridge at that site. The principal objection was that the structure would cost too much, while others contended that the present bridge was good enough. However, three engineers, the city and two experts, have condemned it. The engineer's plan for a bridge involved concrete structure similar to bridges erected in other places during the past few years, and which are today becoming the standard. It would have cost about $140,000, or about $100,000 more than the steel bridge over the Wharfedale road.

However, the principal reason for the high cost of this bridge is its location. The water and ice are usually bad at this bridge at flood time, and this fact has had much to do with the weakening of the present structure. Then again, the bridge cannot be erected in a straight line. It must be askew. Spans of this nature are decidedly costly. Also the subsoil is bad, and special provision for footing would be necessary to get a good foundation.

As to Richmond street, the span at this point would not be large to get over the river proper, but from the river bank on it would be necessary to do a great deal of filling to make a good road. Undoubtedly the line of the old traction road would be the center of the highway.

ENGLISH DAILIES WILL NOT PUBLISH DEC. 25

London, England, Dec. 10.—Canadian Press Cable.—Christmas will be observed by the English newspapers, which will not publish on Dec. 25. The Sunday papers, however, will appear as usual on Christmas Day. Last Christmas there was a complete suspension of the daily newspapers for three days, but this produced something approaching national confusion, and this year only one day will be observed as the Christmas holiday.

AHRENS TELLS HIS STORY OF WIFE'S DEATH
 Remains Cool and Collected Throughout Recital of Tragic Happening.
 ON STAND THREE HOURS

Kitchener, Dec. 10.—Carl Ahrens, charged with the murder of his wife by drowning in the Grand River, has been on the stand for three hours, under cross-examination today at the resumed session of the preliminary hearing at 9:30 o'clock.

Ahrens took the stand last evening in his own behalf, and under three hours' questioning by his solicitor, H. J. Sims, he told a graphic story of the manner in which his wife met her death while crossing the Grand River with him in a punt. Ahrens was cool and collected throughout the recital of the tragic story. He showed a keen interest in exhibits offered in evidence, pausing several times to correct sketches of the scene drawn by Surveyor Snow of the local registry office.

The only witness called for the defence last night, with the exception of Snow, was Ahrens.

Previous to the opening of this morning's session, Ahrens' solicitor, H. J. Sims, who is putting in defence evidence today, told the Canadian Press that there are still three or four witnesses to call before concluding evidence. Mr. Sims did not wish to divulge the names of these witnesses until they are called. It is not expected, however, that their evidence will add anything sensational to the evidence already given. Mr. Sims declared that the calling of these prospective witnesses will depend largely upon the nature of the cross-examination of his client this morning.

AGREE NOT TO ENGAGE IN NEW WARS HASTILY

France, Britain, U. S. and Japan Bind Selves To Arbitrate Before Fighting.

DEFINITE PERIOD FIXED

Terms of Undertaking Provide For Abrogating the Present Anglo-Japanese Treaty.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The Washington conference was prepared to announce to the world today its first major achievement—the four power agreement designed to preserve peace in the Pacific and providing in direct terms, it is understood, for abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The conference was called to hold its fourth plenary session at eleven a.m. to receive the declaration of the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan of their acceptance of the agreement binding them not to go to war over any dispute arising in connection with the Pacific islands until the close of a definite period giving opportunity for peaceful discussion and settlement.

The delegates were hurriedly summoned to meet in plenary session by Chairman Hughes after his meeting with delegation spokesmen last night on receipt from Paris of the French acceptance of the proposal.

PICK UP TO FOLLOW.

Believes Treaty Will Pass Day
 LONDON, Dec. 9.—After the first surprise occasioned by Eamonn de Valera's repudiation of the proposition for creating the Irish Free State, officials in both London and Dublin were occupied today mainly in canvassing the prospects for ratification of the Anglo-Irish treaty, when it comes before the meeting of the Dail Eireann next Wednesday. The balance of opinion in both cities appeared to be that Arthur Griffith, as sponsor for the treaty, will obtain an effective majority.

The special request of Lord Curzon, the address in reply to King George's speech in the House of Lords next Wednesday will be made by Viscount Morley, one of the oldest and staunchest advocates of Irish Home rule. He will make the motion for ratification. The motion will be seconded by Earl Drummond, who for many years has advocated a dominion settlement in reply to Lord Curzon.

Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Sir James Craig of Ulster held a long conference today which was participated in at various times by other ministers, including Lord Chancellor Birkenhead and Winston Churchill. Nothing was made known tonight regarding the results of the conference or even whether there would be a further meeting or not, as is supposed, however, that the conference had to do largely with matters of finance.

During the afternoon Mr. Lloyd George and Sir James had a two-hour private conversation in the premier's official residence in Downing street. It is believed that the conference will continue tomorrow, and that they will be attended by other Ulster officials.

To Squeeze Ulster In.

Today's conference are said to have been on the matter of abrogation of the treaty and not concerning the granting of any concessions to Ulster beyond what are contained in the treaty. A rigid arm of the bargain with the Sinn Fein is understood to have been that Ulster shall obtain no other terms whatever than those in the treaty, and that the ministers pledged themselves that neither now nor hereafter will Ulster if she stays out, get the fiscal and other powers that are given to the south. It is stated that the Sinn Feiners would not have agreed but for the promises they got in this respect. The idea of the Sinn Feiners is declared to have been that by the treaty only chance to get Ulster in was to squeeze her in by economic inducements.

Less attention is being paid to the situation of Ulster than previously. In view of the weightier question of the effort of Eamonn de Valera's decision against the treaty, Arthur Griffith is determined to stand by the agreement, and is asserted to have the support of many of the most influential men in his party, while Michael Collins is expected to carry all the fighting elements among the Sinn Feiners in favor of the treaty.

George Harvey, the United States ambassador, in a letter to Prime Minister Lloyd George, made public today, congratulating him on the Anglo-Irish agreement, said:
 "My hearty congratulations. Yours is indeed a triumph of genius and patience such as the world has seldom, if ever, beheld. How much it means to both our countries and to all mankind!"

"Mr. de Valera said in reply to your letter of congratulations that you touched me very much, and I thank you warmly for it. I trust that this settlement will remove forever an old misunderstanding, which has hampered all the great human causes which you people and ours have so closely at heart."

SEAMEN PERISH IN EAST COAST GALE

St. Johns, Nfld., Dec. 10.—From eight to twelve seamen lost their lives in the wreck of the steamer Inghram and the schooners Passport and Jean and Mary off this coast this week, during big storms.

The Jean and Mary was upon the rocks before the crew had a chance to get a boat out of its lashings or to get canvas on their schooner to make an attempt to claw off the hungry reefs under her lee. Most of the victims were from this schooner.

The Inghram was constantly struck by the mountainous seas as she drove to the teeth of the gale. For five nerve-wracking hours, the struggle continued, the Inghram clinging devotedly to her tow, even though her captain knew that he was risking the loss of his ship and men.

When morning broke, the exhausted mariners discovered their ship had been stranded on the northwest point of the Northern Penguin Island, the most shelterless spot in all that waste of waters. The lighthouse keeper on the island was signalled with gunfire and with the aid of a line attached to the cabin door floated ashore, every member of the Inghram's crew was rescued just before the steamer broke up on the rocks.

RECOGNITION DUE TO ADVOCACY OF SMUTS

London, Dec. 10.—Canadian Press Cable.—In a congratulatory article on the speech made by Premier Smuts of South Africa at Bloemfontein on Dec. 8, as called by Reuter's Bloemfontein correspondent, the Daily News states that it was chiefly due to Premier Smuts' persistent advocacy of the representation of the British Empire dominions at the Washington conference as separate representatives from those of Great Britain, that the dominion delegates are now recognized at Washington as direct representatives of their separate dominions on an equal footing with Rt. Hon. Arthur Balfour, the head of the delegation from the United Kingdom. Thus Premier Smuts has won a great victory for the principle of true equality among the self-governing peoples of the Empire, the News says.

EXPLODE BOMBS

BELFAST, Dec. 9.—The 1690 interned men in the Ballykinnin Camp were released today under the armistice proclamation, and left for their homes amid scenes of enthusiasm. Soldiers' songs were freely chorused at the railway station, and the car windows of the trains leaving away the released men were ablaze with Sinn Fein tricolor.

As a trainload of released internees of the Ballykinnin camp entered the station at Thurles this evening several bombs exploded, injuring three of the released men, one of them seriously. Some turns in the crowd among the

15 DAYS TIL CHR

CHILDREN SEE INSANE FATHER KILL MOTHER
 North Sydney, N.S., Dec. 10.—In a fit of temporary insanity, Daniel McDonald, a middle-aged farmer, killed his wife with an axo in his home at Ross Ferry, 15 miles from here, late this afternoon.

McDonald, who is the father of a family of five, was some years ago confined in a provincial hospital for the insane, but was subsequently released and cured.

About 3:30 this afternoon he took two of his small children and locked them in a room in the kitchen, the room in which his wife was nursing a 9-month-old child. The children heard screams and through the keyhole of the locked door saw their father kill their mother. Mrs. McDonald was concealing the body in the cellar, a little lot of five years escaped and alarmed the neighbors, who came to the scene.

Chief Constable of North Sydney was summoned, arrested the man, and brought him to the town jail, where he arrived late tonight.
