

- mands the rear at the Battle of the Nile, 305; escapes with two ships-of-the-line and two frigates, 305; indecision of, 306, 701; commands the Toulon squadron, after the death of Latouche-Tréville, 623, 636; Napoleon's orders to, 636; first sailing of, and disasters encountered by, 637, 639, 640; second sailing of, from Toulon, 647; arrival at Cadiz and in the West Indies, 647; Nelson learns of his passing the Straits, 648, and of his destination to the West Indies, 654-657; leaves West Indies for Europe, on learning Nelson's arrival, 661; followed by Nelson, 662; engagement of, with Calder's fleet, 671; arrives at Ferrol, 672; sails from Ferrol, 679; arrival in Cadiz, 684; dispositions for battle, before Trafalgar, 701, 718, 727, 728; commander-in-chief of the entire combined fleet, 713; encounter of his flagship and Nelson's, 731-733; surrender of, 737.
- Villette, British general, at the siege of Bastia, 111; Nelson's criticism on, when commander of the troops at Malta, 1803, 569; characteristic letters of Nelson to, 575, 617.
- WELLINGTON, Nelson's one meeting with, 678.
- West Indies, Nelson's early service in, 14-17; called by Nelson "the station for honour," 32; Nelson enforces Navigation Act in, 46-55; wishes to return to, in search of more active service, 92, 98; conjectures destination of French Toulon fleet to, in 1804, 617, 635; importance of, to Great Britain, 635; rendezvous fixed by Napoleon, for the concentration of his fleets, in 1805, 636, 646; Toulon squadron goes to, 647; Nelson pursues to, 655, 656; Nelson's week in, in June, 1805, 658-663; his estimate of his services rendered by going there, 662, 665; Nelson returns to Europe from, 662-669.
- William Henry, Prince, son of George III., and captain in the British navy, first meeting of Nelson with, 33, 34; description of Nelson at twenty-four, by, 33; accompanied by Nelson in visit to Havana, 35; Nelson's association with, in 1786-87, 63, 64; gives away the bride at Nelson's wedding, 64; intimacy of Nelson with, 74-75; returns with his ship from America, contrary to orders, 75; at variance with the King, 75, 76; made Duke of Clarence, 76; effect of intimacy with, upon Nelson, 76; subsequent correspondence between Nelson and, 204, 208, 218, 245, 401; continues his friendship to Lady Nelson, after her husband's alienation, 452.
- Woolward, Frances Herbert, maiden name of Lady Nelson, 56.
- Wurmser, Austrian marshal, succeeds Beaulieu, after the latter's defeat by Bonaparte, in 1796, 203; raises the siege of Mantua, 203; Nelson's enterprise against Leghorn dependent on the success of, 205; defeated by Bonaparte, at Castiglione and Lonato, 205.
- Wyndham, British minister to Tuscany, mention of Nelson and the Hamiltons by, 437; strained relations of, towards Nelson and the Hamiltons, 437.