

OUR ANGLO-IRISH LETTER.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, May 7.

Charles Darwin, the great naturalist and philosopher, was yesterday buried in Westminster Abbey, and around his grave stood some of the greatest scientific thinkers and workers in England.

John Costigan, M. P. for Victoria, in New Brunswick, has among the Irishmen of Great Britain and Ireland, made an honorable and lasting reputation.

In this country we are wonderfully fond of sending Missionaries and Bibles to convert the Chinese, Japanese, Burmeses or some other "ees," yet never was there a more idegrading idolatry than the slavish worship paid in this country to royalty.

Why should the public be called upon to pay forty pounds every time a cadet of the Royal House intimates to the South-Eastern Railway Company that he wants to cross the Channel? Is the income an English Prince draws from the pockets of the English people so small that he cannot afford to pay his own travelling expenses?

The toady papers every morning give us two or three columns about the marriage of Prince Arthur. What penniless Germans come to Windsor Castle to be feted and feasted at the English public expense—not entirely the English public, because the poor of Ireland and Scotland also have to pay for this worse than African fetish worship.

"St. George's Chapel at Windsor has been a piper, the Queen or the country? for the fitted up regardless of expense [who will pay occasion. The Court Journal informs us that there will be four grand processions from Windsor Castle to St. George's Chapel on the wedding day.

the ceremony take place in private. Who but royalty would thus blazon forth to the world the dreadful infirmities of the principal performer in this hideous pageant?"

The national exhibitions of Irish manufactures is now taking shape and form. The guarantee fund is nearly all subscribed, and the directors have entered into an agreement with the Governors of the Rotunda Hospital for the use of the Rotunda and its beautiful grounds upon which the exhibition building is to be erected.

What to do with the little island across the Channel is still the one absorbing question in English politics. Liberals and Conservatives are equally puzzled, and like wolves over a carcass are barking and barking and yelping at each other both in and out of Parliament.

LONDON, May 11.—No doubt the telegraph has ere now informed you of the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and of Mr. Burke in the Phoenix Park, Dublin.

poor Lord Cavendish went to Ireland, it is said, with a message of peace, and Irishmen here deeply regret his sad end, but he unfortunately was the embodiment of an idea emanating from the conquest and foreign rule—namely that Ireland can only be governed by Englishmen.

an Englishman, Lord Spencer is an Englishman, and Mr. Hamilton, if not an Englishman by birth, is certainly by association and education.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 23.—Yesterday, while William Drew was going to his farm below the whirlpool, he noticed a black overcoat hanging on the fence near the whirlpool.
