MONDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1896. BUTTER AND CHEESE.

It is often asked how it is that British Columbians do not produce butter enough for their own consumption. A very large quantity is imported into the province every year and the money paid for it goes to enrich foreigners and the people of Eastern Canada. Is there anything to hinder the money being kept at home? and we will not attempt to answer them. All that we can say is that if British be established in the province, occupations, and there is nothing that profitable in this part of the Dominion. British Columbians enjoy advantages
