

The title page of Gerardus Mercator's 'Atlas Minor' is a richly detailed engraving. At the top center, a globe is held by two figures, with labels for 'AFRICA', 'MAR', 'DEUT', and 'MONT'. To the left, a figure stands on a pedestal, and to the right, another figure holds an umbrella. Below the globe, a central text block is flanked by two figures. At the bottom, a decorative cartouche contains the publisher's information. The entire scene is framed by architectural elements and allegorical figures.

ATLAS MINOR

GERARDI MERCATORIS

à l'Hondio plurimis aëneis Tabulis
auctus et illustratus: denuo recognit⁹
additisque novis delineationibus
emendatus.

AMSTERODAMI,
Ex officina
IOANNIS IANSSONI
cl^o 1634