Benlan Incorporated is a medical device manufacturer with a full range of products, services, technical capabilities and sales support. The plant is 17,000 square feet with a 2,500 square foot Class 100,000 clean room.

The finished products offered are in the areas of intravenous administration, blood administration, enteral feeding, suction, urology, as well as custom designed and manufactured products. The firm is vertically integrated in that the tubing, injection mould necessary components, assemble, package and sterilize the products. This allows full control and flexibility to meet several domestic and export requirements.

Benlan Incorporated has been exporting products for 2 years through agents in various countries. The firm would like to increase export penetration through distributors or agents.
