VANCOUVER, B.C., is to have a rope factory.

The firm of Scott & McLean, proprietors of a woollen mill at Pakenham, Ont., is dissolved and the late partners are removing from the place.

UBALDE SENEAL, who began a small business in Upton, Que., only a short time ago, writes one of his creditors that he has closed his store, being unable to go on. He owes about $1,500.

WESTERN MERCHANT—Your expenses were very high in your last trip, Mr. Fullhand. Mr. Fullhand—Yes, Mr. Chips, blamed high. I got snowed in with a poker game at Pike's Peak and had to stay a week. — Judge.

CREDITORS have taken possession of the Markham Woollen Mills at Markham and will, it is said, sell the estate. This was a continuation of the business conducted by one Clarry, who failed in 1888.

The Detroit Grocer and Trade Reporter says that peddling is undoubtedly an evil for the legitimate retailer, but the harm thus done is but a fraction of that done by the "bankrupt stock fakir," who perambulates from town to town, demoralizing prices.

ARTHUR LAURENT, dealer in dry goods at Sherbrooke, is offering 50 cents in the dollar on liabilities of about $10,000. He removed to Sherbrooke from Quebec three or four years ago, and his eventual success has been subject to question all along.

JOSEPH POIRSON started a small general store at St. Pierre les Becquets, with about $400 capital a few years ago. His failure is just reported with liabilities of $2,200.—A demand of assignment has been made on C. Martineau, of St. Felix de Valois. He has been in business about nine years in a small way, and owes about $2,000.
